Vo-Ag Groups Focus On Unity At Summer Meeting

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association (PVATA) met at Penn State this past week for their Agriscience/Technical In-Service for agricultural educators.

On the surface, the group presented awards at its banquet and listened to Jay Jackman, the new executive director of the national organization. Behind the scenes though, the focus was unity.

"The PVATA is actively pursuing a unified effort among several agricultural organizations who have the same goal — agricultural education," says Steve Kline, outgoing president of PVATA. "Some of the things we do at PVATA and in FFA tend to overlap. FFA, the FFA Foundation, and PVATA are all going through changes. With PVATA taking the lead, we've started to work through a planning process centered on unified ag education. I'm excited about forming an ag ed family of these organizations."

Focusing on the slogan "Communication, Cooperation, and Collaboration," Kline said their efforts are attracting others.

"In planning next years PVATA In-Service session, we tentatively have it set for the same week in July that teachers are here for Ag in the Classroom. Pennsylvania Young Farmers asked if they could meet then too. Although all the organizations have their own identity, it all leads to the same goal."

Kline said the Pennsylvania Department of Education, Penn State and PVATA have always worked together on an informal basis and are very receptive to the idea of unity.

At the awards banquet on July 10, Jay Jackman, executive director of the National Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association, spoke to the crowd about how agricultural education teachers have the opportunity to "open doors they've (students) never had the courage to open before."

Jackman's leadership of the national organization began just four months ago. He travels throughout the United States meeting teachers and is convinced that ag ed teachers do make a difference. He reminded them of the toll-free number for the national office.

Jackman also introduced Entrepreneurial Education Program. The NVATA is promoting the year old grant-funded program. Jackman said local FFA clubs can identify a winner and that application will be sent straight to the national competition. A recent Gallup Poll discovered that seven out of 10 high school students want to start their own business. In addition, young people have little confidence in corporate America.

Awards

Four teachers earned engraved watches for reaching the 25-year mark in their teaching career. Dr. Dennis Scanlon, who serves on the agricultural and extension education staff at Penn State, Ernest Orr of Ephrata, Wayne Sollenberger of Huntingdon, and Peter Hickman of Walter Biddle Saul High School of Agricultural

Fore FFA Event Garners Nearly $20,000 For Foundation

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — The Fore FFA Golf Tournament and Dinner/Auction raised nearly $20,000 this year, with more than $9,000 raised during the auction alone.

In it's fourth year, the event again surpassed funds raised the previous year, even though weather forcasts warning of flash flooding apparently prevented all from attending.

More than 220 people attended the steak dinner/auction event, which followed a day of golfing, with nine teams of FFA members and advisors and guests playing morning rounds and regular registrants competing in an afternoon shotgun scramble.

Despite day-long blustering winds and overcast skies that didn't break, the top golf score was a 59, considered an excellent fair weather score.

Out of the 36 teams that competed in the tournament, the top team consisted of Jamie Fickes and Brad Fickes of Newville Building Supply, and Mike Dunsmore and Doug Lehman.

The second place team consisted of players Mark Stearn, Greg Winger, Greg Kite, and Ben Johnson of Commonwealth Bank.

There was a three-way tie for third place, between teams consisting of Ken Miller, Tom Sasser, Mark Ritko, and Buddy Brenner; Michael Domiano of Furhman's Foods, Ken Fisher with Sauder's Penn-Dutch Eggs, and Roy Reeves and Daryl Bachman with R.U.S. Image in Action; and Oxford High School Vo-Ag teacher Scott Gold, Dave Houston, Steve Moran with Herr Foods, and John Coldiron.

The top three teams received plaques commemorating the achievement. The top team's plaque included a collectible miniature tractor-trailer with the Pennsylvania FFA logo, while the second and third place plaques were mounted with collectible toy tractors and commomorative brass plates.

More than 150 items were donated by the FFA Foundation, a number of FFA chapters, supporting businesses, and individuals for sale at auction.

Among the various valuable items donated were such things as a Ned Smith print of a pair of otters that sold for $900.

In a different new twist this year, a registered Holstein calf was placed on the auction block and sold for $900 to Bill Campbell, CEO of primary event sponsor Hoss's Steak and Sea House. The calf that was shown was a visual aid, as it were, was returned to its owner, Cedar Crest FFA chapter secretary Amanda Bomgardner.

The money raised through the token sale of the calf, along with $500 already raised by the Cedar Crest Young Farmers and the FFA, is to be used to purchase a registered Holstein calf that is to be donated to a deserving FFA member for use as a project animal.

The remainder of the funds are to be divided equally between the FFA Foundation and the CCYF.

This Week

Special advertising messages from exhibitors at the Lebanon Fair can be found this week on Pages A32 to A35. You will also find an events schedule and photos from last year too. The Lebanon Fair will be held July 27 to Aug. 3 at the fair grounds.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

JULY 12, 1996

Sugared yolk prices were generally unchanged, and the balance of prices were unchanged to lower. The market tone was mostly steady for yolks, and steady at best for the balance. Demand was light to moderate, and occasionally better than expected for a traditionally quiet week. Floor stocks were adequate. Edible liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection for the week ending July 6, 1996 in the Eastern region were 11% less than the prior week, and 3% more than the same week last year.

ST. JOSEPH, MO

Rains and floods in Iowa made problems, but also made corn and soybeans. This induced record breaking price declines, corn suffered the most. Wheat steady to 1 cent higher, with St. Louis 5-8 cents lower. Corn 20-40 cents lower. Sorghum 20 to 50 cents lower. Soybeans 16-18 cents lower. Winter wheat harvest just about a done deal. Overall yields better than expected, but some late harvest problems showing up in the Eastern combelt. Spring wheat mostly headed out and for the most part crops look good. No export orders this week. Rains and good corn pollinating weather put the hammer on prices. Early corn has already made a good crop. Another 2-3 inch rain next month with a couple of cool days for pollination and late plantings could come up with very good yields. Kansas City truck corn 62 to 65 cents lower in three days trading so far this week. September corn lost 18 cents on the Board today and some elevators got scared and took another 30 to extremes of 40 points off their basis. Producers are wondering what this Fall will look like. September corn futures 1.00 below July and another 30 cents off for December. Unusually large number of acres of soybeans that were no-till behind wheat combines now are emerging above the stubble. The new plants are turning green and shading the ground from the hot drying sun. Look out for early frost. November beans on the Board only 34 cents below July. OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
JULY 17, 1996

Compared to last week: Feeder cattle and calves firm. Demand moderate. Quality of supply average to many plain, few attractive. Flesh condition of feeder cattle and calves generally medium. Weigh-ups average to mostly full. General rains throughout central Oklahoma has improved pasture conditions but not much response in the calf market. Best demand for cattle still centers on heavy weight feeders Slaughter cows 3.00-4.00 lower. Slaughter bulls 2.00 lower. Demand moderate. Large runs of cows continue in Oklahoma and have resumed in Texas following the holiday week. Thus packers are well set for numbers and are not aggressive buyers. Beef cow slaughter during June was 31 percent greater than June of 1995. 765 cows and bulls sold with 80 percent to packers. Receipts this week 12,050; last week 14,389; last year 10,588. Supply consisted of 66 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 28 percent calves under 600 lbs; 6 percent cows and bulls. Feeder Steers: Medium and Large 1 calves: 450-500 lbs (485 lbs) 60.00-64.75 (62.36); 500-550 lbs (510 lbs) 57.75-64.00 (62.38); 550-600 lbs (571 lbs) 56.00-62.75 (60.80); 600-650 lbs (627 lbs) 57.25-61.75 (59.61); 650-700 lbs (663 lbs) 57.00-59.75 (58.50); 700-750 lbs (734 lbs) 59.75-62.00 (60.25); yearlings 500-550 lbs (530 lbs) 61.50-65.25 (63.74); 550-600 lbs (583 lbs) 60.00-63.00 (61.13); 600-700 lbs (650 lbs) 60.00-64.75 (62.46); 700-800 lbs (750 lbs) 60.75-65.25 (63.04); 800-900 lbs (850 lbs) 60.00-64.75 (62.51); 900-950 lbs (932 lbs) 60.25-62.50 (62.14). The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

JULY 22-28, 1996

MOON NEAR JUPITER, JULY 28.

BEWARE THE CORNSCATEOUS AIR!

The old almanac makers dreamed up this one, signifying a time in July of hot, humid air. The farmers considered this ideal for growing corn, but it could pose a serious health threat, especially to old-timers suffering from asthma, pneumonia, or other respiratory problems. Those old-timers were valued come husking time. Our 1805 Old Farmer's Almanac advised, "If you make a husking, keep an old man between every two boys, else your husking will turn out a loafing. In a husking there is some fun and frolic, but on the whole it hardly pays the way; for they will not husk clean, since many go more for the sport than to do any real work."

Sex is good, but not as good as fresh sweet corn. – Garrison Keillor

TIP OF THE WEEK

Store corn unhusked and uncovered in the refrigerator. Eat within two days (the sooner the better).

PEPPER CORN SALAD

small head of Bibb lettuce
4 cups fresh corn kernels, cooked and chilled
2 cups chopped sweet red pepper
1/2 cup chopped, pitted black olives

Vinaigrette:
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
3/4 cup olive oil
1/4 cup fresh dill
salt and ground pepper to taste

Rinse lettuce and shred enough to serve six. Whisk together the vinaigrette. Combine chopped vegetables, then toss them with the vinaigrette. Add this to the bowl of lettuce, tossing again when you're ready to serve.

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If cornhusks are thicker than usual, the winter will be colder than usual.

Bread and cheese soften and salt forms cakes when rain threatens.

When cumulus clouds (also called cauliflower clouds) are white and fleecelike, the day will be clear.

Raising Expectations

Forget everything you've heard about compact tractors.

MF 1200 Series Tractors and implements perform way beyond their size and price. Precise lawn mowing. Heavy duty weed and brush clearing. Serious gardening. Landscaping. Materials handling. Trenching. Even light field work. These tractors excel at jobs that used to require big, expensive, fuel thirsty tractors and implements.

Standard features include water cooled, 3 cylinder diesel engines, 3 point hitch and high capacity auxiliary hydraulics, and rear PTO. (Mid-PTO is also standard on the 1210, 1220 and 1230.) Chose two or four wheel drive ag or turf tires, hydrostatic or synchro-shuttle transmission.

OPINION

The First Signs Of Food Shortages

If you think consumers were astonished by the sudden sharp increase in the retail price of butter, you should hear the farmers talk, especially when these consumers are being told that it is because the raw milk prices to dairy farmers have escalated dramatically.

First of all, this suppossed raw milk price increase has not hit the farmer's pockets yet. They are being told they will likely see increases in their milk checks starting in August. And that prices at the farm gate should be good throughout the rest of the year and maybe into next year. But in stores, butter has increased by over $1.00 per lb. and is selling for $2.50 in some stores.

According to Arden Tewksbury, manager of Pro Ag, in January of 1996 the wholesale price for double AA butter on the Chicago market was 80 cents per lb. In early July the price went to $1.50. This is 70 cents per lb. increase. Over the same period the cost of the raw product paid to dairy farmers to manufacture this butter increased 12 cents per lb. (See Farm Forum column starting on this page for Tewksbury's deductions.)

The cost to eat in America will increase and so will the percentage of disposable income spent for food. But if we are going to have anything to eat, the food distribution industry must find a way to pass back to the farmer a sizable part of the food price increase or we will loose the farmers in bankruptcy and have no food supply at all. We may be seeing the first signs of this already.

Now Is The Time

To Grow Your Business

Today most companies expect their management to increase sales each year by at least 15 percent.

This is done by using a variety of techniques. These include increasing productivity, building more production capacity, buying other businesses, etc.

In addition to increase sales, management is expected to increase profits every year. This is done by controlling costs, evaluating all segments of the business and reducing or closing out areas that do not meet sales and profit goals and reorganizing the business.

When was the last time you sat down and set financial goals for your farm?

Farming is no longer a way of life unless you are farming as a hobby. Farming is a business like any other business. As the manager/owner you need to set the same sales and profit goals that other businesses have.

You need to develop a business plan that will outline how you will grow your farm's sales and profits. Now is the time to sit down and set financial goals for your farm.

To Participate in Public Policy

With decreasing public funding for cooperative extension, agricultural research, education, etc. it becomes very important for farmers and agribusiness people to participate in advisory committees and trade associations.

With declining dollars, universities are examining ways to reduce expenses while better meeting the needs of the clientele.

This means there will be major changes taking place. To guide this change farmers and agribusiness people need to take an active role in these discussions to make sure their priorities are expressed. They also need to communicate these priorities to public policy makers.

This communication is very necessary if adequate funding is to be provided.

Groups that are not actively communicating the importance of programs and institutions will see these programs and institutions eliminated. Thus, it is very important to participate in discussions and take an active role in maintaining the infrastructure you need to keep your businesses growing and profitable.

To Be Safe Around Electricity

Electrocutions rank among the hazards that claim farm lives every year.

The more obvious incidents include making repairs on electrical equipment without disconnecting the circuit. But unexpected contact with power lines claims victims, too.

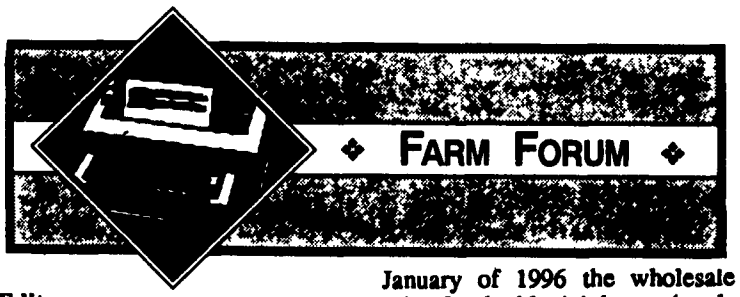
Raised truck beds, grain augers and raised tractor loaders can contact power lines with fatal results.

Lightning is a hazard for anyone outdoors during threatening weather.

Electrical safety tips on the farm include:

1. Keep all farm wiring in good condition.
2. Disconnect circuits before attempting repairs.
3. Do not attempt electrical work beyond your abilities; and
4. Avoid contacting power lines with equipment such as grain augers, raised truck beds, tractor loaders and silo blower pipe.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "Let the vision of your goal lead you to success."



Editor,

The American consumers and dairy farmers are astonished by the sudden sharp increase in the retail price of butter.

In many stores butter has increased by over $1.00 per lb. and is selling for at least $2.50 in some stores.

In many cases your local store owner is not at fault for the sharp increase. One store owner showed me his cost, which was $1.80 per lb. He was selling the butter for $1.79. Some store owners are now selling butter for $1.39 per lb., but in most cases the price to consumers has shot up well over $2.00 per lb.

Many consumers have been told that a butter shorage exists and the raw milk prices to dairy farmers have escalated dramatically.

Who is at fault?

Let's examine the facts. In January of 1996 the wholesale price for double AA butter (grade A) on the Chicago market was 80¢ per lb. In early July the price went to $1.50. This is a 70¢ per lb. increase.

In January of 1996 the price paid to dairy farmers for milk used for manufacturing was $12.76 per cwt. The June price was $13.81. This is ony a $1.05 per cwt increase (9¢ per gallon).

When a processor converts milk into butter the normal yield is 4½ lbs of butter from each 100 lbs of milk (11.6 gallons). When you divide the 4.5 lbs. of butter into the $1.05 per cwt increase to farmers since January, then the price increase of butter should only be 23¢ per lb. or a wholesale price of $1.03. The other 47¢ per lb. increase did not go to dairy farmers.

The rest of the story.

Actually, when processors

GIVE HIM A TRY

Background Scripture:
Psalms 34
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 121:1-8

In Psalm 105 the Psalmist proclaims: "O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together" (34:3). What's the reason for his song this time? In Psalm 104 he praised God when he contemplated his creation. In Psalm 105 his praise was occasioned by his recounting of God's mighty acts in the history of Israel. And now he finds another reason to praise the Lord: "I sought the Lord, and he answered me" (34:40).

This is a personal testimony. "I sought the Lord, and he answered me, and delivered me from all my fears" (34:4). He has reflected upon his personal experience of God's help in the midst of trouble. "The poor man cried, and the Lord heard him and saved him out of all his troubles" (34:6). He tells us simply that he needed help and the Lord responded. So he cannot help but resolve: "I will bless the Lord at all times; his praise shall continually be in my mouth" (34:1).

BLESSING, NOT BURDEN

I cannot think of a more transforming resolve than that: to "bless the Lord at all times" and for his praise to be "continually in my mouth." As I said last week, it is not God who needs our Praise, but we do. When we praise God our lives are lifted up and renewed. Praise changes us. So, if I resolve to try to "bless the Lord at all times," it is not a burden for me to assume, but a blessing.

The Psalmist knows that this blessing is available to everyone who praises God: ". . . let the afflicted hear and be glad" (2b). This is good news and he wants to share with others this wonderful discovery. Note, that he does not say that the Lord keeps us from experiencing afflictions, but that he helps us in the midst of them. "The Lord is near to the brokenhearted, and saves the crushed in spirit. Many are the afflictions of the righteous; but the Lord delivers him out of them all" (34:18, 19).

So, he invites us to join with him: "O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together! When we magnify God, we are magnified by his grace and he invites all of us to find it out for ourselves: "O taste and see that the Lord is good! Happy is the man who takes refuge in him!" (34:8).

ASPIRIN OR THE ALMIGHTY?

To "taste" is to learn by personal experience. The Psalmist first testifies to what he has found and then he invites us to find out for ourselves. If we are dubious or unsure about the Psalmist's experience, why not try God ourselves? The next time you find yourself in trouble, faced with a predicament, crisis or experience of affliction, try trusting in God and not all those other things we turn to instead of Him.

This is not a suggestion to forsake your prescribed medicines or fail to seek whatever tangible help you can. It is just an observation that many of us trust more in aspirin than in the Almighty; in things more than in the Creator of all things. That's why God is able to get through to us so much better when we are down and out: we've experienced that everything else has failed!

We need to say a word about the Psalmist's use of two terms, "fear" and "saints." "O fear the Lord, you his saints, for those who fear him have no want" (34:9). "Come, O sons, listen to me, I will teach you the fear of the Lord" (34:11). "Saints," as the Psalmist uses the term, means simply "believers" and "fear" is not fright, but reverence. If we are to try out the Lord, it must be in a spirit of belief and reverence, not manipulation.

But don't take my word for it or even the Psalmist's. "O taste and see that the Lord is good!"

Gov. Ridge Signs Domestic Animal Health Bill

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Gov. Tom Ridge last week signed into law Senate 1432, which creates the Domestic Animal Health Act.

Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius hailed Gov. Ridge's action, saying the new law will have a significant impact on the animal industry of the Commonwealth and animal health issues which affect consumers.

The new law, sponsored by Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee Chairman Roger A. Madigan (R-Bradford), consolidates and updates laws dating to the turn of the century, and allows the Agriculture Department to address any condition affecting the health of domestic animals or the safety and quality of foods of animal origin.

"Passage of this bill was a priority for this Administration and it had the support of a wide coalition of groups interested in animal health issues," Brosius said.

"Under the new law, consumers will be further assured of the safety of food produced in Pennsylvania."

He noted that the department's statutory authority was previously limited to contagious infectious disease.

The law also empowers the department to respond to emerging animal health issues regardless of cause.

It gives the department authority to regulate animal diseases that are contagious to humans and to regulate the disposition of animal products that are contaminated by hazardous substances.

The law expands the department's ability to promote animal industry quality assurance measures and will provide regulatory support to voluntary industry initiatives.

Provisions of the law allow the department to promote animal production practices to make them environmentally friendly and acceptable to the public.

The law is especially important in light of the impact of the livestock industry on the commonwealth's economy. In 1994, the total value of all cattle, hogs and sheep on Pennsylvania farms was $1.45 billion. The total value of Pennsylvania's poultry production was $526.1 million.

Export of animal products, important to Pennsylvania's economy, is dependent on the animal health assurance authorities provided by this law.

The law eliminates some statutes which have become irrelevent because of modern animal agricultural practices, and it addresses new realities of interstate shipment and food marketing practices.

4000 Attend Town And Country Day

PARKER (Clarion Co.) — More than 4,000 people attended the 25th annual Town and Country Day held late last month at Snyder Valley Farms owned by Jack and Donna Snyder. The event was sponsored by the Clarion-Venango Holstein Club. The first such event was held 25 years ago at Snyder's farm and has been held at many other farms over the years in Clarion, Venango, and Armstrong counties.

Town and Country Day was started as an opportunity for the public to see a working dairy farm in action. During the day, everyone was welcome to hayrides, a farm petting zoo, a craft auction, local entertainment, a kiddie pedal pull, barn tours, dairy princess skits, and many games. A big event was milking time on the farm, where everyone could see how today's milking is done.

Free dairy products were given away as they have been for 25 years. Ice cream cones, milk, and cheese were enjoyed by all. Local organizations also provide a wide variety of delicious foods for the public to enjoy.

During the evening entertainment, John Walker, former county agent in Clarion County, spoke on memories of days gone by in agriculture. Yvonne Peterman, Pa. Alternate State Dairy Princess, spoke on promoting milk. Melanie Snyder, outgoing Clarion-Venango Dairy Princess, gave a recap of her year's activities. A highlight of the evening was the introduction of past hosts of Town and Country Day. Many door prizes were given out from area businesses. The grand prize was a Holstein calf donated by Nelson and Trina Smith of Mayport, Pa. The winner of this calf was Dick Schill of Venus. The finale of the evening was an old fashioned barn dance.

The Clarion-Venango Holstein Club and area dairy farmers are to be commended for sponsoring one of the longest running local dairy promotions in the state. It has been an event that the non-farming community looks forward to each summer.

Part of the large crowd is shown at Town and County Day on Snyder Valley Farms owned by Jack and Donna Snyder. The annual event is sponsored by the Clarion-Venango Holstein Club.

Big E Celebrates 75 Years With Historic Exhibit

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Ma. — The 1996 Big E, Sept. 13-29, will showcase the long and colorful history of "New England's Fall Classic" with a special multimedia exhibit housed in the New England Center for the run of the fair. Remember the Hurricane of '38 or when the Springfield Indians hockey team played at the Coliseum? Re-visit those times and more in this spectacular display.

The Grand Opening of the "Diamond Jubilee" exhibit will take place at 10:00 a.m. on Opening Day of The Big E, Sept. 13, which has been designated at The Big E 75th Anniversary Day. Grace Brooks Knibb, granddaughter of Eastern States Exposition founder Joshua L. Brooks, will be on hand to cut the exhibit ribbon kicking off the festivities. Additional opening day activities include a spine-tingling "Skywalk" (high wire walk) from the Brooks Building to the Coliseum at 6:00 p.m., The Big E Grande Parade at 5:00 p.m., a rousing concert by Grand Ole Opry star Connie Smith and the Bethany Assembly of God Choir at 8:00 p.m. and a special fireworks display at 9:30 p.m.

The "Diamond Jubilee" 75th anniversary exhibit will encompass 2400 square feet and include a tribute to fair founder Joshua L. Brooks; a life-size butter cow; history of the ESE Horse Show and hockey memories. Visitors will also find special sections on Dairy, Agriculture and Youth, the Avenue of States, Storrowton Village Museum, Fiber Arts, Exhibits/Vendors, famous entertainers, presidential visits, fair memorabilia and a special salute to some time-honored "fair faces." One lucky fairgoer will walk away with a diamond from Hannoush Jewelers, simply for being a part of The Big E's "Diamond Jubilee" celebration.

Many of the items for this exhibit have come from throughout New England and are on loan for the run of the exhibit. Thanks to the generosity of loyal fairgoers and past exhibitors, several of these items have been donated to the Exposition and will be place in the Eastern States Exposition archives.

J&L Presentations of Westfield, Mass. will design the exhibit space, providing environments that capture interest with appealing visuals, period soundtracks and sound effects.

Featured in the "Diamond Jubilee" exhibit are:

• A life-size butter cow, sponsored by M.P.S.I: a recreation of the butter cow exhibited at Eastern States Exposition's very first event, The 1916 National Dairy Show. Five hundred pounds of native New England butter donated by Cabot Creamery in Vermont will be used to sculpt this unique display. James Victor, known for sculpting in a variety of mediums including bronze, cheese, chocolate and butter, has been selected as the artist who will take on this challenging project. Victor is also recognized for creating portrait busts of many well known people for the New York Times, New York magazine and Harper & Row.

• In our Dairy, Agriculture and Youth exhibit, sponsored by M.P.S.I., visitors will find past trophies and ribbons, photographs and antique dairy implements set in a display created to look like an old barn. The Dairy, Agriculture and Youth exhibit and the life-size butter cow are sponsored by Milk Promotion Services, Inc., representing the Dairy Farmers of New England and Eastern New York.

• A model of the Massachussetts Building, photos and write-ups on all the buildings along the Avenue of the States.

• The evolution of the Eastern States Exposition's Storrowton Village Museum.

• Also, "Faces of the Fair" including photos and first person accounts from Eastern States Exposition people sharing their memories of the fair; archival

Superior Broad Spectrum Disease Control With Dividend®

Starts Your Wheat In The Right Direction.

- Dividend seed treatment stops seed-borne scab, seed-borne septoria, seed rots, loose smut and Pythium*.
- Dividend treated wheat results in fast root development and quick seedling emergence, enhancing overall stand establishment.
- Dividend treated wheat has been shown in trials to increase yields over untreated wheat and wheat treated with other seed treatments.
- Dividend is safe to your crop–plant early or late, no-till or conventional tillage.
- Dividend offers the best worker safety profile available for seed treatments. It's less irritating to skin and eyes than other standard seed treatments–with less dust-off.

Kerry Hoffman, who serves as FFA Foundation secretary and event coordinator, said, "(The event) was an unbelievable success, not just from a standpoint from fundraising, but we had outstanding participation and support from local FFA chapters and Foundation board members and a lot of really great people."

According to Hoffman, the strong turnout and support has presented some logistics problems that are to be worked out for the 1997 version.

"The event has grown to the point to where we will need to go to two courses next year," she said. "It's outgrown one course."

The Fore FFA Golf Tournament and Dinner/Auction was created out of a need to secure dependable funding in light of repeated attempts by state budget-makers in previous years to eliminate state support.

While state support in this year's budget is line-itemed at $50,000 for the FFA Foundation, the funds raised through the golfing and dinner/auction event allows the Foundation to support FFA activities better and to provide more educational and personal development opportunities for the youth involved in FFA.

"Although we are blessed with continued support from the Legislature, everyone recognizes the restrictions on state spending," Hoffman said. "The event has proven to demonstrate the real support from the agricultural community and those who value the contributions of the FFA."

In fact, several local state legislators were involved in this year's event, either participating in the event or helping to plan it.

Hoffman said that there actually was more expressed desire to participate in the golfing event than could be accomodated.

She said the FFA Foundation Golf Tournament Committee, co-chaired by Sam Sherk of Penn-Ag Industries and Nancy Campbell (wife of Hoss's CEO William), is to evaluate the success of the event and review possibilities for growth.

"This is not a bad problem to have to consider," Hoffman said.

Auctioneer Glen Wenger, of Wenger's Farm Machinery in Myerstown, takes offers on this detailed, hand crafted gun cabinet that was made by the Chestnut Ridge FFA Chapter and donated to the auction to raise funds for the state FFA Foundation.

A couple of the more than 150 patrons of the 1996 Fore FFA Golf Tournament and Dinner/Auction peruse a portion of the many items donated for sale to support the Pennsylvania FFA Foundation and all the youth it supports.

Amanda Bomgardner holds the halter of her registered Holstein calf, that "sold" to Bill Campbell, CEO of Hoss's Steak and Sea House.

In a special award presentation, Bill and Nancy Campbell receive a statue of a golfer by Pa. FFA Secretary Elizabeth Hollenback on behalf of the Pennsylvania FFA in gratitude for all the consistent support and help the Campbells and Hoss's Steak and Sea House have provided the state agricultural youth over the years.

Ram Test Field Day Aug. 3

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The 1996 Performance Tested Ram and Invitational Ewe Sale is set to be held 3 p.m., August 3, at the Penn State Ag Arena, in State College.

The annual event offers sheep breeders the opportunity to purchase performance tested rams that have been on test since April, and also select ewes are to be offered for sale. For more information about the ewes and possible consignment possibilities, call Glenn Eberly at Penn State Meat Animal Evaluation Center, at (814) 238-2527, fax/message (814) 865-5857.

The event also offers a full educational program for participants of all ages.

Four consecutive technical seminars are scheduled to be held from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for more advanced breeders, while a concurrent program designed for youth aged 8 to 18 includes a skills and knowledge competition and instruction on a variety of sheep showing basics.

The seminars include a discussion by Tom Drake, VMD, who is the senior research assistant in veterinary science at Penn State University. His discssion is to be on strategic controls for nematode parasites, inlcuding a description of recommended worming and management practices that maximize control while minimizing cost, parasite resistance and environmental affects.

Wendy Freeman, VMB, an assistant professor at the University of Pennsylvania, is to give a presentation of transcervical artificial insemination in sheep, along with a demonstration and a discussion of the advantages and disadvantages, as compared to laproscopic artificial semination technique.

She is to also discuss how the transcervical method may work in flock management.

Dr. Erskine Cash, professor of animal science at Penn State, is to provide a detailed evaluation of body composition of live market lambs and the resulting carcasses. This is to reveal the dollar value differences of lambs at varying degrees of finishing for market.

Some of the issues Cash is to address are the ideal finish for a market, the amount of carcass fat and its affect on sheep industry profits, and consumer reaction.

Harold Harpster, PhD, an associate professor of animal science at Penn State, is to discuss year-around feeding systems.

Harpster is to address the effect of recent soaring feed prices and shortages of quality forages and provide some suggestions for developing a program that can allow the producer to lower overhead costs and develop a year-round forage system. He is to also discuss the use of byproduct feeds.

The youth program is to start with a Skill-A-Thon with awards to be presented to the top youth in each division.

The competition is to include judging classes of ewes and market lambs; identification of equipment, feedstuffs and wool; and general knowledge of sheep management.

Richard Kuzemchak, a Penn State University shepherd, is to give a presentation on how to prepare and present market lambs for the show ring.

Included in Kuzemchak's presentation is to be a discussion of the different ways to prepare lambs, including achieving proper fleece length, body condition, and the recommended equipment to use.

For visual support, several lambs in the varying stages of showring preparation are to be displayed.

Dr. Stanley Curtis, a professor of animal science at Penn State, and Brenda Coe, a project associate, are to give a presentation on the statewide code of ethical practices for animal exhibition and how it was developed. The ethical challenges facing youth today and ways to meet them are to be discussed, especially as it relates to showing sheep.

Additional demonstrations scheduled for youth include preparation of fleeces for sale and techniques for keeping the fleece clean; sheep handling equipment; spinning and weaving; and instruction on how and where to give injections for best effectiveness and to preserve carcass quality.

In addition to the educational programs, there are to also be livestock supply booths displaying wares, and a booth for fecal testing for parasites.

Those who wish to have fecal samples tested should bring along a fresh sample in a sealable plastic bag, or in a covered container. This will ensure accurate testing.

Along with test results, recommended treatments for eliminating or controlling parasites in the flock are to be given.

As a bonus, the regular $10 fecal sample test fee is to be reduced to $4 for field day participants.

For more information about the field day event, the sale, or to get a sale catalog, call either Joanne Evans, field day chairperson, at (610) 486-6800, fax 486-6801; Glenn Eberly at (814) 238-2527, fax 865-5857; or Dick Kuzemchak at (814) 865-5893.

National Poultry Health And Processing Meeting Set

OCEAN CITY, Md. — More than 600 poultry industry leaders from across the country and around the world are expected to attend the October 23-25, 1996 National Meeting on Poultry Health and Processing in Ocean City, Maryland. This highly respected meeting is sponsored by Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. (DPI), the trade association working for the continued progress of the Delmarva Peninsula's 1.5 billion-dollar-a-year poultry industry.

"With the poultry industry continually striving to meet customers' expectation and improve bird health, our meeting is poised to provide practical information," commented Dr. Mark A. Dekich, chairman of the 31st national meeting. Speakers from 10 states, the District of Columbia, Finland, and Northern Ireland were selected by DPI's Poultry Health Committee and Processing Committee. "There is a great deal of emphasis on food safety in the Combined Session to open the meeting and in the Processing Session," Dr. Dekich state.

In the first part of the combined session on October 24, the theme is "Poultry in the Global Market." Speakers will discuss:

- Global Customer Satisfaction
- Food Safety Globally
- World Poultry Health
- The U.S. Poultry Health Monitoring System

The second half of the combined session has as its theme "Strategies for Improved Food Safety." There will be presentations on:

- Overview of Salmonella in the U.S.
- Competitive Exclusion
- Salmonella Control in Europe
- Live Production Best Management Practices

"We are especially pleased with the two international speakers who will address the combined session. Professor Esko Nurmi of Finland, the father of competitive exclusion, and Dr. George McIlroy of Northern Ireland, well known for his research on salmonella, will share their expertise," according to Dr. Dekich.

Food safety topics abound in the Procession Session the afternoon of October 24, with a theme "Improving an Already Superior Product."

- Inexpensive Rapid Detection Methods
- Live-Haul Cages Disinfectant Research Update
- New Eviscerating Systems — Where Are We Now
- Maintaining Effective Pathogen Reduction Programs
- How to Develop and Live with SOPs and HACCP

In the Grow-Out Session the afternoon of October 24, there will be a "Symposium of Control of Respiratory Diseases."

- History of Respiratory Vaccines
- Immune Response to Respiratory Vaccines
- Management Factors as Related to Respiratory Diseases
- Update on Respiratory Diseases
- Evaluating and Developing Effective IBV Vaccination Programs
- Distinguishing ILT Vaccine and Field Viruses — A New Approach
- Update on AI Vaccine Development and Testing
- Results of a National Database on Respiratory Disease

The meeting concludes on Friday October 25 with a session on "Current Research on Marek's Disease."

- Development of In Ovo Vaccination
- Future Strategies to Control Marek's Disease
- Genetic Markers in Selection for Resistance to Marek's Disease
- Current Research on Marek's Disease

For further information about the 31st National Meeting on Poultry Health and Processing, contact DPI at R.D. 6, Box 47, Georgetown, Delaware 19947-9622 or (302) 856-9037 or fax (302) 856-1845.

Approval Given For 12 Farm Easement Purchases

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius has announced the approval of easement purchases for 12 farms encompassing 1,279 acres of prime farmland.

"Gov. Ridge is committed to continuing Pennsylvania's agricultural tradition," Brosius said. "This program protects thousands of acres of quality farmland for future generations."

The Farmland Protection Program was initiated in 1989 with a $100 million bond issue approved by Pennsylvania voters. The program allows the state and counties to purchase development rights — referred to as easements — to guarantee that farms will remain as agricultural land.

Including easements approved today, 630 farms in 31 counties will have joined the program or had easements approved, protecting 78,703 acres.

Following is a list of the 12 properties approved today, including owner, township, acreage and purchase cost.

* Adams — Donald and Marion Peters, Mount Pleasant Township, 49 acres, $55,688.

* Berks — Franklin M. Troutman, Marion Township, 94 acres, $188,600.

* Berks — McCullough Hook, Marion Township, 116 acres, $232,800.

* Blair — James L. Keller and W. Jay Keller, Tyrone Township, 291 acres, $174,470.

* Lancaster — Gerald A. and Lorraine G. Ruhl, East Donegal Township, 46 acres, $192,039.

* Lehigh — Paul and Elizabeth Bittner, Heidelberg Township, 106 acres, $191,389.

* Lehigh — Leslie and George Howatt, Lower Milford Township, 149 acres, $373,355.

* Lehigh — Charles J. and Shirley A. Rauch, Lynn Township, 107 acres, $213,364.

* Lehigh — Franklin, Shirley, William, and Sandra Reith, Lower Milford Township, 49 acres, $147,810.

* Montgomery — Mary Emma, Davis, and Patricia Haldeman, Douglass Township, 43 acres, $153,000.

* Montgomery — Frederick A. Hansen, Douglass Township, 122 acres, $511,052.

* Westmoreland — Robert E. and Edith K. Smith, Salem Township, 107 acres, $214,082.

National Farm-City Conference Ready To Roll

BALTIMORE, Md. — Building good relations between farmers and urban dwellers will be the major topic during the National Farm-City conference scheduled July 28-30 in the Wyndham Garden Hotel at Annapolis.

All interested persons throughout the Mid-Atlantic area are invited to attend this nationwide forum being held for the first time in Maryland.

Sponsors include the National Farm-City Council, Maryland agricultural organizations (especially the Maryland Farm Bureau) and the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Room reservations for overnight guests will be available in the conference hotel through July 19, and walk-in registrations will be accepted from persons planning to commute. However, advance registration is preferable.

An $80 registration fee will include a Sunday evening "Taste of Maryland" poolside buffet on July 28, breakfast and lunch on Monday and Tuesday, and a Monday afternoon bus tour to Beltsville and Baltimore. The conference hotel room rate is $65 per night.

More information is available from John Butler at the Maryland Farm Bureau, (410) 922-3426, Steve Connelly at the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation, (410) 752-0671, or Milt Nelson at the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, (301) 405-4596.

photos and stories of significant events.

Specialty items will be sold at the exhibit as well as at The Big E Information & Souvenir Booths. Fairgoers will find in an annual series of collectible Ertl automobiles. Each gold and red replica of a 1917 Ford Model T van will be numbered 1-500. A 28 minute video, A Visual History of Eastern States Exposition, will also be available. This VHS formatted video includes vintage footage from a number of decades.

Coca-Cola is producing a special Coke bottle, available only at The Big E and Stop & Shops in Mass. and Conn. bearing the 75th anniversary logo to commemorate this special event. Special anniversary Coke cans will be available at The Big E and throughout the region.

And if you think we've forgotten our math, 1996-1916=?, we haven't. The celebration of 75 years of The Big E is calculated on the actual years the fair was in operation. The grounds were used as a military supply storage depot in 1918 during World War I and again from 1942 to 1946 during World War II. The Exposition was not in operation during those five years.

Great food, traditional agriculture and livestock shows, top name entertainment, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Joie Chitwood's Thrill Show, sponsored by New Miller Beer; The Avenue of the States, sponsored by Yankee Magazine; and more await fairgoers at the 75th anniversary edition of The Big E, Sept. 13-29.

Buyer's Guide Available

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius this week announced that copies of the 1996 Pennsylvania Produce Buyer's Guide are available to the general public.

"Agricultural producers are vital to Pennsylvania's economy," said Brosius. "This publication will assist growers to improve marketing, and increase sales."

The guide lists suppliers, packers and growers from across the commonwealth and is distributed to produce buyers as well as the general public.

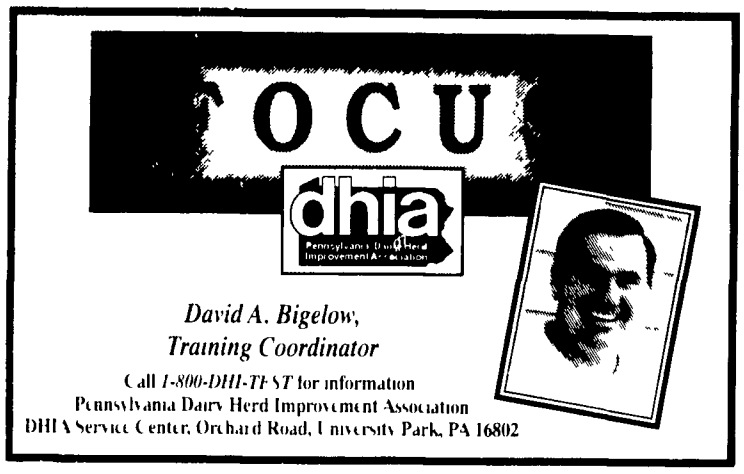
Technicians Complete Studies



DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Pa. DHIA recently completed another field training seminar on July 12, at the Holiday Inn in State College.

Congratulations to Theresa Shick of Jefferson County, Laura Fitch of Tioga County, and Susan Lander of Franklin County for completing their studies.

The field training seminar is just one of several steps in the training procedures at Pa. DHIA.

Before attending the five-day field training seminar all new techniques receive the initial training. This training involves working directly with an appointed trainer from Pa. DHIA. All aspects of the testing procedures are covered. Also included in the initial training is getting familiar with the laptop computer.

The overview of responsibilities, sample handling and equipment procedures are covered in depth. Pa. DHIA recognizes the important of on-the-farm training. This involves the trainer being present with the newly hired technician and training to explain how to perform in a parlor herd, pipeline herd as well as a bucket herd.

At this point in the training process, practical situations such as managing a circuit and recognizing a rule infraction are covered.

Communication to both the dairymen and the Pa. DHIA staff is important for a successful circuit. Therefore there is much time spent on how to handle different situations that may arise in the field.

As the trainee completes two weeks of employment, the trainer once again completes another round of training. This involves being together at six different herds where an evaluation takes place to determine if more in depth training is needed.

The field training seminar follows shorting after the two-week evaluation. The period between the two sessions allows for different situations to arise that bring about more questions.

This gives each new technician the exposure they need to gain more experience. This also allows for communication situations between the Pa. DHIA staff and the dairymen on their circuit.

The five-day field training seminar covers in depth the Quick Barn Sheet on the laptop computer

A special emphasis is put on the correct usage of the computer, as well as having each technician become familiar with each option on the option screens. The correct procedure for starting a new herd and the correct procedures in handling split herds is also taught in this seminar.

Professionalism and also circuit management is taught along with many different examples on how to handle different situations that come up in the barn.

An in-depth study of feed and forage is taught along with the different formulas needed to calculate milk price.

A special emphasis is placed on the laptop computer at the field training seminar with its constant usage. Our main objective is to make each technician familiar and Late Blight? Early Start.

CHAMP Flowable Formula 2 Fungicide: The Blight Heavyweight.

What can we tell you about late blight that you probably don't already know? After all, it's your potatoes — and your livelihood — that are on the line.

In order to control late blight, you need to get an early start: a total disease management program that includes good growing practices and proper use of foliar fungicides. And that's where CHAMP Formula 2 comes in.

The Copper Fungicide That Doesn't Act Like One.

The neat part about CHAMP Formula 2 is that it's every bit as effective as the products shown in the field test data below — it delivers the maximum amount of active ingredient and measures up in performance. See for yourself.

Statistically there was no significant difference between treatments.
Use CHAMP Formula 2 in a combination spray program or in alternating sprays.

In Every Way, You Win With CHAMP Formula 2.

Consider these additional benefits: with CHAMP there's no residue tolerance restrictions and you can spray right up to the day of harvest in whatever quantity and number of applications is necessary for your situation. CHAMP Formula 2 has also been shown to be effective even when there are resistance problems with other compounds. And it's very cost effective when compared to other products on the market.

So, let's review. Late blight? Start early with a season long disease management program using CHAMP Formula 2. It's available in 2 1/2 gallon jugs and 90-gallon minibulk containers. See your nearest dealer or an Agtrol representative today.

100 Years Of Jerseys In Brazil

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — The Jersey Association of Brazil will proudly commemorate their 100th year of Jersey breeding in Brazil in October.

Expomilk, the Jersey's national show, will include special activities to celebrate this milestone. On Wednesday, Oct. 23, the International Jersey 100 Sale, including animals brought down from North America just for the auction, will begin the festivities.

Thursday brings the judging of the heifer classes. The judge for this year's show is Callum McKinven, from Richmond, Quebec; he is also judging the Jersey and Holsteins shows at World Dairy Expo in Madison, Wis., in early October.

On Friday, there is to be a series of Jersey-related conferences, including Paul Larmer, general manager of The Genetic Corporation in Guelph, Ontario; Calvin Covington, executive secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Association in Reynoldsburg, Ohio; and Phillip Webster of Bonnyburn Farm in Ayers Cliff, Quebec. Saturday, October 26, concludes the Jersey judging, closing with the cow classes.

In addition, the Jersey Association of Brazil is co-sponsoring a Jersey 100! tour with Lactus & Stahl. Lactus & Stahl specialize in international dairy tours, and have brought over 200 Brazilians to the United States and Canada in the last two years.

"Our goal while preparing this tour was simple," said Jill Stahl Tyler of Stahl and Associates. "We want to showcase the progress and excellence of Brazilian Jerseys. We have broken the tour into two parts: a complete version for those who wish to see more farms and tourist sites in Brazil, and a shorter version to accommodate only those who wish to attend just Expomilk and tour farms in the state of Sao Paulo."

Since Expomilk is the national and most important show for Brown Swiss and Holsteins, too, the Jersey 100! tour would also be interesting to any dairy enthusiast, Stahl Tyler points our. "And perhaps even more importantly, Jersey 100! is open to Brazilians, too. This means that we should all be travelling together as much as possible, giving all participants chances to discuss their businesses and their interests."

Jersey 100! begins on Oct. 18 for the complete tour, or Oct. 22 for the Expomilk only portion. The tour will be completed on Oct. 31. Contact Stahl and Associates for more information at 611 Ames Hill Road, Brattleboro, VT 05301; or phone (802) 254-2879 or fax (802) 257-1693; or by e-mail at globecow@sover.net.

comfortable with the laptop computers.

During the seminar a tour of the sample and meter lab is included to familiarize each technician with the general operation of each department.

Learning how PTA's are read and interpreting the member's reports are a high goal for the week. Each report that the dairyman receives is broken down in depth. Handling in-state and out-of-state transfer cows and calculating the records is covered, so each technician understands the transfer process.

A time is set aside for discussing the Heifer Management Program and how to fill out the reports.

At the end of the five-day seminar, a certification exam is given to each technician. This exam allows for the evaluation of each technician — to decide if they may need assistance in the future.

At the six-month point of employment, an evaluation is conducted by the region manager. The region manager conducts this evaluation with a visit to a farm during the testing operation. It is determined then if the technician is capable of continuing with limited supervision.

A yearly evaluation is conduced to determine the needs of a technician after that.

Part of the yearly evaluation is having ideas from the dairymen within that circuit. This is done by giving each dairyman the opportunity to fill out a questionnaire on his technician. This information as well as input from the region manager can be helpful in determining each technician's particular needs.

Please feel free to call 1-800-DHI-TEST if we can be of any assistance.

Vo-Ag Groups Focus On Unity At Summer Meeting

Sciences in Philadelphia accepted recognition for 25 years of service. Dave Schuh, president of Diversified Marketing, presented these awards as he has done for the past 25 years. The association then surprised Schuh an award for his dedication.

First place "Ideas Unlimited" award went to Sam Wagner of West Perry High School in Perry County. Wagner's project consisted of convincing a local contractor to donate steel decking to his high school's ag department to be made in to welding tables. The contractor could claim a tax deduction and student created new welding tables.

Clair Zerby and Martin Heyler of Cowanesque High School in northern Tioga County received the second place award. Their project showed a chronological gallery highlighting local chapter winners.

Outstanding Ag Ed Awards went to Tom Willey of Williamsburg High School and Earl Brown of Coudersport High School. Both will enter the national competition.

Administrative Support Awards went to Dr. William Sheaffer, superintendent of the Midd-West School District, and Kenneth Boyer, principal of West Snyder High School.

The following teachers were recognized for fostering communications beyond state lines: Mee-Cee Baker, Dale Layfield, Edgar P. Yoder, Dennis Scanlon, Tom Bruening, M. Susie Whittington, and Vicky Lantz.

The following years-of-service awards were presented:

one year - David Moore, Francine Martz, Vincent Hall, Brad Bittner, Jodi Brown, and Wayne Irish.

five years - Doug Brown

10 years - Dearald Lemley, Lisa Shaw, Charles Kessler

15 years - Martin Heyler, Paul Heasley

20 years - Steve Smith, Glenn Herrold, Wayne Sollenberger, and Ernest Orr.

Clair Witwer of Pequea Valley High School in Lancaster County will serve as president of the PVATA for the 1996-97 year. President elect is Thomas Willey of Williamsburg High School.

Four PVATA members received 25-year awards. They are from left, Ernest Orr, Ephrata, Wayne Sollenberger, Huntingdon, Dr. Dennis Scanlon, Penn State, and Peter Hickman, Philadelphia. Dave Schuh, president, Diversified Marketing, made the presentations and was honored for 25 years of involvement with the awards program.

Adams County Holstein Club Holds Twi-Light Meeting

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — A discussion of feeding and management, a judging contest, and a report from the Dairy Princess highlighted a twilight meeting of the Adams County Holstein Club held Thursday, July 11, at 7 p.m., at the home of the John Hess family, 200 Tall Oaks Road, Gettysburg. Kevin Holtzinger, president of the club, presided over the event.

John Hess welcomed the visiting dairy families, introduced his own family and outlined the farms cropping program which includes 470 acres of corn, 300 acres of wheat, 100 acres of alfalfa and some double crop soybeans. Joy Hess reviewed the genetics in the 230-cow milking herd which currently boasts a rolling herd average of 22,261 pounds of milk, 702 pounds of protein.

The speaker, Dr. Robert C. Fry, D.V.M., operates Atlantic Dairy Management Services of Chestertown, Maryland. He discussed aspects of feeding and management related to herd health. To take some sting out of high feed costs, he advised dairy farmers to grow high quality forage. "Grow and feed corn silage to provide for the energy needs of the herd, buy the protein. Corn silage will provide a bigger return than any other crop you can grow," said Fry.

Fry outlined his recommendations for use of bovine somatatropin, emphasizing the need for better management to obtain its full benefit. He suggested its use in summer with proper ratior adjustment and with an abundant supply of clean water, adequate shade, and other measures to ensure cow comfort.

Adams County's Dairy Princess Joy Hess reported on attending the statewide training provided for girls in the program. The training was conducted by Lycoming College. Joy and the alternate Dairy Princess Katie Ramsburg are available for public appearances promoting milk and dairy products. Call 717-334-8553 to schedule an appearance.

Josie Riser announced that entry blanks for the dairy show to be held at South Mountain Fair, August 30, will be mailed to those who showed in 1995. Others desiring an entry blank should call her at 334-6919.

State Director Marvin Brown reported that the Pennsylvania Holstein Association will provide some financial support for the new research barn to be constructed at the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center. Additional contributions are being solicited.

Thomas E. Piper, County Agent Emeritus, thanked the Holstein Association for support of his retirement reception. He encouraged all farmers to attend the Crops Field Day on Wednesday, July 31, 9:30 a.m.-2 p.m., at the Anna Gilbert Farm located on Hickory Road, between Bonneauville and Two Taverns. Co-sponsored by Penn State Extension and Ag Industry, the program will focus on weed identification and control in corn and soybeans, will review scouting problems, feature a sprayer demonstration, and will award pesticide training credits.

President Holtzinger announced that applications for the Adams County Holstein Club Scholarship would be accepted at the Adams County Extension Office until September 15. Available to Adams County members of the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association, the scholarship must be applied to expenses for attending an approved college, technical school, or Short Course. Call 334-6271 or 624-4525 for the application.

Tom Boyer of York County served as official judge for the class of Aged Cows and two-year-olds. The following individuals were declared winners: In the youth division, 1. Mollie Van Lieu; 2. Andy Richwine; in the adult division, 1. Carol Nell; 2. Melissa Wenger. Awards and other doorprizes were provided by ag-industry.

Refreshments, courtesy of Renaissance Feed Consultants, was served by John Snyder at conclusion of the meeting.

Water On Pasture, Does It Pay Or Cost?

J. Craig Williams
Penn State Univ. Coop. Extension

Water is the most important nutrient and least cost nutrient for lactating cows, and is of particular importance under heat stress. Dairy cows need 4-5 lbs. of water per one lb. of milk product. Many dairy producers ask about the need for water in each paddock with a grazing system. This article will address the issue of water on pasture. Dairy producers should attempt to get water out to each paddock. The labor and investment will pay for itself quicker than almost any other management practice on the farm.

I have attended pasture walks where the entire discussion was about water. The best systems whether pressurized or gravity often have been developed on the farm, so attend those pasture walks to get ideas. However, there are some basic principles to watering systems: related cattle needs, laying out the pipe, tub size, and the payback.

1 Dairy cattle needs

Penn State and other sources have good numbers for a cow's water requirements Holstein yearling heifers need 7 - 10 gallons/day, Jersey milking cows 15 - 18 gallons/day, Holstein milking cows 25 - 27 gallons/day. Cows need 4 -5 lbs. water per 1 lb. milk produced A Holstein cow milking 50 lbs. needs 225 lbs. of water or 28 gallons/day During the hot summer, cows may consume up to 50 gallons per day.

Some of this water will come in the barn during milking time and some will come from the feed. Fresh spring pasture can provide a large amount of water. A cow that consumes 140 lbs. of fresh pasture that is 80% moisture, consumes 28 lbs. of pasture dry matter and 112 lbs. of water, or 14 gallons of water.

2 Sizing the line and water tubs.

Bart Bartlett from Michigan State states that a single tub in a continuous pasture system should hold 1/4 of the herd needs and have a flow rate that will fill the tub in 1 hour or less Water tubs in an intensive grazing system can be 20 - 100 gallons in size as long as the flow rate to the tub can deliver the total herd needs in 4 - 8 hours. By knowing the herds' needs (50 cows x 27 gallons = 1350 gallons) and using the pipe size guide, one can calculate the pipe size and tub size. Compare your situation to the flow rate chart to pick the correct pipe size. A good rule of thumb is about 1" for the first 1000 ft.

The height to raise the water is important for some grazing systems. For every 2 3 feet in fall you can gain 1 psi. However, 1 psi is needed to push water up 2.3 ft. To move water up 30 ft., one needs over 60 psi to pump the water. Land elevation can be used to one's advantage The following example is for relatively flat pasture land:

(1) Determine herd requirements for water
- Milk Production (lb.) x 4.5 = lb. water/cow/day
- Gallons per head x # Cows = Gallons needed for herd
- Example: 50 cows milking 50 lbs. milk/cow/day need 1350 gallons per day The waterers are 100 feet from the barn on mostly flat ground.

(2) Determine tub and pipe size with flow rates.
- Intensive grazing with waters in each paddock
  Use a 20-100 gallon tub size and a hose and float that can deliver the flow rate to meet the herd needs in 4-8 hours
- Ideal 1350 / 4 hours = 340 gallons / 60 minutes = 5.6 gallons /minute flow rate
- Minimum 1350 / 8 hours = 169 gallons / 60 minutes = 2 8 gallons /minute flow rate

(3) Now that we have determined the herd requirements and the tub size and flow rates, the size of pipe or tubing needs to be determined. The following chart will help to determine pipe size.

Pipe Sizing Guide

Pipe Diameter	Gallons Per Minute — Pipe Length 100'	200'	350'	500'	750'	1000'	1500'	2000'	3500'	1 mile
1/2"	4	3	--	2	--	--	1	--	--	--
3/4"	8	8	6	5	4	3	--	2	--	1
1"	13	13	10	8	7	6	5	4	3	2
1 1/4"	23	23	21	19	15	12	9	8	6	4
1 1/2"	30	30	30	26	22	19	15	12	9	7
2"	50	50	50	50	43	37	29	25	18	15

Information from Kentucky Grazers Supply.

- For example
  - For a one tub system a minimum of 1 inch hose is needed to get 6 gal/minute A 1 1/4 inch hose would easily give us 12 gal/min.
  - For the water in every paddock which is recommended, 1 inch hose is for the ideal 5 6 gallons and 3/4 inch is needed for the minimum 2.8 gallons.
  - Both of these systems will work well as long as the water can enter the tank easily and quickly. However, during hot weather when the water needs may be increased 50%, waterers should be available in each paddock, and higher diameter hoses should be used

(4) Does it cost or pay? Below are some estimated costs of two systems.

System	One Water (Moved)		Two Waters (Moved)
Hose at 1000 ft	$.15 /ft	$150	$.11/ ft	$110
Floats ($12-30 each)	$30.00	$30.00	$30.00	$60 00
Valve connections ($15-20) and Garden Hose		$20.00	$15 00	$25 00
Tub	400 gallon	$125	50 gallon	$50 00
	Total	$325.00		$245 00

It has been estimated that if water is readily available to cows in the paddocks, cows may produce 3 to 5 lbs. more milk than when cows need to walk a long distance to drink Or, cows may lose 3 to 5 lbs. of milk per day from increased activity and heat stress when walking long distances. A 3 lb./cow/day gain for a 50-cow herd will result in an $18 gain in milk per day or a pay back in 14 to 18 days for the above examples.

Water in each paddock pays and is recommended, particularly as we move in to times of heat stress. Installing a water system to each paddock to provide a cow with her most important nutrient results in a fast payback.

Chester County Holstein Club To Hold Field Day, Award Calf

COCHRANVILLE (Chester Co.) — Youth will be the emphasis on Thursday, August 8, when the Chester County Holstein Club awards a registered Holstein calf to a young person between the ages of six and 16 attending the annual Field Day. The hosts will be Tim and Phyllis Barlow and their three children of Pinta Lane Farm near Cochranville. Pinta Lane Farm is located on Route 896, just East of Route 10. Activities will begin at 10 a.m. with three classes of Holsteins to be judged. Judging prizes will be awarded in Men's, Women's and Youth categories.

Following a pork barbecue picnic lunch, Roger Rohrer, Vice President of Agri-Finance, Core States Bank, Lancaster, will be the guest speaker. Roger grew up in Paradise Township, Lancaster County; and worked 11 years for Farm Credit prior to joining Core States 10 years ago as ag leader. His area covers Southern Lancaster County and the Octorara Area of Chester County. Roger and his wife are the parents of three children.

The June calf being awarded is from an 84 point daughter of Modik Valiant Count with over 31,000 pounds of milk; the next three dams are all classified Very Good. The calf's sire is Swan Road Converse Jason, a Converse son being proven at 21st Century Genetics. The calf has an 88 point Blackstar sister in the Swan Road herd.

For reservations call: Rodney Bare (610) 593-7084; Jim Miller (610) 935-8668; Jane Pepple (610) 932-3975; or John St. John (610) 869-8745. Lunch prices are: $4 for ages 12 and older; $2 for ages 4 to 11; and free for children ages 3 and under. Deadline for reservations is Saturday, August 2.

BACS Summer Field Days-

You are cordially invited to attend one or all of the three scheduled field days to be sponsored and hosted by Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service, Inc. (BACS) at our Hibshman Homestead Research Farm in Ephrata, Lancaster County.

Dates of the field days are July 25 and September 4, 1996.

Currently, there are 40+ plots being used for a variety of research projects such as:

- Fertility Trials
- Pesticide Trials
- Herbicide-Resistant Crops
- Variety Trials
- Row Width Studies

(NOTE: New Time)

The field days will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. A free lunch will be provided and guided tours of the plots will be given by Rob Kauffman and BACS agronomists. In addition, various agribusiness representatives will be on hand to answer any questions you may have.

Please call the BACS office at (717)859-3276 if you have questions, need directions, or would like to make reservations.

First Combined District Dairy Show At Lebanon Fairgrounds

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — The first combined junior district dairy show was held Tuesday at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds, providing youth with the opportunity to advance their project animals further toward state competition late September.

Up until this year, youth enrolled in 4-H dairy programs held separate competitions from those youth enrolled in FFA.

In addition to the difference in support organizations, there is generally a difference in age between the participants in the two groups.

However, the final state junior dairy show has been a combined competition for several years and, with declining competitors in FFA, in some cases some of the qualifying district shows were not well attended.

According to Dale Olver, who is in charge of the Penn State Extension dairy events programming, the decision was made last fall to combine the 4-H and FFA district shows this year, in order to provide more opportunity for youth to exhibit their animals.

In each district there had been a separate 4-H qualifying competition and a separate FFA qualifying competition, therefore there had been two shows in each district.

However, because of the organizational restrictions on the shows, if a 4-H competitor couldn't attend the scheduled 4-H dairy show in his or her district, they could not enter the FFA show either, or else they would have to travel a distance and be restricted to limited opportunity to compete in a 4-H show.

Also each county has its own restrictions on showing. In some cases, only several animals were allowed to be entered in the dsitrict show, while other counties would allow individual exhibitors to bring many animals.

The main purpose of the shows is to place the animals and select those of high enough quality to justify sending to the state competition. Judges award blue ribbons to those animals they feel are qualified to stand more competition. Red ribbons disqualify animals from further competition.

Therefore, qualification for the state show is irrespective of the placing in the class, even if it turns out to be the best of a particular dairy cattle breed that day.

Olver said that while the junior dairy show program in the state is in its own state of transition, for this year youth will have the opportunity to attend either of two qualifying district shows in their area.

The former FFA district dairy show is open to 4-Hers, and the foremer 4-H district dairy show is open to FFA members.

While there may be some confusion this year because there are two same-named district dairy shows, and thus two same-named grand champions, that is something that is to be dealt with later.

The sameness of names between two grand champions, etc., and the sameness in names between two different district dairy shows does not affect the eligibility of those animals to enter the state final competitions held during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, held September at the state Farm Show Complex, in Harrisburg.

Tuesday's show in Lebanon was the 41st Southeast District Junior Dairy Show.

There is another Southeast District Junior Dairy Show scheduled to be held August 23 at the Schuylkill County Fairgrounds.

So, while there will be two Southeast District grand champion Holsteins, etc., that distinction is of no consequence to the state show or to any All-American points.

"It (holding the different show by organization) was getting to the point that shows were getting more and more expensive and time consuming," Olver said this week. "In several districts some had to drive farther to go to their district shows than to attend the state show."

According to Olver, the Advisory Committee of the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show board of directors recommended the change to the board and it was approved for this year.

"We had been talking about alternatives in the various system for several years. It just got to the point that both boards realized it would be convenient for exhibitors and also help cut expenses if (the youth wishing to exhibit animals) could select the district show that they could go to.

"Actually, last year the Central District had combined their 4-H and FFA district shows so that either could participate in either show and it worked out very well," he said.

Further, the board of directors decided that each exhibitor would be limited to five entries at each show. This eliminated the different limitations that each district had come to develop over the years as a result of limitations of facilities and the amount of dairy farm and youth in a district.

The rule is that all 4-H and FFA dairy youth can exhibit at any show they wish and are allowed to bring up to five animals.

In addition, each exhibitor must still meet all of their respective county or chapter rules. Some chapters and 4-H groups have restrictions on attendance or participation in a county roundup in order to participate in district or the state dairy show.

The county organizations can still impose those restrictions on their members. Therefore decisions are still being made county-by-county and chapter-by-chapter.

"The bottom line is giving the exhibitors a bit more flexibility — closer location, or maybe the ability to combine trips, such as exhibiting at a county fair dairy show and then competing in a nearby district show," Olver said.

"Also, more and more, colleges are starting early, and those students who want to exhibit can elect to go to an earlier show. Those with earlier commitments, can go to a later show."

Olver said the Advisory Committee is to meet again in October to review what happened this year and consider alternatives for the coming year.

All suggestions are welcome, he said, and can be directed to the him or thos

"Each district show has three representatives to the Advisory Committee and they should bring those concerns along. Anyone is free to comment to me or the other people as well."

Student's Ethanol Car To Be Shown At Maryland Grain Meeting

EDGEWATER, Md. — The University of Maryland Future Car, a hybrid electric vehicle drawing its initial power from an ethanol blend, will be on display at the annual meeting of the Maryland Grain Producers Association Thursday, July 25, at the Queen Anne's County 4-H Park. The car, and the team of undergraduate engineering students who built it, just recently returned from Dearborn, Mich., where they competed with entries of 11 other universities in the 1996 FutureCar Challenge, a competition sponsored by the big three automakers and the U.S. Department of Commerce. The development of the car, a task begun in August '95, was supported by a $20,000 grant from the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board which administers the grain checkoff program in the state.

The display and demonstration of the car at the MGPA annual meeting will lack one ingredient, however. A disappointed Dr. David Holloway, engineering professor and FutureCar team leader and advisor, said the car would be running "in its electric mode" only. One link in the "hybrid chain" failed in Dearborn, eliminating the ethanol-powered motor from the series and eliminating the converted Dodge Intrepid from top consideration. That link, however, will be reforged and the Maryland car will be back at Dearborn for FutureCar '97.

At this year's contest, things went well, at first, Holloway reported after returning to the College Park campus after the week-long competition. The University of Maryland car took first in the initial four events. These were "static" events, however, Holloway hastened to explain, involving ranking for quality and execution of design, for example. The car captured the best safety engineering award. "They liked what we brought," Holloway said.

The trouble developed when the competition moved from the static events to the road. The problem was a drive shaft and, for the duration of the competition, it defied solution. In the process of converting the Intrepid to a hybrid electric drive system, the original engine and transmission had been removed and were replaced with a series hybrid configuration. The hybrid components include a one-liter displacement internal combustion engine with sequential multiport fuel injection running on the E85.

The engine is coupled to a generator that supplies power to a 100 horsepower AC traction motor that powers the vehicle through the front wheels. A battery pack located, in the trunk, is electrically connected to both the generator and the motor and supplies additional energy when maximum performance is requested. During braking, the traction motor becomes a generator, slowing the vehicle and putting energy back into the battery pack. The fatal flaw was the coupling between the generator and the engine, Holloway explained. It had been presenting problems in pre-competition testing at College Park and two fresh designs had emerged from the student team even in the week before the team and the car headed for Michigan.

There, in competition, "the shafts just kept breaking," Holloway related. "We replaced a half-dozen of them, and when you figure that's a three-hour job, you know what the students were up against." The failure of the shaft meant that the University of Maryland car could not enter the emissions tests nor the road rally and quickly dropped out of top consideration. Interestingly, first place went to a car entered by students at Virginia Tech. It too, Holloway said, was a hybrid electric with the same battery package and the same internal combustion engine as the Maryland entry but drawing its initial power from propane.

"Sure, we were disappointed," said Holloway. "We had worked a long time on the project." But neither Holloway or those members of the team who will return to College Park next year are giving up. Holloway said he had lined up a company in Detroit which can provide a custom-made shaft for the hybrid Intrepid, and with that accomplished, Maryland will be in Dearborn for FutureCar Challenge '97.

"We've got a good design, and we'll be back," said Holloway. The FutureCar Challenge seeks to bring to market, by the year 2004, a mid-sized vehicle that achieves 80 miles per gallon at a cost equivalent to today's models.

The Maryland entry this year was supported in part by a $20,000 grant from the Maryland Grain Producers Utilization Board which administers the grain checkoff program in the state. In presenting the project to the Maryland grain board, Douglas Rowse, one of the participating students, explained: "We have chosen E85 because of its good energy density, its high octane number which enables us to raise the compression ratio of the motor for improved power and efficiency, and an onboard storage and delivery system similar to the gasoline system it replaces. In addition, it is a renewable, domestically produced fuel which, if adopted even on a limited scale, could have significant economic impact for the grain producers in the country and in the state of Maryland.

"Having to plug a car into an electrical outlet is not a real world solution to the problem," Rowse commented.

This is not Maryland's first such venture. University students built their first hybrid electric vehicle in 1994 which was based on the conversion of a Saturn sedan. It won first place in the Department of Energy's hybrid electric vehicle competition for its class, capturing 11 of 15 first places awards and all of the prize money. It presently is being used as a graduate research tool with funding from the National Renewable Energy Laboratory.

Eastern Shore Threshermen To Meet

FEDERALSBURG, Md. — The Eastern Shore Threshermen & Collectors Assoc., Inc. will be holding their 36th annual Wheat Threshing, Steam & Gas Engine Show on August 2, 3, 4, 1996 at their showgrounds located on Rt. 313 between Denton and Federalsburg, Maryland. The show features free admission and free parking.

Besides the main attraction of wheat threshing, there will be shingle sawing, sawing with a miniature sawmill and rock crushing. There will be steam engines, antique tractors, gasoline engines, antique cars and steam models in operation. A daily parade of all equipment will be held at 5 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 4 on Sunday.

There will be something for everyone in the large flea market with over 125 dealers.

Smokey Joe, a miniature steam train which is a replica of the Civil War locomotive "The General" will provide rides to kids of all ages.

Spectators won't want to miss our "Evolution of Threshing" which will demonstrate how threshing grain evolved from the using the flail to the modern day combine. This will be held Saturday at 2 p.m.

"Country Grass" will provide a free bluegrass music show on Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. and on Saturday evening "JR's Midnight Express" will be playing country music at 7:30 p.m. "Hearts Afire" will sing gospel music on Sunday at 5 p.m.

There will be plenty of good food with fried chicken platters, crab cakes, hamburgers and hot dogs.

Exhibitors of old equipment are welcome. There is no charge to exhibit. All times are subject to weather conditions.

The public is invited to come out and see how our grandfathers farmed and old-timers can reminisce of the good old days.

The Lebanon Area Fair Celebrates 40 Years!

Welcome to the 1996 Lebanon Area Fair. This year we celebrate our 40th year as the areas premier agricultural showcase. Since 1957 4-H and FFA members have used the annual event as a forum for displaying their many and varied projects. Over the years the fair has grown, and with new classes and contests being offered every year, so has the number of exhibitors. We now offer many different opportunities for people to participate. We want to encourage everyone to become involved as we move toward our 5th decade of service to Lebanon County.

Planning for this years fair began just 2 weeks after the 1995 edition closed. Our goal was to provide the best possible balance of new ideas with all the traditional attractions that have been so popular for many years. The barns will be full of prize winning animals, and West Hall will be brimming with displays of farm crops, youth projects and homemade and home grown exhibits ranging from quilts to beans to jams. All of these indoor entries are the results of a full year of nature's bounty and the exhibitors hard work.

The famous "Fair French Fries" will once again be the main attraction at the food court. But, be sure to experience all the incredible edibles available, as you explore the expanded midway and ride attractions.

Musical entertainment will be featured daily. In addition, a tremendous variety of entertainment attractions have been scheduled throughout the week that will appeal to all ages and interests. (Please take time to check out the bios and performance schedules listed on pages 14 and 15).

The Lebanon Area Fair always strives to provide a wholesome family atmosphere and entertainment that appeals to all family members. This past year, we initiated a number of question and answer sessions between the public, 4-H and FFA leaders, and Fair board members. The purpose of these discussion sessions was to open communication lines so we could answer concerns and questions dealing with "Fair policies and practices." You will find quite a few changes throughout the catalog as a result of these sessions. Time, space and financial restrictions, as well as governmental regulations prevent us from initiating every suggestion. It will be our policy to always be open to suggestions and new ideas. We would be especially happy to welcome participation from school, church and civic organizations. Please contact the Fair office for more information on contests, space rentals or any way we can help.

As we prepare to commemorate our 40th Anniversary it is especially important to remember all the businesses, groups and individuals who volunteer their time and resources to make the Lebanon Area Fair a success. Entertainment, class and special award sponsors are listed throughout this catalog and announced during fair week. We thank them and encourage you to take notice of their efforts and patronize these various businesses and individuals who do some much to support 4-H, FFA and the "FAIR."

We look forward to welcoming many familiar and new faces to our celebration. It is our sincerest wish that all our exhibitors and guests will enjoy their time at the fair, so we may all look forward to the next 40 years. Remember to MAKE THE 1996 LEBANON AREA FAIR A FAMILY AFFAIR.

Janine Winebark shows her champion swine, while show judge Henry Holloway kneels next to her.

Brandon Winebark smiles broadly as he models wool clothes and leads a sheep during the annual lead-line competition.

Connie Knauss of Schaefferstown shows her champion apple pie.

In Tuesday's Southeast District Junior Dairy Show I, all five major dairy breeds were represented. There were no Milking Shorthorns in the competition.

Overall, Lebanon County had the strongest turnout for the event, though it was open to all qualified dairy youth, it had been targeted to serve mostly those from Berks, Bucks, Chester, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lehigh, Montgomery, Northampton, and Schuylkill counties.

Entries were from Lebanon, Lancaster, Berks, and Chester counties.

In the Holstein show, Lynette Heffner, of Robesonia, Berks County, showed the junior champion, Fantasyland Horace Danish, a senior calf.

His brother, Jesse Bomgardner, also of Ono, showed the senior and grand champion, an aged cow, Loving-Meadows Karealot.

Rebecca Elizabeth Nolan, of Pottstown, showed the senior and grand champion, a senior 3-year-old, S&M Ayre IRS Ola.

In the Brown Swiss breed, Alicia Mase, of Lebanon, showed three of the four champions.

Alicia showed the reserve senior and grand champion, a dry cow, Meadow Hill Titan Agatha.

Her senior champion was a 4-year-old, Meadow Hill Jade Alice-ET. It was also the best bred and owned of the breed.

In the Guernsey breed, Andrew Ebersole, of Annville, showed all champions. In fact he was the lone exhibitor.

His reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a senior 2-year-old, Orchard View Magic Lillehammer, also best bred and owned.

Lebanon County Dairy Princess Alisha Myers and the county Lil' Miss Dairy Princess Melissa Bashore stand with the winners of the 41st Southeast District Junior Dairy Show fit-out competitions. The champions are, by age group from the left, Jesse Bomgardner (16 and older), Tim Vail (14-15 years old), Katie Lentz (11-13 years olds), and Jennifer Maulfair (8-10 years old).

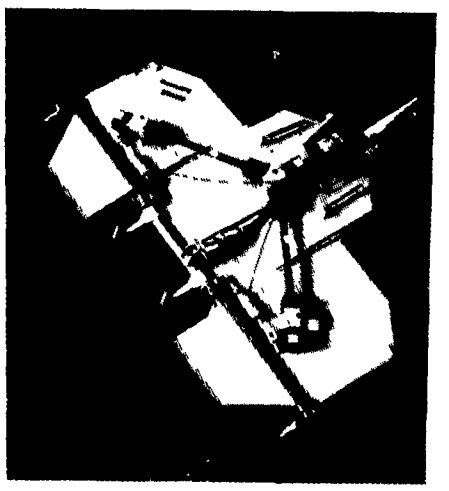
PUT A BAT IN YOUR BARN
BATWING 3180 - 3 SPINDLE MOWER



The Woods model 3180 is the toughest Batwing® mower we've ever built. It follows the tradition for rugged reliability we started in 1965 when we introduced the first Batwing A unique "clean deck" design that resists cut material build-up, innovative Intra-Drive™ gearboxes engineered and built by Woods, and the fastest blade speeds of any mower in its class. With drivelines engineered to handle 40% more torque than many competitive mowers, the 3180 Batwing® cuts through the heaviest brush, up to three inches in diameter Blade speed exceeding 16,000 feet per minute provide unbeatable mowing performance. Add a blade overlap of over six inches, and you have a mower that consistently delivers a quality cut, without streaking From its heavy-gauge deckplate to its heavy-duty drivelines, we build the 3180 to last What's more, they come complete with a 36-month gearbox warranty manufacture the 4½ lbs. of butter from 100 lbs. of milk, they also manufacture approximately 9 lbs. of nonfat dry milk from the same 100 lbs. of milk. The powdered milk is presently commanding a wholesale price of $1.25 per lb.

In essence if you spread the $1.05 cwt increase to dairy farmers on both powdered milk and butter then one could argue the raw milk price should only affect the wholesale price of butter by approximately 12¢ a lb. This is a far cry from the 70¢ a lb. increase on butter.

What has happened?

Milk supplies across the U.S. have tightened up dramatically. There are many reasons for this including a strong demand for milk and milk products, the truth about hydrogenated oil and the leveling off of milk supplies.

This all means there is some keen competition for milk and cream in certain areas, which allows some people in control of the distribution of milk supplies to command a much higher price for milk, while at the same time not raising prices to dairy farmers in any appreciable amount.

To confuse the issue even more, cheese prices in local stores have not raised at the same time butter prices have zoomed upward, but the raw milk price for cheese is the same $13.81 as the milk used for butter. Furthermore, the milk used for cream in June 1996 was not $13.81 but is was $13.39 cwt.

Conclusion

In no way are we saying the wholesale price of 80¢ per lb. for butter in January was right or wrong.

All we are saying is that the sharp increase in the price of butter cannot be attributed to any dramatic increase at the farm level.

In addition we are saying that some people across the U.S. are making a windfall because of the situation. Other people say the supply demand factor should establish farm prices. I've always said this factor can and is manipulated and does not return a fair price to farmers. The butter situation illustrates our belief.

If the supply-demand factor was true, then the price paid to dairy farmers for manufactured milk would not have been $13.81 cwt, but would have been between $16 and $17 cwt.

What do you call farmers who make hay instead of Harvestore® haylage?

TIRED!

Tired of getting hay rained on!
Compared with hay, especially in the case of legume crops such as alfalfa, you can retain more of the protein when you harvest as haylage. Two-thirds of the alfalfa plant's protein content is found in the leaves, which often dry up and shatter into dust when hay is field dried and baled.

Tired of buying a lot of protein!
The potential high quality protein in a properly managed haylage program forms an excellent foundation for a "total ration" feeding program, one that can make your feeds go even further. You can blend haylage with high energy forages such as cornlage to make optimum use of your home-grown protein.

This home built in 1781 by Gurolg Illig is rich in history found in recorded information kept by previous owners of the home.

This is one style of the many different fireplaces found in the southern plantation-style home built in 1781.

This Old House Can Talk

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

CLAY (Lancaster Co.) — "If only this old house could talk," people often say of the untold stories imagined to be contained within the walls of historical homes.

In a way, the 1781 house at Willow Spring Farm does talk.

Lew and Erla Mae Bowman, the couple who purchased it five years ago, continue to uncover the rich heritage of the spacious southern plantation-style home and of their own fascinating ancestry.

The past owners of Willow Spring Farm were meticulous record keepers. To Erla's delight, she has discovered that the house was once owned by her great-great-grandfather Christian Snyder in 1862. The Bowmans found records that show that in 1911, Erla Mae's father and Lew's grandfather worked side by side in excavating the large barn on the property. They found a picture of Lew's great-grandmother picking peaches on the farm, once known for its bountiful orchards.

Now as Erla Mae sits on the spacious front porch overlooking the woods, fragrant with the smell of pine and honeysuckle, she recalls the story of her grandmother who once sat at the same spot as a young girl. The story is told that two fellows drove by in a horse and buggy one Sunday afternoon. One fellow said to the other, "That's the girl I'm going to marry."

Although he had not spoken with her before voicing his prediction, he did indeed marry her. After their marriage, the couple moved to a neighboring farm.

In 1909 the farm was passed on to C.B. Snyder. It was during his ownership that the farm became known as Willow Spring Farm. The story is told that C.B. or Chris as he was also called, was sitting on the porch with Alvin Wenger, a minister. Chris said, "I guess we ought to have a name for the farm."

Wenger said, "Well, you got a spring and willow trees."

The spring still flows into the attached washhouse and provides all the water needed for the family. When the Bowmans purchased the property, the spring was so overgown that they weren't even aware it existed. Now it bubbles happily into a large hand-hewned water trough, which was reportedly carved by a traveling mason during the Civil War.

Many of the stories affiliated with the farm have been gleaned from the questionnaires that the Bowmans mailed to a 97-year-old relative in California and her 95-year-old sister in a local nursing home. Each gave six single-spaced written information plus pictures of the farm.

The story is told that when roadworkers attempted to erect a sign naming the nearby road Water Street, the owner of Willow Spring Farm protested. Every one, he maintained, knew the road as Snyder's Lane. The road crew relented and said, "OK, if you buy the sign and put it up, it can be called Snyder's Lane."

At one time the farm had a prize-winning orchard. The Bowmans found bushel baskets full of ribbons from local fairs and from the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Chris, who established the orchard, was named Farmer of the Year, and was reported to be ahead of his time in agriculture practices.

The original farm had 250 acres, which over the years has been reduced to 80 acres. Some of the property was used to build Clay School and some sold to build a park.

Despite the couple's fascination with the history affiliated with the farm, Erla Mae said that her love affair with it is as recent as 1991.

While attending a family reunion, she learned that her great-great-grandfather's desk was to be sold. It was at the farm where the Bowman's now live. They looked at the desk and other items to be sold without any intention of buying the property. At the time, the Bowmans lived in New Jersey.

Both Lew and Erla Mae had grown up in the Ephrata area. Erla knew that the farm in which the couple now lives was owned by a distant relative, but she had no interest in it since she had no intention of becoming either a farmer's wife or an antique collector. Time has changed that.

Today, Willow Spring Farm is more than fields where crops are tilled and harvested.

"We consider this place a sanctuary, a place for people who are distressed to come and rest," said Lew.

The Bowmans know what it is to be distressed, although their life together began idyllically enough. They first met when Lew was in ninth grade and Erla Mae was in eighth grade at Hopeland school. Lew and a friend followed Erla and a friend home. Erla distinctly remembers praying that night, "Lord, if he's supposed to be for me, save him for me."

Eight years later, after Lew had graduated from Lebanon Valley College and she from Juniata College, the couple married. Incidently, Lew proposed to her on Snyder's Lane, never realizing that they would someday own the property bordering that road.

After their marriage, the couple moved to Delaware where Erla Mae taught school while Lew studied organic chemistry for which he received a Ph.D. from the University of Delaware.

Lew took a job with the Standard Oil Development Company later renamed Exxon Chemical Company in New Jersey. After 16 years in New Jersey, Lew was transferred to Belgium in 1970.

The sideboard was uncovered in the cellar of the house and blends in well with the European furnishings in the dining room.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Today, Willow Spring Farm is more than fields where crops are tilled and harvested. "We consider this place a sanctuary, a place for people who are distressed to come and rest," said Lew and Erla Mae Bowman.

This Old House

In Belgium while raising three sons, Dave, Jim, and Steve, the family was closeknit. Lew found time to coach Little League games, traveled with them as all three made all-star teams and traveled to other countries. Although responsibilities at Exxon Chemical Company were weighty, there was always time to be with his sons.

The family lived in Belgium until 1977, when the Bowmans were transferred back to the states. In preparation for the move, the parents returned to the New Jersey area for a few weeks in search of a house while their teen-aged sons remained in the care of a trustworthy medical student.

Just as the Bowmans were ready to sign for settlement on a home in New Jersey, they learned their youngest son, Steve, had been killed in a motorbike accident.

The news was devastating to the doting parents. Lew flew back to Brussels to bring back Steve's body while Erla Mae made funeral arrangements in Ephrata — where the family's relatives lived.

"I was always the type that couldn't even attend a funeral of a stranger," Erla Mae said. "The news of Steve's death was so overwhelming that I didn't think I could survive. I cried out, 'Jesus, you've got to help me. I can't bear this.'"

Instantly, Erla Mae said that she was covered with peace and a confidence that nothing happens outside of God's timing. Although she missed her son, a peace and calmness about the situation transcended the hurt.

But her husband did not sense that confidence. For three more years he was distraught. He lost 30 pounds as he wrestled with the loss of his son.

"I couldn't understand why God had brought me such peace about the situation, but not Lew," Erla Mae said.

The family minister assured her that God works differently with each individual and that emotional healing would come to Lew.

His job required frequent returns to Belgium, where everything reminded him of Steve. One day while in Belgium, the complexity of the situation overwhelmed him. Distraught, Lew opened his Bible to Philippians 4, where he read he should have no anxiety about anything but in everything give thanks.

When he read that scripture, he felt blanketed in peace that extends to this time about the situation.

Since that time, the couple have found it natural to reach out to others who have lost a loved one. Because the Bowmans have experienced the hurt and emotional devastation and have survived, people who have experienced loss feel that the Bowmans understand. Their compassion and hospitality combined with the loveliness of the farm is a place where many find healing. Lew and his wife Erla Mae exude a friendly hospitality to strangers.

Sitting beneath the generous shade of oak and walnut trees, one can absorb the peace, tranquility, and restfulness of a farm that seems isolated but in reality is within two miles of the busy Route 322 highway.

Inviting seating arrangements appear in many tranquil spots around the home's exterior. Inside, the spacious home is richly furnished with antiques, favorite family pieces, and Erla's own unique interior decorating touches.

Since the Bowmans purchased the farm, it has been used to hold family and school reunions, and occasionally church retreats. By word of mouth, the Bowmans' home has been a haven for numerous people facing tramatic circumstances. Some guests stay only a night or two, while others stay for several weeks.

Erla Mae was accustomed to entertaining in Europe for Exxon, and often had 60-100 people at a time. Although now of retirement age, she still loves to entertain.

Her husband said of his wife, "Among her many gifts, her gift of hospitality shines most."

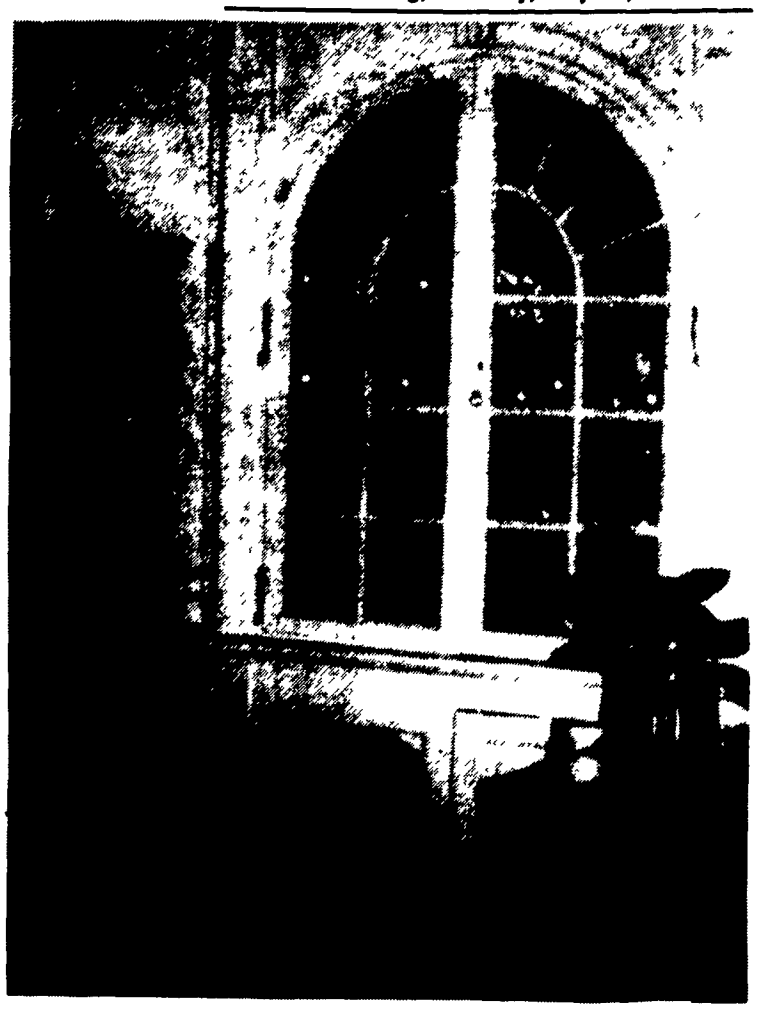
Erla Mae said that her secret for entertaining guests and the upkeep of the property is lots of prayer and the reminder that things don't need to be perfect.

After Lew's retirement in 1988, it was his dream to own a farm. The Bowmans purchased a 29-acre New Jersey farm which had been subdivided. Eventually, they were able to purchase the original 69 acres. Lew converted four acres into a pick-your-own strawberry operation.

Both sons and their families — there're six grandchildren — live on the New Jersey farm.

Although Lew and Erla Mae liked their New Jersey farm, the lure of returning to their roots enticed them to consider purchasing a county farm.

"We had no interest in Willow Spring Farm when we first heard about it because it was too much work both inside and outside," Erla Mae recalled. Nonetheless, she prayed, "Lord, if you would want us to have this place, open the door so wide. If not, close it so tightly that we cannot make a mistake."



The home has serveral built-in china closets.

After that prayer, the Bowmans said that things moved quickly.

Since then, the Bowmans have cleared the woods across from the home.

"We hauled away 10,000 pounds of scrap iron and the job isn't half done," Lew said.

They uncovered a stream where they found an abundance of their favorite vegetable — watercress.

The Bowmans removed 11 walnut trees. They hired a man who came on spot and sawed 18-foot boards that were 18-inches wide and 1¼ inches thick. These are used in restoring the farmhouse and furnishings.

About 43 acres of Willow Spring Farm are farmed by neighboring farmers.

The great "Cereal War."

In response to an apparent sort of consumer backlash, major cereal producers have recently dropped the price of some of the more popular breakfast grain concoctions by as much as a buck a box. Changing family structures, work and eating habits have zapped the traditional family sit-down-together breakfast into a grab-whatever-is-handy method of morning meal. Or none at all. Bumping cereal consumption into a downward slide.

What's most fascinating is that cereal prices are dropping at the same time an almost unprecedented upward boost in grain prices — what cereal is made from — is taking place. Backing up a friend's favorite statistic — that the box costs more than the value of the grain in cereal.

"If they're dropping cereal $1 a box, can you imagine what they've been making on it?" speculates The Farmer, who figures cereal is still real profitable or companies would quit producing it.

Our cereal discussion sent me to the Great Farm Records Repository In The Sky, otherwise known as the attic. Where I dug out our farm records book and fat folder of receipts and bills from 20 years ago. Just out of curiosity. What I found just underlined what we already knew.

Our average milk price for 1976 was $10.71 for base milk, and $8.70 for overbase, or excess milk. In 1995, we averaged $13.08 for base milk and $12.20 for excess milk.

Corn in 1976 sold for $2.40 per bushel; last fall we averaged $3.20, when it was becoming obvious that the national harvest was going to be well below normal production. But, two years ago, we sold corn for $2.30 . . . 10 cents below the 1976 price. Soybeans, wheat, barley, oats — all at similar or even slightly less prices than decades before.

Corn is now selling for $5 per bushel in some parts of the country; and we're hearing whispered hints of $6 . . . $7 . . . even $8 corn. Beans climbed steadily last fall and have held fairly stable. The government has been releasing grain reserves generally held for emergency-type use which has somewhat steadied commodity prices; better hope no food emergencies occur.

Beef prices to producers are almost half of what they have been in some past years. In 1976, we averaged $25-$30 per head for baby bull calves, three years ago many of ours brought $100. Last year, some farmers' hauling/selling costs were more than what they got for calves.

Our cull dairy cows in 1976 averaged $376 per head; last year, they were about $300 per head. That's holding down retail meat prices, but eventually the feedlots will be empty — and we'll all still want our hamburgers.

Meanwhile, back on the expenses side of the books. In 1976, we purchased a five-year-old used (we're still using it) 100 horsepower tractor for $6,800; The Farmer says someting comparable today would be $25,000 - $30,000.

Seed corn cost $33 per bushel, compared to about $80 today; alfalfa seed in 20 years has gone from $70 bushel to $175. Interest on farm loans was at 7.75 percent. Gasoline was 54 cents-gallon. We used about 4500 kwh. of electric per month on the farm, costing about $130. Our current bill for a month's use of 7660 kwh is $703.

Our school real-estate tax then was $808; the bill that just came for this year is over $2,200, even with Clean and Green agriculture-use rates. Trash pickup cost $27 for 6 months, compared to $70 today. I could go on and on . . . but you get the message.

Food prices are going to climb. They must if we want to continue eating.

Better fill your shelves with that reduced-price cereal.

Car Seats Save Lives

COLLEGEVILLE (Montgomery Co.) — Not only do car seats save children's lives, they also promote good behavior, according to research recently concluded at the University of Kansas.

Researchers in the study rode with parents who always had their children buckled up in car seats and with parents who never used car seats.

According to the researchers, children in car seats misbehaved or were disruptive only three percent of the time; however, the children who were not restrained in a car seat misbehaved most of the time, almost 96 percent.

Consuming Thoughts

by

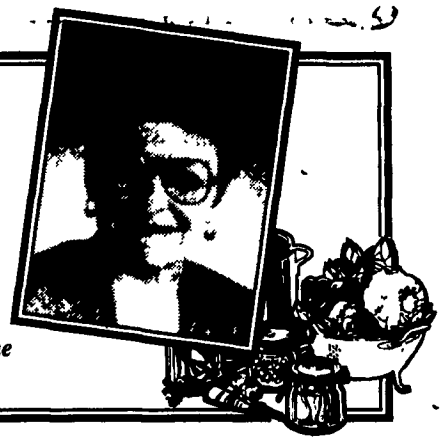
Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.



Each year, people get sick from foods that have not been properly handled, refrigerated, or cooked. If food isn't carefully handled, germs can grow to levels that make people sick. Although fruits and vegetables rarely are linked with such illness, steps must still be taken to ensure their safety.

Providing consumers with safe, wholesome fruits and vegetables is the first priority of farmers and your produce manager. You, as a consumer, also play an important role in making sure the food you eat is good for you and your family. Here's some important information about safe handling of food from USDA - Food & Consumer Service.

What does the fresh fruit and vegetable industry do? Farm workers follow strict guidelines when harvesting and packing to be sure the fruits and vegetables are clean. Most produce is washed at the packing house. Trucks used to ship produce are washed and kept at appropriate temperatures. At the store, produce workers also follow detailed Federal and State handling guidelines, keep produce at the right temperature, and take old products off the shelf.

What can you do at the store? Trust your senses. Look for fresh-looking fruits and vegetables that are not bruised, shriveled, moldy, or slimy. Don't buy anything that smells bad. Don't buy packaged vegetables that look slimy. Some fruits will have their own juice and some vegetables are packed in water, and that's OK.

Buy only what you need. Most fresh fruits and vegetables are not "stock-up" items. Some, such as apples, potatoes, and most citrus, can be stored at home, but most items should be used within a few days.

Handle produce gently at the store. Keep produce on top in the cart — putting groceries on top of produce will bruise it. Set produce gently on the checkout belt so it doesn't bruise. Some items that seem hardy, such as cauliflower, actually are very delicate and bruise easily.

What you can do at home — Put produce away promptly. Keep most of your produce in the crisper. It has a slightly higher humidity than the rest of the refrigerator, and this is better for fruits and vegetables. Remember to keep all cut fruits and vegetables covered in the refrigerator. And keep refrigerator clean and cold.

Throw away any produce you have kept too long — it is moldy or slimy, if it smells bad, or if it is past the "best if used by" date.

Once you're ready to eat your fresh fruits and vegetables, you need to handle them properly, Germs can adhere to the surface of produce and can be passed to the flesh when the item is cut or handled. Therefore, the most important thing you can do is wash all fruits and vegetables in clean drinking water before eating. This applies to all fruits and vegetables, even if you don't eat the rind or skin (such as melons and oranges). Remember to wash produce just before you use it, not when you put it away. An exception is leafy greens, such as lettuce, which should be rinsed before refrigerating to maintain crispness.

You should NOT use detergent when washing produce because you might eat detergent residue left on the fruits and vegetables. Produce items are porous and can absorb the detergent. In addition to washing, you should:

- Peel and discard outer leaves or rinds. Scrub hearty vegetables, such as potatoes and carrots, if you want to eat the fiber- and nutrient-rich skin.
- Clean surfaces, utensils, and hands after touching raw meat and poultry and before you use them on fresh produce.
- Wash your hands thoroughly after using the bathroom or changing diapers, and before preparing food.
- Read and follow label instructions, such as "keep refrigerated" or "use by (a certain date)." This information is on most items precut for you at the store.
- Hold prepared fruit salads and other cut produce items in the refrigerator until just before serving. Discard cut produce items if they have been out of the refrigerator for four hours or more.

Most importantly, enjoy your fresh fruits and vegetables — a great-tasting way to good health.

Blueberry Pickings

July belongs to blueberries. Those wonderful, plump berries are available in abundance during the month of July.

Use the berries fresh, but preserve their goodness for the winter months. Blueberries are easily frozen or canned if preferred.

These recipes will keep you savoring the taste of blueberries for many meals.

BLUEBERRY TEA CAKE

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter

Add:

1 egg
¾ cup sugar
½ cup milk

Mix well and add slowly:

2 cups blueberries

Sprinkle flour over berries before adding.

Pour batter into a greased and floured 8-inch or 9-inch square pan. Sprinkle crumb mixture on top. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes.

Crumb topping:

Combine:

½ cup sugar
¼ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup cold butter

Mix thoroughly into fine crumbs.

Amanda Martin
Lebanon Co. Dairy Maid

BLUEBERRY BUCKLE

2 cups flour
¾ cup sugar
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup milk
1 egg
2 cups blueberries, well drained

Topping:

½ cup sugar
⅓ cup flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup butter, softened

Blend all batter ingredients except blueberries in blender for about half a minute. Carefully stir in blueberries. Spread mixture into a greased 9-inch square pan. Mix together all topping ingredients. Sprinkle over batter in pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 45-50 minutes. Makes 9-12 servings.

BLUEBERRY DELIGHT

Crust:

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup butter
½ cup nuts (English walnut, pecan or cashews) finely chopped

Topping:

2 eggs
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup granulated sugar
1¼ cup blueberry pie filling
2 cups whipped topping

Mix together graham crumbs, sugar, nuts and butter until crumbly. Reserve one-third cup for topping. Press remaining crumbs into bottom of 8x11-inch pan.

Beat eggs well, add cream cheese, and sugar beat until creamy smooth. Pour over graham crust, bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees.

Cool thoroughly. Spread blueberry pie filling over cream cheese layer, spread whipped topping over blueberry pie filling and sprinkle with remaining graham crumb mixture. Chill before serving.

OLD-FASHIONED ROLLY POLLY

4 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
Cold water

Filling:

8 pints berries, pitted cherries or fruit of your choice
1 cup sugar to taste

Stem, wash, and drain fresh berries or pitted cherries. Other fruits such as peaches should be peeled, pitted, and thinly sliced. Sprinkle with sugar, set aside while making dough.

Combine dough ingredients as for pie crust. Roll out quickly to a rectangular shape.

Spread fruit evenly on dough, leaving about 1-inch edge. Roll up as jelly roll, tucking in sides. Tie or sew into white cloth. Place in boiling water and boil for 45 minutes. Serve with sauce of your choice.

Blueberry sauce: Combine 1 tablespoon cornstarch with ½ cup sugar in saucepan. Slowly stir in 1 cup orange juice and 1½ cups crushed blueberries. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Pour over individual servings of rolly polly.

July is the season to make good use of blueberries. Although this plump, delicious berry is available other months, it is at its peak and in abundance this month.

BLUEBERRY STREUSEL COFFEE CAKE

2 cups flour
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
½ cup softened butter
1 cup fresh blueberries
1 cup slivered almonds

Streusel:

½ cup sugar
½ cup flour
¼ cup butter

In a mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Add egg, milk, and butter. Beat well. Add the blueberries and almonds.

Spread into a 9-inch square baking pan. In another bowl, add sugar, flour, and cut in butter until crumbly. Sprinkle over batter. If you want, top with a few more almonds. Bake at 35-40 minutes in a preheated 375 degree or until a wooden toothpick inserted in the middle comes out clean. Yields 9-12 servings, pending how big you cut your coffee cake. Great warm and with coffee.

FRESH BLUEBERRY GELATIN SALAD

3-ounces concord grape gelatin
3-ounces lemon gelatin
2 cups whipped cream topping (partially thawed)
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups fresh blueberries

Dissolve gelatin in 2 cups boiling water, add 1 cup ice, stir until slightly thickened. Fold in whipped cream topping, vanilla, and fresh blueberries. Pour mixture into a 2-quart mold. Chill until firm.

Note: The Royal gelatin package must say Concord Grape on the box or it is not Concord and the results will not be the same. It is somewhat difficult to find the Concord Grape flavor.

This is a special favorite gelatin salad enjoyed by family, friends, and all who taste it.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1¾ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup blueberries with 1 tablespoon flour

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg, then milk and vanilla until smooth.

Mix together the flour, baking powder, and salt. Stir into liquid mixture just until moistened.

Toss blueberries with the 1 tablespoon of flour and stir into the batter. Spoon into muffin pans. Bake 425 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

This is the season to preserve the wonderful varieties of vegetables and fruits. If you go to all the work of canning, freezing, or drying foods, make sure it is done properly. Otherwise, the quality of the preserved food will be low and may even cause food poisoning.

Instructions for canning have changed dramatically in recent years. Canning like grandmother used to can no longer is considered safe since there is an increase of the bacterium Clostridium botulinum found in the environment.

The best source for complete up-to-date information at a low cost is the Penn State Cooperative extension. "The Complete Guide to Home Canning," is available for $6. "How to Freeze the Right Way," costs $1.50.

Numerous handouts on individual subjects also are available. Contact your local extension office or write to Penn State University Ag Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802.

Here is a recipe for canning Blueberry Pie Filling included in the handouts.

Blueberry Pie Filling

6 quarts blueberries
6 cups granulated sugar
2¼ cups Clear Jel
7 cups cold water
½ cup bottled lemon juice
20 drops blue food coloring (optional)
7 drops red food coloring (optional)

Wash and drain blueberries. For fresh fruit, place 6 cups at a time in 1 gallon boiling water. Boil each batch one minute after water returns to a boil. Drain, but keep heated fruit in a covered bowl or pot.

Combine sugar and Clear Jel in a large kettle. Stir. Add water and, if desired, food coloring. Cook on meduim high heat until mixture thickens and begins to bubble. Add lemon juice and boil one minute, stirring constantly. Fold in drained berries, fill jars immediately with mixture, leaving 1-inch headspace, and process without delay.

To process in boiling water canner, preheat canner half filled with water to 180 degrees. Load sealed jars into the canner rack and lower with handles; or load one jar at a time with a jar lifter onto rack in canner. Add water if needed to a level of one-inch above jars and cover. When water boils vigorously, lower heat to maintain a gentle boil and process for 30 minutes.

After processing is completed, remove jars from canner with a jar lifter and place on a towel or rack. Do not retighten screw bands. Air cool jars 12 to 24 hours. Remove screw bands and check lid seals. A jar is sealed if the center of its lid is indented or concave. Wash, dry, label, and store sealed jars in a clean, cool, dark place.

Fillings are best if used within one year and safe as long as lids remain vacuum sealed.

How Does This Garden Grow?

This pictures shows how the newspaper is spread between the rows to block the sun.

String beans, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, and pole lima beans grow picture-perfect in the Hoags' garden, which is weed free from using newspaper and straw between the rows.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MALVERN (Delaware Co.) — Neat rows of sweet corn, green beans, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes thrive in the garden of Doris and Bill Hoag of Malvern.

The weedless garden is the result of recycling old issues of Lancaster Farming.

Hoag said, "We put down two to three sheets of the newspaper to block out the light and cover with a thin coat of straw to hold the paper in place. It's a short task that lasts all season—no more weeding and it makes better use of less water."

According to Hoag, the size of the newspaper pages are just the right size to fit between the rows.

At the end of the season, Hoag tills the newspaper and straw under the soil and plants a cover crop.

Hoag estimates that it takes only about 15 minutes to spread the newspaper and straw between the rows. The Hoags use about five to six bales of straw annually and pay about 31 cents per bale.

That's an economical price to keep a garden weed free and productive.

The Hoags also use the baler twine from the straw bales to tie up the tomatoes stalks between the stakes.

Another unusual sight in the Hoag garden is that the corn wears ear muffs. Hoag said, "We had problems with birds but no more. We use scrapes of old knit shirts to make slip on covers for the corn after it germinates."

While the corn muff idea might not be practical for those with large gardens, Hoag said it works great in their garden.

Safe Eggs

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — Pasteurized Eggs, a New Hampshire company, seems to be the first to economically produce pasteurized eggs in the shell to destroy Salmonella. It is the first firm to gain approval by the Food and Drug Administration for the claim "pasteurized" on eggs still inside the shells. The company believes that pasteurized eggs will become standard fare, just like milk, cheese, and liquid eggs, which were required to be pasteurized once the technolgies became available.

The cost will only add about two cents per egg according to J. Randal Thompson. The company can process up to 225 cases every hour. The product will be monitored and certified by USDA. A new USDA consumer label will be used for these purposes.

ANSWER — A "faithful reader" has been looking for recipes for making scones. Thanks to George Shaw, Felton, for sending a recipe. He also explains that scone (skon rhymes with on) is a Scottish contraction for 'schoonbrot,' a fine bread or beautiful bread. A teacake, often quadrant girdle (griddle) and served with butter, at breakfast, at tea or as a snack.

As with other cereal products, there are many variations and I count nine in two Scottish cookbooks in my possession. I'll enclose a basic one, apt to be what is a fair representation of those found in this area.

Girdle Scones

1 pound flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
Milk*

Sour milk or buttermilk preferred, and if used, only use 1 teaspoon cream of tartar.

Mix flour and dry ingredients. Add milk to make a soft dough. Handle as little as possible. Place on a floured board, roll out, and cut into scones (wedges) with a cutter. Bake on a hot girdle (griddle).

Other types of scones are made with currants or raisins, with oats, butter, potatoes, and barley. Some are brushed with milk mixtures and with crumbs.

Scottish cookbooks are available from Thistle and Shamrock Books, Box 42, Alexandria, Va. 22313. (703) 548-2207.

Buttermilk-Oatmeal Scones

2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1 cup uncooked rolled oats
⅓ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon baking soda
⅛ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons cold unsalted butter, cut into pieces
1 cup buttermilk

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease baking sheets, set aside. Combine flour, oats, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, and salt in a large bowl. Cut in butter with pastry blender or food processor until it resembles coarse crumbs. Add buttermilk and mix with fork until soft dough forms. Knead 10-12 times on a lightly floured surface.

Roll out dough into half-inch thick rectangle with lightly floured rolling pin. Cut dough into circles with lightly floured 1½ -inch biscuit cutter. Place on baking sheets. Brush tops with buttermilk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake 18-20 minutes or until golden brown and a wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from pans. Serve warm or cool completely.

Cool on wire rack 10 minutes makes 30 scones.

Apricot Scones

1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 cup oat bran
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons low-fat milk
17-ounce can apricot halves, drained, chopped

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Combine flour, oat bran, sugar, baking powder, and salt in large bowl. Cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Add egg, milk, and apricots. Stir just until dough leaves sides of bowl.

Divide dough in half, place on lightly floured surface. Sprinkle dough with additional flour. Roll or pat dough into a 6-inch circle, 1-inch thick. Repeat with remaining dough. Cut each circle into six wedges with lightly floured knife. Place on ungreased baking sheet.

Bake 12 minutes or until golden brown and wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack 10 minutes. Makes 12 scones.

ANSWER — Yvonne Musser, Lancaster, wanted a recipe for rhubarb torte. Thanks to Mary Zimmerman, Newmanstown, for sending one.

Rhubarb Torte

Crust:
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons butter, melted

Filling:
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
4 cups rhubarb, sliced
½ cup water
Several drops food coloring

Topping:
½ cup whipping cream
1½ cups miniature marshmallows
3-ounces cream cheese

Combine graham cracker crumbs, sugar, and butter. Press into a serving dish or in a pan, reserving some crumbs for the top. Combine sugar and cornstarch. Stir in rhubarb and water. Cook and stir until thickened. Reduce heat and cook 2 to 3 minutes. Add food coloring. Spread on cooled graham crust. Cool. Whip cream; in a separate bowl beat cream cheese; fold in whipped cream and marshmallows. Spoon on rhubarb. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs.

DOUBLE GOOD BLUEBERRY PIE

¾ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons cornstarch
4 cups fresh blueberries
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter

Combine sugar, cornstarch, and salt in saucepan. Add water and 2 cups berries. Cook over medium heat, stirring until mixture comes to a boil and is thick and clear. Remove from heat and stir in butter and lemon juice. Cool. Place remaining 2 cups berries in a 9-inch baked pie shell. Top with the berry mixture. Chill. Top with whipped cream.

RICH BERRY PIE

1 cup flour
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
½ cup butter

Filling:
1 cup plus 3 cups berries
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
2 heaping tablespoons cornstarch

Sift flour and sugar into bowl. With pastry blender, cut in butter. Mix until it resembles cornmeal. Press into a greased pie pan until firm on bottom and sides. Bake at 425 degrees for 10-12 minutes or until browned.

Meanwhile, cook one cup berries, water, sugar, and cornstarch until thickened. Place three cups fresh berries in baked pie crust and pour thickened berry mixture over fresh fruit while syrup is hot.

Good with strawberries, black raspberries, or blueberries.

GRAPE JELL-O MOLD

2 3-ounce packages grape Jell-O
1 can crushed pineapple (do not drain)
1 can blueberry filling
2 cups boiling water

Dissolve Jell-O in water, add pineapple and pie filling. Mix and chill.

Topping:
½ cup sour cream
8-ounces cream cheese
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped pecans

Cream sour cream and cream cheese, sugar, and vanilla. Spread over top of salad. Refrigerate topping 30 minutes before spreading on top.

Living with Brothers and Sisters

Mary Laeger-Hagemeister

"When I'm six, Anthony will have the German Measles and my father will take me to the baseball game. Then Anthony will have the mumps and my mother will take me to the flower show....

When I'm six we'll have a skipping contest and I'll skip fastest.

Then we'll have a jumping contest and I'll jump higher.

Then we'll do Eeny - Meeny - Miney - Mo and Anthony will be O-U-T!

When I'm six, I'll fix Anthony."

As much as we as parents would like to, we can't stop it. Brothers and sisters are going to squabble, bicker, tease, torment, and envy each other. It's not that they don't love each other— because they usually do. Sometimes they just feel jealous. Each child wants to be the first, best, most important, most loved, and the ONLY child receiving the parents' love and care. This jealousy and competition between brothers and sisters is common. It is called Sibling Rivalry!

Since only about 10 percent of the couples in the United States have only children, the reality is, most children will grow up as a sibling! There's also comfort as parents to know we're not the only ones dealing with these conflicts.

I believe a big part of what we need to do as parents is understand the role of siblings for each other. First of all they are built in playmates for one another— depending on closeness in age. Siblings learn to set goals and cooperate as well as build memories for a lifetime. I am the youngest of three, with two older brothers. I can remember vividly the fights as well as playing farm together, sharing secrets, and working with our 4-H calves as a threesome! I look at my own two, ages 13 and 10, and see history repeat itself. They have learned that if they pool their allowance and gift money, they can reach a goal of buying something together much faster. They too share secrets and memories of fun times as well as squabbles.

In addition, siblings are teachers and learners. Older children often act as teachers for younger siblings. Granted, their may be some things we wish they didn't teach them! But as I have seen play out in our family, the younger one can also teach her older brother. Because each child is unique and has their own skills, abilities and interests, we can all, even parents, learn from each other.

Of course, siblings also serve as protectors of one another. This is especially true for older children or children in large families that may have a responsibility for younger siblings. However, once again, I as the youngest remember "warning" my brothers that if they didn't do something they'd get in trouble with "the folks."I know that Danny has been the protector and the protected as well— even though he is our eldest!

And the last, but certainly not the least, is the role of the rival! With two or more children there will be competition expressed physically as well as verbally. But why? is the question I hear from so many parents. Rivalry occurs because our children are competing for love and attention for us. They may also be jealous of seemingly more capable siblings, or vice versa, and siblings that demand more of our help. Keep in mind also that young children developmentally are not able to see another's point of view.

Now to reframe sibling rivalry! It's a great opportunity for children to learn to resolve conflict in a positive manner! It is a teachable moment. Before I give you a suggested list of techniques that you may try, I want you to first take a moment to think about how you deal with conflict, whether it's with your spouse, friends, extended family, or your children. Keep in mind that our children are sponges and and soak up all we say and do. Our role modeling for them is in essence teaching them to use the same methods.

Do you scream, yell, hit, use physical force, try to discuss conflict, negotiate a compromise, or praise positive behavior. The atmosphere of the home has much to do with how much rivalry and conflict is present. Following are suggestions for Diminishing Conflict and Rivalry:

1. Set aside a special parent time for each child daily, or at least several times a week. Each child will be able to have all of a particular parent's attention and affection with no intrusion or interruptions.

2. Recognize and believe that each child is an individual. Respect each child's individuality.

3.Help each child understand brother(s) or sister(s) and why they can or cannot do certain things.

4. Make each child feel special in his/her parents' eye.

5. Try to give each child the measure of affection that he/she needs at the moment.

6. Acknowledge each child's needs for attention and attempt to give what each needs as he/she needs it.

7. Downplay the competitiveness in the family, especially competition focused on crucial events or situations like grades, ability to read, sports, etc.

8. Try NEVER TO COMPARE one child with another, even in your mind.

9. Help older children understand why conflict and rivalry exist and talk about new ways that the child might begin to handle situations.

10. As much as possible, keep calm, speak in a normal tone and volume and try generally to ignore as many minor conflicts as possible.

11. Let your children settle their own squabbles. Do not intervene unless the children are very young or very ill-matched.

12. Stop an argument that becomes physical. Children will learn that children are NOT for hitting and that physical violence will not be tolerated.

One technique we use not listed here is boy's day and girl's day. Danny was born on an odd day so odd numbered days are boy's day. Reka was born on an even day, so even days are girl's day.

This has worked for over seven years in our family and determines who gets in the shower first, whose story was read first, and now, who does which chores. On the 31st of the month it's parents' day, and we decide who gets or has to do what. This has helped to eliminate many conflicts and also, the children can settle disagreements on their own.

The most comforting thing to remember is that sibling rivalry doesn't always last forever. In most families, sibling relationships get better with time, especially in families where parents don't try to solve all problems, but help their children learn the give-and-take skills of living with others. Remember, sibling relationships are the longest relationship any of us typically have!

Banana Split Race Is Udder Madness

BALLY (Berks Co.) — "This is udder madness," proclaimed Thomas J. Welsh, bishop of Allentown, after the ice cream and whipped cream settled down in the wake of the 100-foot banana split race at Saint Francis Academy, Bally.

It was the students versus the teachers in a special contest at SFA. Each team had to build a 50-foot long banana split. It was all part of Dairy Day and a deliciously sweet way to end the school year.

Following a presentation on the nutritional value of milk, given by Berks County Dairy Princess Angela Werley, student representatives from each class faced off against their teachers to build lengthy banana splits.

They began with an ice-filled, foil-lined rain cutter and collectively used 30 gallons of ice cream, 84 bananas, whipped cream, more than 55 pounds of toppings (strawberry, pineapple, chocolate), and about 240 cherries to complete the task.

The twin splits were built in less than 20 minutes and consumed in about 15 minutes.

In the end, it was the students who were declared winners. Prestigious judges for this event were the dairy princess and the top banana himself, Bishop Thomas J. Welsh.

The judging criteria included speed, neatness, and appearance. Finding a technicality, the judges gave the win to the students. The teachers, however, looked like a winning team by wearing team shirts sponsored by Bob Hilbert.

Members of the winning team included: Andrew Powers and Melissa Heintz (Grade 1), Coin Casey and Jessica Rotenberger (Grade 2), Jennifer Stigura and Robert Schroeder (Grade 3), Kristen Martin and Colin Carver (Grade 4), Kelli Ann Murphy and Mark Iannelli (Grade 5), Andrew Pekarik and Alana Yost (Grade 6), Ray DeHont and Tia Mastromatto (Grade 7), Dan Craven, Rachael Swartley, Mike LeBanc and Nick Iannelli (Grade 8), Fr. Jim Bechtel, Fr. Robert Quinn, Fr. Philip Rogers, and Barbara Seaman (D.R.E.).

The following sponsors made the event possible: A.D. Moyer Lumber and Hardware of Gilbertsville, Longacre's Modern Dairy in Barto, Auckland Produce in Milford, Pennsburg Dairy Queen, Weis Markets of Gilbertsville, Bob Hilbert T-shirts in Boyertown, and National Penn Bank of Boyertown.

"I'm really impressed by the generosity of all our sponsors," said Deacon Thomas Murphy.

Brother And Sister Named Outstanding 4-H'ers

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

LOYSBURG (Bedford Co.) — Competition is keen and being selected as the outstanding 4-H boy or girl of Bedford County doesn't come easy.

It's a title hard earned by Aleecha and Nicholas Jones children of Tom and Karen Jones, Everett.

Going into the fifth grade at Northern Bedford elementary, Nicholas raises pigs and sheep, does speech presentations and has allowed his grandmother to teach him to sew.

At the recent 4-H sewing review, Nicholas modeled a pair of long pants and a baseball theme shirt, both made with his own two hands.

In August, he will show his Yorkshire and Southdown pigs at the Bedford Fair as well as his two new lambs. He has recently won several showing trophies.

Nicholas is a member of the Southern Cove Oinkers 4-H Club.

Meanwhile, sister, Aleecha's wool pants suit modeled in this year's 4-H dress review won her an easy first-place in junior competition.

A member of the Northern Bedford County chorus, baton twirler, cheerleader, and active in the youth group of the Community Grace Brethren Church, Aleecha, an eight grader, has been making wool outfits for a number of years.

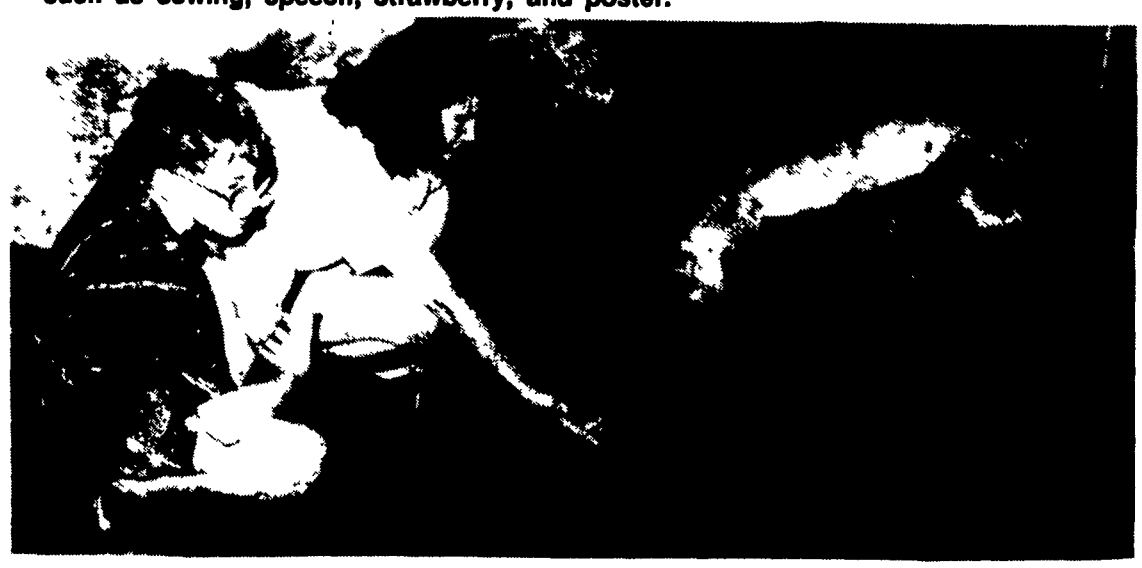
She has won a showmanship trophy with her pigs and this year will also be showing sheep.

Both the Jones children will enter strawberries and drug and alcohol protest posters in the Bedford County Fair.

Aleecha's demonstration on how to make buttonholes won her a place just next to her first-place cousin at the recent 4-H dress review.

Animals of this outstanding 4-H pair are housed on the farm of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pennel of Loysburg.

Named the Bedford County outstanding 4-H boy and girl, Aleecha and Nicholas Jones raise pigs and sheep on their granparents' farm and participate in 4-H clubs such as sewing, speech, strawberry, and poster.



Both Aleecha and Nicholas have won showmanship trophies for showing Yorkshire and Southdown pigs.

Cumberland Selects Dairy Royalty

BETH MILLER
Cumberland Co.

CARLISLE (Dauphin Co.) — Heather Lehman had at least one good reason for becoming Cumberland County's Dairy Princess for 1996-97.

Her brother asked her to do it, she said.

As it turned out, the 19-year-old Mechanicsburg woman ended up being the only contestant for this year's crown.

But that doesn't really matter because she is sure to do a good job representing the county's busy dairy industry.

She knows exactly where her priorities must be.

"The most important thing I'll be doing will be promoting the dairy industry," Lehman said. "A lot of people don't know how important it is."

She knows first-hand how important it is and how important her job as the county's 29th dairy princess will be over the coming year.

Lehman's family no longer farms full time, but she keeps her hand in agriculture by continuing to raise two heifers, along with beef cattle and swine.

She said she has plans to make her career in the industry and hopes to prepare for that by studying agribusiness at either Delaware Valley College or Virginia Tech.

Lehman, who is the daughter of Carl and Mabel Lehman and a 1995 graduate of Cumberland Valley High School, is already kept plenty busy serving a term as treasurer of the Pennsylvania FFA.

The speech she gave during her coronation ceremony at the Embers Convention Center in Carlisle covered statistics on dairy farming in Pennsylvania and on the nutritional benefits of drinking milk, including the fact that it is a rich source of calcium.

For her presentation, she pretended to be the director of a health club to discuss the importance of drinking milk and how milk drinking combined with exercise equates to a healthy lifestyle.

Her brother, Tim, filled in the intermissions in the presentations with a musical program, so the coronation was truly a Lehman family affair.

The climax came when Lehman received the crown from the county's 1995-96 dairy princess, Lori Brownewell.

The county dairy maids who will help Lehman during her year-long reign included two returnees from last year and two newcomers.

The veteran dairy maids are Rebecca Cornman, the daughter of Steve and Debbie Cornman of Carlisle, and Julie Fulton, the daughter of Robert and Rebecca Fulton of Shippensburg.

The first-time dairy maids are Heather Brown, the daughter of James and Vonda Brown of Mechanicsburg, and Amy Kulick, the daughter of James and Ann Kulick of Carlisle.

Lori Brownewell crowns her successor Cumberland County Dairy Princess Heather Lehman.

KUBOTA DEFIES THE LAW OF AVERAGES

Kubota engineers defied all the laws of "average" when they designed Kubota's Grand L and M-Series diesel tractors Loaded with features, these versatile tractors can tackle your toughest farming tasks.

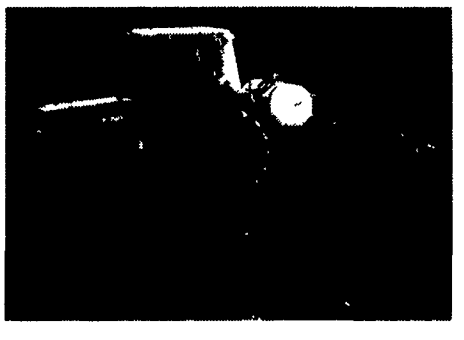
The 2WD and 4WD Grand L-Series generates 25 to 37 PTO horsepower in four compact, state-of-the-art models.

Shift-on-the-go with Kubota's Synchro-shuttle transmission, or choose a GST (Glide Shift Transmission) for 8 speed clutchless operation.

Kubota's M-Series increases your power with two models producing 42 to 50 PTO horsepower. The M-Series 4WD models incorporate Kubota's bevel gear drive for smooth, tight turns.

Both the Grand L and M-Series are powered by Kubota's low noise and vibration E-TVCS diesel engines. These easy maintenance diesels are lean on both fuel and emissions, and are also environmentally friendly. Independent rear PTO and hefty 3-point hitch is standard.

See your Kubota dealer today and let them show you why Kubota's Grand L and M-Series are not your "average" tractor!



Kubota Tractor Corporation markets a full line of tractors through a nationwide network of over 1,000 dealers Financing is available through Kubota Credit Corporation

WILL THE IRS INHERIT YOUR ESTATE?

We can help prevent the loss of your estate due to taxes

New York Life's Survivorship Whole Life policy was created to provide you and your spouse with life insurance coverage, and needed liquidity, when your estate taxes are due.

It works like this: When one spouse dies, the resulting estate tax can be deferred until after the death of the surviving spouse. At that time, the policy's proceeds become available, and can be used to help pay the usually heavy estate tax. In other words, New York Life makes the proceeds available when they're needed the most.

You've worked hard all of your life, and shouldn't have to spend time worrying about what will happen to your estate. Call us for all the details and let us show you why New York Life is The Company You Keep.

LaVonne Weaver's quilted wall hanging must be seen in color to appreciate the subtle changing colors achieved through pickling the fabric. During Ag Progress Days held Aug. 13-15, LaVonne will display and hand out information on the fabric pickling process. Look for the display booth of Centre Pieces in the craft display building.

Farm Wife Pickles Fabrics

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

CENTRE HALL (Centre Co.) — This is the season for pickling pickles, watermelon rinds, cantaloupe, zucchini, and other relishes. And at least one farm wife pickles fabrics.

Pickled fabric isn't for eating but is used to make wall hangings, quilts, and other fabric crafts.

The subtle shade differences, from light to dark, achieved through the pickling process adds depth and interest to completed fabric crafts.

LaVonne Weaver, whose husband combines teaching with farming in Centre Hall, finds most of the supplies needed for the pickling process in farm supply stores.

LaVonne read about the pickling process several years ago in a quilting magazine. After experimenting, she simplified the process.

"From one batch, I get 24 colors in all shades, which produces a nice texture. It sounds a little complicated, but it is fun to do," LaVonne said.

"If you purchase the pickled fabric at a craft show, you will pay a fortune," LaVonne said. By doing it herself, she estimates that it costs her about $1 to do a piece of fabric that quilters refer to as a fat quarter of fabric, which is ½ yard material split in half.

Here are directions for pickling fabrics that LaVonne has adapted from reading an article by Vimila McClure of Willow Springs, Mo., which appeared in "American Quilter," in the Fall of 1995.

For those who attend Ag Progress Days held Aug, 13-15, look up LaVonne, who will have a display of pickled fabrics and a handout on the process. She will be at the Centre Pieces booth in the craft display building. LaVonne will only be at the display booth on Tuesday, but other people from Centre Pieces will be able to answer any questions on the other days.

Before beginning the pickling process, order the following supplies from a dye house or farm supply store. A mail-order dye house, which LaVonne recommends, is Pro Chemical & Dye, P.O. Box 14, Somerset, MA 02728. For orders only call 1-800-2-BUY-DYE.

- 3 cups urea granules
- 4 ounces each Procion dyes
  Red MX8B (fuchsia)
  Yellow MX8G
  Turquoise MXG
- 1 pint Synthrapol soap or orvus soap
- 1½ cups dye activator or soda ash

LaVonne said that each orvus soap is available in farm stores and is used for washing show animals. The soap is used to wash fabric after dyeing and is also sold in quilting shops or catalogs.

Urea granules used in dyeing are also sold in farm stores as fertilizer. Soda ash is sold at swimming pool supply stores as well as through dye product supply stores. LaVonne uses canning pickling salt to set the dye after the process.

If you have questions about pickling fabrics, LaVonne will be happy to answer questions if you write or call her at R.D.1, Box 132, Centre Hall, PA 16828. Phone (814) 466-7152.

Pickled Fabric Recipe

6 yards of unbleached or bleached muslin or other 100 percent cotton fabric for each 24-step batch.

1 gallon container
3 quart containers
Measuring spoons
3 chopsticks of long spoons for stirring
Rubber gloves
Apron
2 dozen 8-ounce jelly jars with lids (keep the boxes with jar separators).
2 or 3 plastic tubs for transporting dyed fabrics to washing machine
2-cup measuring cup
Paper towels for cleanup
Dust mask (available from a dye house or farm supply store)
Calgon water softener
2½ cups pickling salt
Sink with running water that will hold at least 3 gallons.

Central Region Fashion Revue Includes 16 Counties

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

BOALSBURG (Centre Co.) — Above 100 4-H kids from the 16-county, 4-H central Pennsylvania region were blessed with super-sunshine on the Thursday of July 11, when they participated in the 4-H central regional fashion revue titled "Fabric of Success," at the Mount Nittany Middle School.

The newly opened, modern facility — one of two State College Area District middle schools, according to Principal John Casey — serves students in grades six, seven and eight. Its first year of operations has just ended.

So regardless of where they went the kids, their leaders and parents found elbow room to spare around the beautiful, well-lighted facility.

The senior division gold ribbons awardees were Lyneice Chamberlain, Lynette Chamberlain and Heidi Shryock from Bedford County; Lisa Lieb, Marie Lieb, Tracey Lieb and Clarissa Yablinsky from Cambria County; Judy Geissinger from Juniata County; Manessa Green, Sara Hillegass, Mary Kretchman, Julie Sechler and Corby Svonavec from Somerset County.

From classy elegance and style to the sporty and care-free, the various garmets appeared as exceptional as the ability of the models wearing them.

The 13 young women will advance, in early August to the state fashion revue held at Penn State.

Their alternates, each receiving a blue ribbon for their outstanding work in stitchery, are Anne Brockett, Huntingdon County; Natalie Fuller, Mifflin County, and Jaclyn Mains, Perry County.

It was evident as they confidently strolled over the stage in the theatre-style auditorium at the afternoon fashion show, that something of their own personality was being expressed by all the 4-H girls and boys. The patterns and materials were diverse and interesting to guests. Plus the kids showed flair in accessorizing with something on the side to match.

One young fellow, for instance, felt completely at ease wearing his blue print nightshirt, matching nightcap and cozy, matching booties to lunch in the big cafeteria.

In all, the senior division had some 34 participants while the junior had 70 4-H'ers.

Throughout the morning, workshops included "Modeling For Success" by Jane Mecum; "Evolution of Fashion" by Resta Tressler, and "Unraveling Fabric Questions" by Miriam and Judith Mains.

The judges were Connie Schulz, Mary Schreyer, and Diane Williams.

The fashion revue committee was Sandra Hall, Lori Lauver, Beth Van Horn, Kathryn Hostetler, Doris Krumenacker, Janice Stoudnour and Jane Mecum.

Food Revue Teaches Garnishing Secrets

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

BOALSBURG (Centre Co.) — They didn't expect to learn how a tropical palm tree can grow in the cooler mountains of their state but that was one fascinating tidbit that beguiled 4-H kids on July 11 at the Mount Nittany School where the central regional foods revue was held.

A palm tree, you say? Uh . . . in Pennsylvania? Wait a minute!

Well, we're only repeating information, after all, from a workshop on garnishes and food safety that Bobbie Jo Simcox presented. And she did it to the rapt attention of some 55 or 60 young people.

There she stood with an adjustable mirror over her countertop (so everyone could see her handiwork), and proceeded to make palm bark out of a nine-inch carrot of burnt orange color. This she did by making thin cuts all around its entire length.

Then she shoved a toothpick into a raw, fat brown potato which had been leveled on its underside by shaving off a thin slice so it wouldn't roll. The toothpick was to hold the "trunk" erect so the green palms could go on top.

The toothpick wasn't up to snuff and broke, so somebody suggested putting it first in the end of the carrot and then into the potato which was softer.

This worked better but still it swayed. That's when Bobbie Jo, who follows the weather information on her cable television weather channel, hit upon a valid reason for her tree's tendency to veer sideways instead of staying upright.

"This carrot is now witnessing the hurricane (Bertha) that's going through the Bahamas," she told everybody.

But then the "wind" subsided and she inverted, over the other end of the carrot, a V-notched green pepper half and secured it, as well, with a toothpick.

Indeed, a palm tree can grow in Pennsylvania — in the right climatic conditions, of course, and with help from patient artisans of the kitchen.

When she asked if anyone knew what food garnishing was, one young man, very intelligently told Bobbie Jo he thought it was making decorations (for food).

She showed them how to make flower petals with veggies and fans from small fruits like strawberries. All you have to know is how to make the right cuts with the right kind of tools — tomato scooper, serrated knife, V-cutter and so forth.

"Serrated means the knife has teeth like a little saw," she said.

Washing everything comes first, startign with hands. Also, wash all utensils, the work surfaces and the food itself.

Fix a bowl of ice water. "When you're doing garnishes you need ice water nearby," she said, explaining that the veggies will keep their new shape instead of becoming undone after all the hard work it took to create them.

A nearby watermelon with a fourth of it rind gone, had V-notches around the edges. Some suggestions for the oblong melon bowl, were to use it as a cold soup tureen, a baby buggy at a baby shower, or a bowl for a fruit salad.

Most of the kids didn't realize that some flowers are edible and can make beautiful garnishes. However, florist flowers will have been sprayed, so avoid using them as food decorations, she cautioned.

Seldom, even when we say, "Oh, that looks good," do we really think about our eyes sending messages to our month. Yet, they do.

"We have to have some eye-mouth coordination. The eye sees what you are about to eat and your mouth receives it," said Bobbie Jo.

One side benefit of parsley, a popular green garnish, is its natural freshening effect on the eater's breath.

Other fun garnishes illustrated how all manner of delightful animals can be created. Custom-designed sandwiches are only as far away as a cookie cutter. The kids each received a new silver cookie cutter and a slice of bread to prove this point.

Fast food nutrition was addressed in another workshop led by Barbara Miller.

Watching a video that compared food values found in the leading fast food eateries offering big burger meals, chicken, Mexican-style, pizza and hot dogs, the kids learned which choices are best and worst for calories and fat.

They also learned that while salad foods would seem healthy, they become loaded with fat and calories when oil or mayo is applied.

Food marketing and old-time food uses workshop was led by Norma Lash and Melissa Hipple.

By sampling generic and name brand foods and drinks, the 4-H'ers decided which tasted the best, or no different, then compared the purchase prices for the buyer's best dollar value.

Seated at the table with electric buzzers, teams took turns for a foods trivia quiz which introduced them to some of the interesting remedies used in bygone days, like how to get rid of freckles or unwanted suntans, and how to heal a bee sting.

After lunch the group was welcomed by Harold Ott, central regional director, and did an activity with Julie Williams, a coach from Penn State University.

The foods revue committee was Jane Beichtol, Lori Lauver, Norma Lash, Barbara Miller, and Melissa Hipple.

This group of central region 4-H'ers takes a foods trivia quiz. Whoever knows the answer hits the buzzer in front of him or her.

Pickles Fabrics

Prepare Fabric

• If you are using fabric on hand, wash in hot water to which has been added 3 tablespoons Synthrapol soap to scour away any chemical residues or finishes. Fabric from dye companies do not need this initial washing. In either case, the dyeing process will preshrink the fabric.

• Cut or tear fabric into fat quarters (½ yard fabric split in half), and soak them into the following solution for at least 15 minutes: 3 gallons warm water plus 1½ cups dye activator or soda ash. (You can save this solution indefinitely for future dye projects)

• Put on gloves. Squeeze fabric into balls and transfer to dye area using a plastic bin.

Step Two
Prepare Dye Solution

• Keep gloves on. Make Chem Water: fill gallon jug ¼ full with warm water and add 3 cups urea granules and 4 teaspoons Calgon. Stir thoroughly to dissolve.

• Fill 3-quart-size containers with 4 cups each Chem Water. Add yellow, turquoise, and red dye to respective quart containers as follows (uneven amounts are because of different weights of dye).

For dark batch, put in separate quart jars:
8 teaspoons yellow
5 teaspoons turquoise
3 teaspoons red

For medium batch:
5 teaspoons yellow
3 teaspoons turquoise
2 teaspoons red

1 teaspoon turquoise
½ teaspoon red

You may remove the dust mask after mixing the dye solutions. If the dye powder clumps, add a drop of dish detergent. You now have 3-quart containers of dye solution: yellow, turquoise, and red — enough for one 24-color batch.

Step 3
Prepare Jars of Dye

• Unscrew lids and set aside in a bin. Leave jars in box they came in.

• Add salt to the jars as follows:
For dark batch:
1 tablespoon salt to each jar
For medium batch:
1 teaspoon salt to each jar
For light batch:
½ teaspoon salt to each jar

Following the color wheel recipe, fill each jar with dye solution. Each jar will be about half-way filled—some a little more, some a little less. Stir each jar until salt is dissolved, rinsing spoon or chopstick between jars so dye solution does not intermix (not every grain of salt needs to be dissolved).

Step 4
Fill Jars With Fabric

One by one, scrunch the wet fat quarters you have prepared. Try to get as many small wrinkles and crevices in the fabric as you can, squeezing it down into a small ball. Carefully insert the fabric into the jar, using a chopstick or spoon to push the fabric down and around in the jar to completely soak it with dye solution.

Put lids on jars and replace in box with top on box so you can turn whole box upside down.

After Step Four, allow fabric to remain in dye jars for 24 hours up to two weeks, turning jars several times.

Color Wheel Recipe

Using the dye solution from the 3-quart containers as indicated, fill the jars with these amounts:

Jar 1: ½ cup red
Jar 2: Scant ½ cup red + 1 tablespoons yellow
Jar 3: ⅓ cup red + 2 tablespoons yellow
Jar 4: Scant ⅓ cup red + ¼ cup yellow
Jar 5: ¼ cup red+scant ⅓ cup yellow
Jar 6: 2 tablespoons red + ⅓ cup yellow
Jar 7: 1 tablespoon red + ½ cup yellow
Jar 8: 1 teaspoon red + ½ cup yellow
Jar 9: ½ cup yellow
Jar 10: Scant ½ cup yellow + 1 teaspoon turquoise
Jar 11: ½ cup yellow + 1 tablespoon turquoise
Jar 12: ¼ cup yellow + 1 tablespoon turquoise
Jar 13: 2 tablespoons yellow + ⅓ cup turquoise
Jar 14: 2 teaspoons yellow + ½ cup turquoise
Jar 15: ½ cup turquoise
Jar 16: Scant ½ cup turquoise + 1 teaspoon red
Jar 17: ½ cup turquoise + 1 tablespoon red
Jar 18: ⅓ cup turquoise + 2 tablespoons red
Jar 19: Scant ⅓ cup turquoise + ¼ cup red
Jar 20: ¼ cup turquoise + ⅓ cup red
Jar 21: Scant ¼ cup turquoise + ⅓ cup red
Jar 22: 3 tablespoons turquoise + ⅓ cup red
Jar 23: 1 tablespoon turquoise + ⅓ cup red
Jar 24: 1 teaspoon turquoise + ½ cup red

Deadheading Perennials

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — If your garden is looking overgrown and messy, it is probably time to do some deadheading and trimming back. According to Susan J. Goldsworthy, Penn State Cooperative Extension horticulturist, deadheading is the practive of removing spent flower heads just above a node. This may help a plant to rebloom, help maintain a continuous bloom, or just improve the overall appearance of the plant. Cut just above a node to remove individual spent flowers from plants that bloom over a period of time. New flowers will grow from the leaf axils at the node.

Shape plants that bloom in a single flush into a rounded form after they have bloomed. Their neat, structured appearance anchors the garden while later-blooming plants fill out and flower. Cut back some leggy plants to the ground after they have bloomed. They will product a compact mound of foliage in a couple of weeks.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — A reader wanted a recipe for hash browns. Thanks to Anna Martin, Denver, for sending a recipe.

Hashbrowns

Cook in microwave until slightly done but still firm:
6 large potatoes (red preferred) peeled
Grate potatoes into a large bowl, and add:
1 large onion, grated
Heat in a large frying pan:
½ cup oil

Mix potatoes and onions thoroughly and place mixture in hot pan. Cover. Cook over medium heat for about 15 minutes or until crispy and brown. Turn. Cook another 10 minutes. Add salt and pepper as desired.

ANSWER — Donna Rae Burgett, Newville, wrote that last year she used a recipe for black rasperry syrup that appeared in this column. The syrup was a big hit with her family, but she lost the recipe. Thanks to Pat Elligson, Millers, Md., and to Lou Shultz, Harrisburg, who both sent recipes that each had previously submitted.

Black Raspberry Syrup

2 quarts raspberries
1 quart sugar
¾ cup cold water

Wash and mash raspberries, sprinkle with sugar, cover and let stand overnight. Add water, bring slowly to a boil and cook 20 minutes. Force through a double thickness of cheese cloth. Again bring to boiling point. Fill small jars to overflowing and seal.

Great over ice cream and pancakes, Pat Elligson writes.

Raspberry Sauce

2 teaspoons cornstarch
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 pint raspberries

In medium saucepan, combine cornstarch and sugar. Stir in water and raspberries. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until mixture simmers for two minutes and is slightly thickened. Strain through fine sieve, pressing pulp with back of spoon. Discard seeds. Chill thoroughly.

Note: If frozen raspberries are used, defrost two 10-ounce packages, but do not add additional sugar or water. Blend in cornstarch. Heat mixture gently until sauce is thickened. Chill.

All Gardens Great & Small

Fresh And Flavorful Salsa And Eggplant

What goes into salsa? While your recipe may differ from your neighbors, most recipes include garden "fresh" tomatoes, onions, cilantro, parsley, basil, and a "secret" ingredient. That secret is tomatillos. These small tomato-like plants are easy to grow. They produce a tart-flavored fruit with a texture that really makes salsa.

Toma Verde is an excellent tomatillo variety for making salsa. It has small, ping pong ball size fruit that forms inside a paper husk that splits when the fruit is ripe. Fully ripened tomatillos are yellow in color. For salsa, harvest while they are green and before the paper husk splits. Be sure to remove and discard the husk before chopping.

Cilantro, another important ingredient in salsa, is easy to grow in the garden. There is no substitute for the tangy flavor of cilantro. It grows fast in garden beds or pots in a sunny location. If cilantro is new to you and your family, use it sparingly in salsa recipes until you develop a liking for it.

Parsley, another easy to grow garden herb has a much milder flavor than cilantro. Both cilantro and parsley add color as well as flavor to your garden and to your salsa. For even more color, add green and purple varieties of basil. One of my favorite basils that can even be used in large landscaping plantings is called purple ruffles.

What about eggplant with salsa? Eggplant may not be your kids favorite but it's easy to grow in "great and small" gardens that are hot, hot, hot ... To get the maximum number of eggplant for broiling or roasting, feed the plants with fertilizer and keep their roots cool by mulching. An important harvesting tip is to cut off the fruits rather than pull them off when ripened. Ripened fruit will be glossy and firm. Overripened fruit starts to soften and turn dull. Try our next eggplant on a pizza.

Plants In Containers

PENN STATE (Centre Co.) — If you are growing annual flowering plants or vegetables in containers and hanging baskets, be sure to monitor their moisture level closely. According to Susan J. Goldsworthy, Penn State Cooperative Extension horticulturist, plants in containers have a confirmed area from which to draw water, and the containers will dry out more rapidly than garden beds. Unglazed clay containers especially should be watched, since they lose water by evaporation through the sides of the pot, in addition to the top of the soil and by plant use.

Also keep in mind that the location of the container will make a difference. Containers in the shade won't need to be watered as frequently as containers in full sun. If a container is located under an overhang, it will not receive the rainfall that a container in an exposed location will. Don't water on a fixed schedule, rather check each container daily and water when necessary.

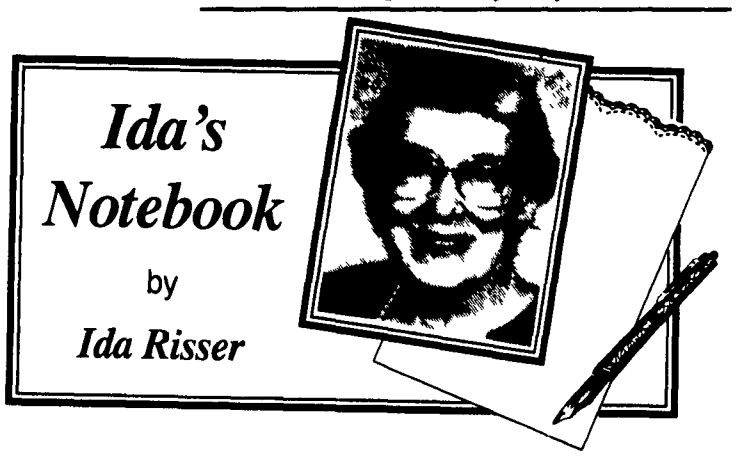
4H HAPPENINGS

4-H Day Camp

This year, 4-H Day Camp will be held Wednesday, July 24 at the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville. Day Camp is presented by 4-H teens to 4-H members 8-12 years of age. This year's theme is "Fast Food Frenzy" and is designed around favorite fast food restaurants.

This year 4-H teens, with the help of adult leaders, will be present workshops on recreation, crafts, and stream studies. The dairy princess, beef queen, and apple queen will also present a workshop on their foods. There will also be greasy games, including relays and other "olympic" style activities.

In addition to the workshops, 4-H Day Camp will include a group planning session for teens to work with 4-H group members to prepare for an evening program. The evening program will showcase costumes, skits, songs, and enthusiasm of the campers.



What a busy week we've had recently as we entertained four of our children's families. Each meal from Monday to Saturday included six, eight or 10 people. I enjoy cooking but I've become accustomed to cooking for only two people.

One day seven of our 13 grandchildren were here. In the afternoon they had fun with water guns. Even the 16-month-old loved to be squirted.

Another day the children went along to bring home three baby pigs. It did not take the animals very long to look like pigs as they found a mud hole. The dogs on the farm were another attraction as well as a litter of many colored kittens.

My one small black kitten was turned into a toy by Rebecca. She played with it constantly and used it like a doll. Of course, she is the one who even likes snakes and lets them coil around her neck.

The family from Atlanta spent a night at our camper. They took the children fishing and kept getting the lines caught and had to replace the hooks and sinkers.

One night several families went for ice cream cones. This was something that not only the babies could enjoy but also the grandparents. Another time we had a watermelon party at the picnic table.

Two of the children made hot mats for me and their parents gave us two green folding chairs. During all of this visiting, we picked black raspberries, apricots and cherries which I canned. I also made apricot jam and raspberry jelly which I allowed to boil over on the stove — what a mess.

The Texas family went home to 107-degree temperature. At least we had pleasant weather while they visited here.

Jammin' In July

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) -- Sunshine and the fresh fruits of summer bounty are prolific, especially during July. Although we can't preserve the sunshine to use on a dreary winter day, we can preserve the fresh taste of many fruits and vegetables.

Recently, home economist Beth Whitman-Pitzer held workshops at the Dauphin County Cooperative Extension, Dauphin, on making summer jams and jellies.

"It's a fun way to preserve a little summer," Whitman-Pitzer said.

She taught participants how to feel comfortable canning, the pros and cons of freezing, canning, and drying.

Some points to remember when considering whether or not to freeze, can or dry fruits and vegetables are to remember that drying results in the loss of more nutrients than in freezing and canning. Also, make sure food is thoroughly dried or mold will grow on dried foods left at room temperature.

The most nutrients are retained through the freezing method, which is also quicker and eliminates the chance of botulism. If clostridium botulinum bacteria survive and grow inside a sealed jar of food, they can produce a poisonous toxin in which even a taste of the food containing the toxin can be fatal. Boiling food for 10 minutes destroys this poison if present.

Canning is the most inexpensive method once the initial canning equipment is purchased. Jars and canners may be reused indifinitely. Once fruits and vegetables are preserved by canning, the jars may be exposed to varying temperatures.

"I prefer canning because the filled jars make great gifts," Whitman-Pitzer said.

"If time is a premium in your life, than freezing is probably the best choice," Whitman-Pitzer said of the different choices for preserving food.

During the workshop, Whitman-Pitzer demonstrated making jams and jellies. She stressed the importance of exact measurements when using pectin. Some pectin recipes recommend inverted jars to seal.

"We do not recommend the inverted method, because it isn't always safe," Whitman-Pitzer said.

If jelly does not hold a firm set and is too soft, following these instructions for remaining soft jellies: Measure jelly to be recooked. Work with no more than 4 to 6 cups at a time. To remake with powdered pectin, for each quart jelly, mix ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice, and 4 teaspoons powdered pectin. Bring to a boil while stirring. Add jelly and bring to a rolling boil over high heat, stirring constantly. Boil hard for 30 seconds. Remove from heat, quickly skim foam off jelly and fill sterile jars, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust new lids and process.

Another problem that home canners face is the new corning and disk burner stoves. These need a flat bottom canner because the ridge bottoms do not become hot enough to maintain a boiling stage.

A flat-bottom canner can easily be made by using a stock pot with a flat bottom. Place a cake rack in the bottom and set jars on top of it. The water can safely boil around jars of any size that fit within the stock pot.

A extensive manual called "Complete Guide to Home Canning," is available through Penn State Extension for $6. A booklet, "How To Freeze Food," is available for $1.50. These publications are available at every extension office in the state and provide thorough step-by-step instructions and numerous recipes. Numerous free handouts on canning and freezing are also available from canning extension offices. Also, the extension office, without charge, checks the gauges of pressure canners to make sure they operate at proper temperatures.

Another good source for home canning is the book, "Ball Home Canning." For information on how to purchase it, write to Altriste Corp., Consumer Prod. Co., Consumer Affairs Dept., P.O. Box 2729, Muncie, IN 47307-0729.

For more information on freezing and canning, call Whitman-Pitzer at Dauphin Co. Cooperative Extension Office at (717) 921-8803.

Whitman-Pitzer, who often serves as a food judge at county fairs, said that when she judges canned goods, she looks at the overall appearance to see if it passes the following tests:

- Pieces uniform in size and shape.
- Characteristic, uniform color
- Shape retained — not broken or mushy
- Proper maturity
- Liquid or syrup clear and free from sediment.

As a food judge, Whitmer-Pitzer said that she notices that many people pack green beans upright within a jar.

"It looks pretty, but it is not safe, because it is harder for the liquid to circulate," she said.

After fruits and vegetables are sealed, let the jar set for 24 hours before removing the jar band. According to Whitman-Pitzer, jar bands should always be unscrewed before storing the jars because it is easier to tell if a seal becomes broken.

If you don't have a canner or you have a Corning-top stove, make your own canner by using a flat-bottom stock pot. Place a cake rack or folded tea towel on the bottom before setting the jars inside.

Beth Whitman-Pitzer holds a jar of nectarine plum jam. The brightly colored red jam makes an attractive and tasty gift.

NECTARINE PLUM JAM

1½ pounds nectarines
1½ pounds plums
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 package powdered pectin
7 cups sugar

Peel and pit nectarines. Pit plums. Coarsely chop both fruits. Place chopped fruit in a large sauce pot. Stir in lemon juice and pectin. Place over high heat and bring to a rolling boil, stirring occasionally. Add sugar and return to a rolling boil. Boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Pour hot into hot jars, leaving ¼ -inch headspace. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Adjust caps. Yield: about 8 half pints.

RASPBERRY JAM

2 quarts raspberries, washed and drained
⅓ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 package powdered pectin
6 cups sugar

Combine raspberries, water, lemon juice, lemon peel, and pectin in a large saucepot. Bring to a rolling boil over high heat, stirring frequently. Add sugar; return to a rolling boil. Boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Pour hot into hot jars, leaving ¼ -inch head space. Adjust caps. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about 5 half pints.

GRAPE JAM

2 quarts stemmed Concord grapes
6 cups sugar

Separate pulp from skins of grapes. If desired, chop skins. Cook skins gently 15 to 20 minutes, adding only enough water to prevent sticking (about half cup). Cook pulp without water until soft; press through a sieve or food mill to remove seeds. Combine pulp, skins and sugar in a large saucepot. Bring slowly to a boill, stirring until sugar dissolves. Cook rapidly almost to jellying point, about 10 minutes. As mixture thickens, stir frequently to prevent sticking. Pour hot into hot jars, leaving ¼ -inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process 15 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about 3 pints.

APPLE CINNAMON CONSERVE

4 cups unsweetened applesauce
1 cup dried apples, chopped
20 ounces unsweetened crushed pineapple, drained
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup raisins

Combine all ingredients in a large saucepot. Simmer for 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Pour hot into hot jars, leaving ¼ -inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about six half pints. 1 tablespoon=14 calories.

REFRIGERATED GRAPE SPREAD

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin powder
24-ounce bottle unsweetened grape juice
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
2 tablespoons liquid low-calorie sweetner

In a saucepan, soften the gelatin in the grape and lemon juices. Bring to a full rolling boil to dissolve gelatin. Boil one minute and remove from heat. Stir in sweetener. Fill jars quickly, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids. Do not process or freeze. Store in refrigerator and use within four weeks.

Yield: 3 half-pints

SUGAR-FREE APPLE JELLY

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1 quart unsweetened apple juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons liquid artificial sweetener
Food coloring, if desired

In a saucepan, soften gelatin in apple juice and lemon juice. Bring to a rolling boil, dissolving gelatin; boil one minute. Remove from heat. Stir in liquid artificial sweetener and food coloring. Pour hot into hot jars. Adjust caps. Store in refrigerator up to three weeks. Yield: about 2 pints. 1 tablespoon = 8 calories.

SUGAR-FREE BLACKBERRY JAM

4 cups crushed blackberries
8 tablespoons liquid artificial sweetener

Measure crushed blackberries into a saucepot. Add sweetner and stir well. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Pour hot into hot jars, leaving ¼ -inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process 15 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about 1 pint. 1 tablespoon = 10 calories.

PEACH FREEZER JAM NO-SUGAR

4 cups peeled, sliced peaches
3 to 4 teaspoons liquid artificial sweetener
1 teaspoon unsweetened lemon juice
½ teaspoon ascorbic acid
1 package powdered pectin

Crush peaches in saucepan. Stir in sweetener, pectin, lemon juice, and ascorbic acid. Bring to a boil; boil one minute. Remove from heat. Continue to stir 2 minutes. Pour into can or freeze jars, leaving half-inch head space. Adjust caps. Freeze. Yield: about 1 pint. 1 tablespoon=10 calories.

PEACH LITE SPREAD

2 cups dried peaches
1½ cups unsweetened crushed pineapple
⅔ cup peeled, seeded, and chopped orange
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3½ cups sugar

Cover peaches with cold water and let soak overnight. The next day, simmer peaches, uncovered, in soaking water until tender. Mash with potato masher or in food processor. Add pineapple, orange, lemon juice, and sugar. Simmer until sugar has dissolved, stirring frequently; then cook over high heat until thick, about 20 to 30 minutes.

Pour hot into hot jars, leaving half-inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process 10 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about 6 half pints. 1 tablespoon = 37 calories.

Carbon Monoxide Detector Is A Must For Your Home

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — Each year, 1,500 Americans die from accidental carbon monoxide poisoning. The US Consumer Product Safety Commission says that every dwelling should have a carbon monoxide detector installed near sleeping areas.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless, tasteless, highly poisonous gas formed by the burning of carbon-based fuels, wood, coal, propane, natural gas, heating oil, gasoline and kerosene. Carbon monoxide (CO) blocks the body's ability to carry oxygen by binding to hemoglobin, the part of the red blood cell that normally carries oxygen.

The first symptom of carbon monoxide poisoning is usually a mild headache. Other symptoms include dizziness, nausea, vomiting, ringing in the ears, fatique, drowsiness or sleepiness. Coma and death can occur in minutes or hours, depending on how much carbon monoxide is in the air.

Like smoke detectors that warn you when there's a fire, carbon monoxide detectors warn you when there are dangerous levels of carbon monoxide in your home.

It's recommended to have one carbon monoxide detector placed in a hallway or sleeping area. Look for detectors with the following features:

- An alarm that stops automatically within minutes when fresh air clears carbon monoxide.
- Manual Hush or Reset button to silence alarm briefly in presence of carbon monoxide.
- Digital display or warning light.
- Light to indicate power is on.
- Horn that sounds 85 decibel alarm in response to hazardous exposure.
- Test button to verify that the detector's electronics are working.
- With plug-in models, a power cord at least 6 feet long.
- With battery-operated models, a battery/sensor pack that lasts a few years.
- Underwriters Laboratory listing (or equivalent from American Gas Association).
- Look for an AC model that is also available in 12-volt version for recreational vehicles.

After many years of research, there is finally a solution to these odor causing problems.

Amazing! NOK-OUT

Fatal news to ALL odors!

Nok-Out is non-toxic, anti-microbial, non-flammable, non-allergenic, non-corrosive, non-cationic

Nok-Out arrests and inhibits malodors caused by bacteria, fungi and mildew

Nok-Out dissolves odors caused by organic decay, smoke, fires, sewage, chemicals, mold, wet basements, animals, skunk odor, decomposed bodies, etc

Nok-Out eliminates the source of the malodors rather than masking them out on a temporary basis

Nok-Out deodorizes floors, walls, ceilings, fabrics, automobile interiors, kennels, etc

Nok-Out is guaranteed to destroy odors or your money cheerfully refunded

Nok-Out is great for use in
- Poultry Houses • Horse Ranches • Swine Confinement Building
- Dairy Farms • Horse Trailers • Kennels

COMMON SENSE MOWER CONDITIONERS

- Full-width intermeshing conditioning rolls with intermittent ribs deliver thorough, uniform conditioning.
- Simple sickle drive with pivot-arm design provides more cutting force.
- Fewer moving parts than competitive models for worry-free performance.
- Three-point flotation support protects the cutterbar from rocks and uneven terrain.
- 9'3" cutting width.

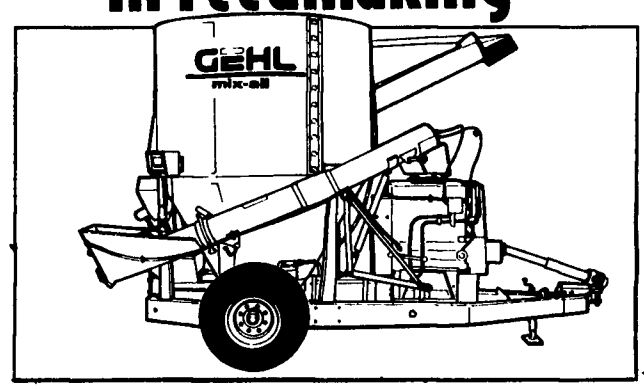
The #1 Name In Feedmaking



Gehl Mix-All® portable grinder-mixers have been leading the industry for over 30 years Now available with Gehl's famous hammermill or a commercial-grade roller mill to produce the best possible feed for your livestock

- Total hydraulic control - Self-contained hydraulic system allows infinite speeds to power the discharge conveyor, unloading auger and in-feed attachments
- Remote controls - Operate the unloading conveyor from the tractor seat or from the rear of the machine
- Electronic scales - For precise ration weighing
- Customize your machine - With a wide variety of options and attachments

You ask you answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

QUESTION — Chuck Savare, Neshanic, N.J., wants to know why chickens eat their own eggs and what can be done to stop it. He has installed slanted nesting boxes without success.

QUESTION — Darlene Shroyer, Hyndman, wants Dash parts for a 1937 Ford 4-door sedan, fuel gauge, oil gauge, speedometer. She needs the whole thing — it's rounded and everything must work. Also, she needs glove box doors with a lock that works and little chrome strips off dash. Contact her by calling (814) 842-6140.

QUESTION — Kathleen Eby, Paradise, wrote and told us that she and her husband are attempting to put together a 1930s-1940s kitchen in their home. They've been lucky in some respects (were able to obtain a stove, refrigerator, and small appliances) but have hit a "road block" on some items that they thought would be easiest to locate. The Ebys are in search of General Electric (GE) glassware or "refrigerator-ware," which are clear glass refrigerator dishes that were available to be used with the Monitor Top Refrigerator. The tops have the GE logo cast in them (at full size, it usually takes up the entire lid). They come in different sizes, most either square or rectangular.

QUESTION — Mrs. Zimmerman, Manheim, wants to know the address of Petals Magazine. She is also looking for other good craft magazines.

QUESTION — June Pontius, Sunbury, wanted someone to make for her boy and girl Amish dolls about 20 inches tall. She is also looking for information about ribbon outlets.

QUESTION — Debra Derstine, Mapleton, wants to purchase an old record of the John F. Kennedy family. She said it was an amusing recording when he was in office. Please respond to her at RD 1 Box 1203, Mapleton, PA 17052.

QUESTION — Vickie Mowery, Chambersburg, wants to know where to purchase a Surge Dairy Maid 15-gallon electric water heater. Please call them at (717) 532-3736.

QUESTION — C. Grodmann of New Hampton, N.Y. wants to know where to purchase fast-hitch attachments to an old Farmall C tractor. Contact him at (914) 374-2602.

QUESTION — Agnes DeFonde, R.D.2, Box 319, Portersville, PA 16051 would like to purchase a machine for shelling peas.

QUESTION — Virginia Haines, Tabernacle, N.J., would like instructions for making eggs look like wood. She saw it demonstrated on television but didn't hear the amount of vinegar and water nor did she get the address so she could write to them for the recipe. She said that a flower or design is put on the raw egg and wrapped in nylon stocking pulled tight with a twister. Let it cook slowly in onion skins for four or five hours. She writes that the eggs are beautiful and look just like wood and will last a lifetime.

QUESTION — Leona Spangler, P.O. Box 41, Spring Mills, PA 16875-9419, would like to buy a copy of "Searchlight" cookbook and a Rumford cookbook, which were printed between 1930-1940. Other cookbooks from that era are also welcomed.

QUESTION — June Kummerer, 1505 Kummerer Rd., Pottstown, PA 19464, is looking for books on bobbin lace; how to make it, where to purchase bobbins, and a book "Beginners Bobbin Lace," and everything else on the subject.

QUESTION — J. Hykes, 321 E. King St., Shippensburg, PA 17257-1424, is looking for old photographs of Christmas trees, which were taken before 1950.

QUESTION — J. Loren Yoder, Belleville, would like information about three different milk bottles from the following: Weaver's Dairy of Malvern; Spicklers Dairy of Elizabethtown, and Supplee-Sealtest Dairy Products.

QUESTION — A Reinholds reader would like to purchase a used flat beater and 12-quart bowl for a Reynolds Electric Company commercial mixer serial number C37129.

Takes "work" out of lawn and garden work

With all that our affordable GT275 Lawn and Garden Tractor has to offer, it's no wonder taking care of your lawn is no longer work. A 17-hp engine and hydrostatic transmission supply the power and versatility to cut even the biggest jobs down to size. And with convenient extras like speed and direction foot controls, and a rotary-dial cutting height adjuster, it's amazingly easy to operate. And its low price makes it amazingly easy to own.

ANSWER — M. Stoltzfus from Maryland wanted to raise poultry and wanted to know who he should contact. Peter Sparta, 436 N. Chew Rd., Hammonton, NJ 08037, writes that he would be happy to talk with you. Call him at (609) 561-6720.

ANSWER — Jerry Johnson, Herndon, wanted to purchase light blue with white pinstripe beanie caps with a short bill. Thanks to Nancy Seidel, Kutztown, who writes that she saw the beanie caps for sale at Weaver's Store, Inc., 1011 Dry Tavern Rd., (Rt. 897 Fivepointville) Denver, PA 17517.

ANSWER — Mrs. Don Boshnaugle, Columbia, wanted to purchase a few old elementary reading books used in the late 1930s and early 1940s, such as the "Dick," "Jane," "Sally," "Baby," "Spot," and "Little Mew" series. Thanks to Anna Martin who writes that she has the basic reader Junior Primer called "Guess Who." If you are interested in purchasing it, write to 575 Netzley Dr., Denver, PA 17517 or call (717) 733-9136.

ANSWER — Naomi Stoltzfus, Leola, wanted to know where to buy rolls of dacron and cotton material. Marion Z. Brubaker has the material. Write to her at 393 N. Strickler Rd., Manheim, PA 17545.

ANSWER — Gregory Badger, Collegeville, wanted a source to purchase seeds for Lance Leaf Coreopsis (Coreopsis Lanceolata). Thanks to Doris Brenize for writing that she will send him seeds if he sends his address. She writes that once planted, the flowers multiply profusely and need not be replanted yearly. Her address is 4438 Maclay's Mill Rd., Shippensburg, PA 17257-9119.

ANSWER — Sandra Laughman, Hardin, Mo., wrote that she read about a woman who creates pickled fabrics. Sandra wanted information on the procedure and ingredients to use. An article about pickled fabrics made by LaVonne Weaver of Centre Hall appears in this issue. Look for the article in this section. LaVonne will have a display of pickled fabrics at the Centre Pieces booth during Ag Progress Days held Aug. 13-15 in Rock Spring. She will be happy to answer questions regarding the process if you write or call her at R.D. 1, Box 132, Centre Hall, PA 16828 or call (814) 466-7152.

ANSWER — Peggy Gordon, Sykesville, Md., wanted to know how to grow Achimenes bulbs, which are small and resemble small pine cones. Thanks to Sylvia Johnston, Kemblesville, for writing that achimenes require good light, a little sun 2-3 hours a day, plenty of humidity and moisture, and protection from the cold.

The bulbs may be planted in African violet soil after January, but need to be kept inside until warm weather. When growth is about 2-inches high, transplant to a basket or other container, again using African violet soil. If grown inside under lights, the flowers will bloom for 6-8 months.

Achimenes have a dormant season. When they look tired, decrease the amount of water until the bulbs are dormant. To recycle, clean the soil from the bulbs and store in a plastic bag with some dry vermiculite.

Source of bulbs: Park Seed Co., Cokesburg Rd., Greenwood, S.C. 29647-0001.

Sylvia writes that the last time she grew achimenes, she started them then transplanted to a hanging basket when it became warm. She hung the basket on the north side of the house and enjoyed a summer of blooms. She took the basket inside during the middle of September.

Peggy, Leora Petet, R.D.1, Box 245, Hollsopple, PA 15935 will send Peggy Gordon some bulbs if she writes to her.

ANSWER — June Kummerer, Pottstown, wanted books on bobbin lace. Thanks to Sue Reall, who writes that a good source for books, videos, and equipment for bobbin lace is Unicorn Books and Crafts, Inc., 1338 Ross St. Petaluma, CA 94954-6502 or call 1-800-289-9276. Sue has ordered from this source and found it to be of high quality and excellent service.

541 West Lexington Road, Lititz, PA

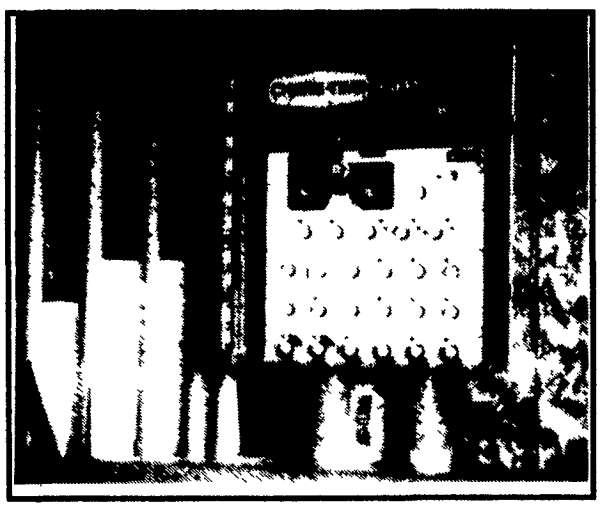
Come see an all New 48'x500' bro

Featuring:

- CHORE-TIME Feeding
- CHORE-TIME Nipples
- CHORE-TIME Ventilation
- Shenandoah Brooders

All new solid wall tunnel ventilated broiler house constructed by Northeast Agri Systems. Walls are 2x6 framed construction and trusses are 4 feet on center. Northeast's unique prefabricated panel system saves time and results in a sturdier and more accurately constructed building.

Chore-Time nipple drinkers come assembled and feature Chore-Time's Surge Plus® regulator which automatically boosts pressure during times of peak water consumption.



SIMPLE, VERSATILE, and AFFORDABLE Chore-Time® SUPER-Selector™ PNT Ventilation Control is a user-friendly 12-stage microprocessor control designed to efficiently work with nearly all ventilation methods - natural, negative satic pressure, and tunnel. Easy to operate, this control features two heat and 10 cooling stages. The SUPER-Selector is easy to set up and adjust to fine tune for your building's specific ventilation requirements.

CONSERVING STRUCTURAL BONE IN LAYING HENS

Dr. Carol V. Gay
Professor of Biochemistry &
Molecular Biology
And Poultry Science

Hens that produce a large number of eggs during their 60- to 70-week period of egg production are prone to bone fractures. The incidence of fractures is quite high, being estimated in some reports as occurring in 30 percent of older birds.

Bone that fractures easily limits the ways the birds can be processed for subsequent human consumption and also shortens the length of the laying period.

Eggshells are approximately 96 percent calcium carbonate. The source of the calcium is from the hen's diet and the hen's bones, particularly a unique type of nonstructural bone called medullary bone. This places high demands on the hen's bones to supply the needed calcium at the time the eggshell is being deposited.

The supply of carbonate is not usually limiting since it is readily available from a buffering system that is always present. However, during times of heat stress, the carbonate buffer volume may become low due to panting, and cause thin-shelled eggs.

One way of thinking about the process of eggshell formation is to consider calcium ions (Ca++) as the currency of the system. Calcium++, derived from food, is placed in a bank (medullary bone). In older laying hens Ca++ absorption by the intestines becomes reduced. As a consequence, the bank where Ca++ has been temporarily deposited looses its critical volume of currency and turns to a reserve bank; namely, structural bone for help.

All vertebrates undergo bone loss during aging, but usually not to the massive extent that occurs in laying hens.

However, in humans the problem has become of such magnitude that pharmaceutical companies are committing huge resources into addressing the problem. The newest products appearing on the market are substances called bisphosphonates. While several bisphosphonates have been known for some time, the newest type of bisphosphonate has the unique properties of being able to decrease the rate of bone loss, increase bone formation, and produce notably few side effects — almost an ideal drug.

Could a bisphosphonate be of use in laying hens? Possibly. Studies so far suggest that in bisphosphonate-treated birds, structural bone is protected (slightly) and medullary bone is utilized to a slightly greater extent than in untreated birds. This trend was evident with a low drug dose on a small number of birds — there was no adverse effect on eggshell quality.

A broader based study in laying hens is needed to determine the biological effectiveness, cost effectiveness, and safety of such a feed additive. On the safety issue, it is already possible to predict that humans consuming poultry or poultry products would not be exposed to the drug unless they ate the eggshells or bones, to which the drug becomes tightly bound.

As just discussed, one strategy for maintaining structural bone in laying hens is to reduce bone loss during laying by adding an appropriate substance to the feed. A second strategy that might be considered is to enhance deposition of as much structural bone as possible prior to the onset of laying.

Ways to achieve this are to ensure that dietary calcium is not limiting the availability of Vitamin D3, which is essential for calcium absorption by the intestines. Weight-bearing exercise is also established as necessary for development of the strongest, best calcified structural bone in all animals studied, including birds and humans.

Additionally, there is some evidence which suggests that birds treated with a bisphosphonate prior to the onset of lay develop a larger volume of structural bone.

Greenhouse Nutrients Guide Available

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Greenhouse operators can learn more about what it takes to manage nutrients for plant growth and runoff control in a new book published by the Northeast Regional Agricultural Engineering Service (NRAES) and available from Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

Controlling greenhouse runoff without affecting crop production requires close management of water and nutrient applications. Some of the skills necessary to manage a greenhouse for zero runoff include preparing stock solutions for proportioners, selecting substrate, interpreting leaf, substrate, and water tests, and estimating crop nutrient needs.

The 110-page publication, "Water and Nutrient Management for Greenhouses," will help greenhouse managers learn these skills. It provides managers with guidelines for meeting crop nutrient needs while minimizing environmental risk.

"This is a very useful book for growers and their advisers because it offers practical, research-based information on root zone management," said Dr. Eileen Wheeler, assistant professor of controlled environments in Penn State's agricultural and biological engineering department. "Although the roots are not as visible and marketable as the above-ground portions of the plants we grow, a healthy root zone is vital for successful greenhouse production.

"Water and nutrient management are becoming more sophisticated," she said. "This book has abundant tables and examples that make it easier to understand and improve nutrient management practices."

"Water and Nutrient Management for Greenhouses" begins with a discussion of general crop needs and the proper methods for collecting and submitting leaf samples for analysis. Readers will learn how to interpret such analyses to balance nutrient applications with crop demand. An easy-to-follow explanation of units for measuring fertilizer quantities can be used to compare the nutrient value of various fertilizers.

Subsequent chapters go into more detail about specific components of the root zone. The water chapter covers water analyses, minimum standards for irrigation water quality, alternatives for managing water quality and several types of irrigation systems. The fertilizer chapter discusses nutrient solution analyses, fertilizer properties, formulating fertilizer solutions and bagged fertilizers, calculating application rates and delivering fertilizer to the crop. How to select, maintain and use a fertilizer proportioner also is reviewed.

Substrates are discussed at length. The physical, chemical, thermal and biological characteristics of substrates are presented to provide readers with an understanding of how substrate affects the root zone environment. Suggestions for selecting substrate ingredients, mixing substrate and determining the amount of substrate needed are offered as well. The difficulties with and benefits of hydroponic culture are addressed briefly.

The final chapter defines the features of a well-designed water and nutrient delivery system and reviews the pros and cons of leached versus zero-runoff systems. Fifty-three tables, 15 figures, example calculations, an appendix of common fertilizers and a glossary supplement the text.

"Water and Nutrient Management for Greenhouses," NRAES-56, is available for $20 per copy from the Publications Distribution Center, 112 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802. Please be sure to include a check or money order in U.S. currency made payable to The Pennsylvania State University.

Pasture Walk Aug. 9

FREDERICK, Md. — The August Pasture Walk for Frederick County, Mayland will be held on Friday, August 9 from 10 a.m. until noon. Steve and Ruth Ann Derrenbacher will be hosting the event at Heirland Farm.

The Derrenbachers are grazing 200 beef stockers. In addition to the permanent pastures consisting of fescue, orchardgrass, bluegrass, and clovers, they have also planted perennial ryegrass for early and late season grazing along with switchgrass and bluestem as warm season grasses.

The purpose of the pasture walk is to allow livestock producers a chance to learn more about the use of rotational grazing as a way to increase agricultural profitability. Most of the time will be spent walking through the pastures discussing plant growth, fencing, watering systems, and animal performance.

Heirland Farm is located between Woodsboro and Union Bridge at 11021 Renner Road. From Route 75 (Green Valley Road) in Johnsville, go 1.6 miles on Renner Road to farm on the right.

Entry Deadlines For 1996 Maryland State Fair

The 115th Maryland State Fair is in search of anyone who would like to enter their favorite quilt, horse, cake, giant pumpkin, painting, preserves, flowers, livestock, etc., in this year's fair.

Complete entry rules, regulations, and required forms are available by calling (410) 252-0200, ext. 231. Entry deadlines are as follows:

• Home Arts: For all entries except flowers, baked goods and candy (i.e., quilted pillow contest, challenge contest, needlepoint, embroidery, photography, fine arts, knitting, crocheting, tatting, food preservation, weaving and spinning, rugs and hooking, clothing, etc.) Thursday, August 22, noon to 9 p.m. and Friday, August 23, 9 a.m. to noon.

• Flowers: first flower show, potted plants; collections; arrangements, Friday, August 23, 9 a.m. to noon; second flower show, horticulture; gladiolus; dahlias, Tuesday, August 27, 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; third flower show, roses, dahlia baskets; arrangements, Saturday, August 31, 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

• Baked products and candy: first baking show, cookies; candies; Land O Lakes lite sour cream quick bread contest; Land O Lakes best cookie contest; Pillsbury refrigerated pie crust championship; Fleischmann's yeast bread competition, Thursday, August 22, noon to 9 p.m. and Friday, August 23, 9 a.m. to noon; second baking show, yeast breads and rolls; quick breads; chocolate cake contest; pie shell and pies; butter cakes; decorated cakes, Tuesday, August 27, 4 p.m. to 9 p.m.; national "Best Spam Recipe" contest, Saturday, August 31, 7:30 a.m. to noon.

• Farm and garden: grains, eggs, hay and silage corn, farm crops, fruit, honey and wax, honey wine, fruit wine, maple products, meat and dairy products, tobacco, vegetables. Meats, dairy products, and egg division includes ham cured by exhibitor, ham cured and cooked by exhibitor, bacon cured by exhibitor (not cooked or cut); homemade hard cheese, homemade soft cheese, homemade cottage cheese, homemade butter; eggs. All farm and garden entries must be received by Thursday, August 22, noon to 6 p.m. and Friday, August 23, 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

• Livestock: dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, sheep, dairy goats, horses, ponies, equitation and children's fitting and showing contests. All livestock entries must be made before August 1 on the form provided by the Maryland State Fair.

• Horse pulling: Teams must be on the grounds by 3 p.m. the day of the pull to be weighed and declared officially entered in the contest. Judging schedule is as follows: light teams: Saturday night, August 31, 7:30 p.m. and heavy teams: Sunday night, September 1, 7:30 p.m.

• Draft horses and mules: Entries must be made before August 1 on the entry form provided by the fair. Judging schedule: Saturday, August 31, 9 a.m.

• 4-H entries: All 4-H/FFA agriculture, arts, science, livestock, and home arts entries must be made on regulation 4-H/FFA entry blanks and are due to the County or City 4-H Office by July 19.

The 115th Maryland State Fair, which will offer a variety of livestock and horse shows, arts and crafts and home arts exhibits, runs from Saturday, August 24, through Monday, September 2 at the Timonium Fairgrounds in Baltimore County. Early risers are welcome to attend livstock and horse shows at 8 a.m. Demonstration halls are open from 10 a.m.-10 p.m. Admission is only $4 for adults and children under 12 are admitted free. Admittance to the race track is included in the admission price of the fair.

For more entry deadline information, call Joan Neels, (410) 252-0200, etx. 231.

EPA Proposal Shouldn't Reduce Herbicides

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Environmental Protection Agency recommendations concerning five weed-controlling pesticides should have limited impact on Ohio, said Acie Waldron, Ohio State University pesticide specialist.

The proposal by EPA released June 26 in the Federal Register requires each state to develop specific management plans for the sale and use of alachlor, atrazine, cyanazine, metolachlor and simazine to prevent ground water contamination. The recommendations said if a state did not develop EPA-approved plans for these pesticides, the pesticides' sale and use would not be allowed in that state, Waldron said.

The Ohio Department of Agriculture is working to complete a generic pesticide management plan covering all pesticides, and it should be up for EPA approval later this summer. If approved, it shouldn't be too difficult to get similar plans passed for the five pesticides mentioned in the EPA proposal, Waldron said.

"Basically all they should have to do is write the name of each pesticide and some specific recommendations into the generic plan," he said.

The EPA proposal wants state plans to focus ground water protection on the most vulnerable areas. The plans may ask for pesticide application delays or limited use in areas where contamination is or has the potential to be a problem, Waldron said. Actions taken to prevent contamination will be left up to the individual states, with EPA giving final approval.

But, no major ground water contamination problems have been identified in Ohio.

"The EPA proposal's thrust is to prevent contamination problems from happening, not correct a problem after it is discovered," Waldron said. "Since the Department of Health has never detected any major ground water contaminating problems in Ohio, I'm not anticipating much impact from these recommendations."

What has been an issue in Ohio is surface water contamination, primarily in the spring during planting. Waldron said. Because of this, the state's generic pesticide management plan includes surface water contamination.

Atrazine, used primarily on corn and sorghum, is the most heavily used pesticide in the United States. Farmers do not have an alternative to atrazine or the other pesticides for weed control, Waldron said. They should continue to properly follow pesticide label instructions to lower contamination in surface water and prevent problems in ground water.

The Ohio plan also asks that water samples be taken monthly or more often during times when pesticide contamination is most likely. Currently, water is tested four times a year, which is not enough to accurately determine contamination, Waldron said.

The EPA proposal is allowing states 24 months to submit management plans for the five pesticides, the EPA six months to approve them and a three-month startup period. The EPA may require other pesticides to have specific state management plans in the future.

The committee that developed the generic Ohio plan will probably work on the specific plans also, Waldron said. That committee was made up of representatives from ODA, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Ohio EPA, Ohio Department of Health, Ohio State University Extension, environmental groups and the pesticide industry.

MARKET NEWS

Some recent tidbits of information presented by Cattle-Fax (Inglewood, Colo.):

• Soaring feedgrain prices have reduced the con tribution of Holsteins in the fed beef market. Hols teins represented as high as 17 percent of the tota fed beef in the past 5 years, but that level will b down to about 8 percent for 1996. This means bu calf prices for dairymen will continue to see pres sure unless there is a considerable upturn in vea production.

Another contributing factor will be the seasona Choice/Select wider price spread. Holstein feeder will need to get Choice carcasses and will necessari ly have to put more corn through the cattle t achieve this.

• Cow slaughter has raced upward. Cow beef i up by more than 20 percent over last year's levels with only 3 percent of the increase represented b dairy cow slaughter.

• The downsizing appears to be happening every where, so drought conditions in the Southwest ar not the only causes. This is good news to the bee industry in the long run, but it contributes to a already overloaded beef supply in the short tern

• Heifer placements are up in the feedlots. This i more good news for the industry, because thos cows being killed are not being replaced. Estimate are the national herd will be reduced by about 1 mi lion head by the end of the year. It takes much longe to replace the cow herd than it does to reduce it, s this decrease in numbers should be with us pas 2000.

Cutting Costs

As a followup to some earlier comments in thi column, Dr. Don Boggs of South Dakota State Uni versity recently listed some additional considera tions to cutting costs at this time in the cow herc

1. Reduce the need to harvest feed by extendin grazing.
2. Supplement cows more efficiently by knowin their needs and providing only what they need
3. Reduce feed wastage by using feeders an bunks that will allow what you put in the bunk to ge to the cow.
4. Evaluate the costs of supplements on a cost pe unit of nutrient basis. For example, the price per ton means nothing when comparing the cost of protei supplements. Compare the per unit cost of protei instead
5. Reduce labor costs by group feeding, sychron zation of estrus for breeding and calving, an extending grazing time.
6. Plan and buy feeds and supplements in volum Get together with a neighbor and save on a volum purchase.
7. Use a sound herd health program. No needl ever replaced good management, so do not confus poor management with the need for drugs.

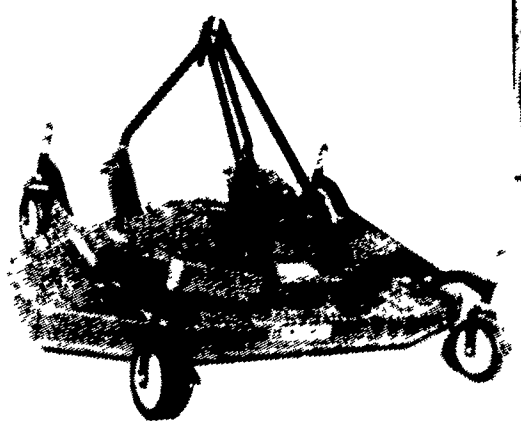
The Mulching Mower That Gives Something Back.

The Bush Hog MTH Series is available in 60 or 72-inch cutting widths with a counter-rotating spindle design that turns the blades in opposite directions. This gives you multiple cutting and finer shredding.
These mowers are designed for areas where the turf is maintained on a regular basis - or anyone wanting a well-kept lawn. And the fine clippings return vital nutrients to the soil, fertilizing every time you mow!



New For 1996!

BUSH HOG®

ZERO TURN MOWER

SETS THE STANDARD FOR COMFORT AND DEPENDABILITY

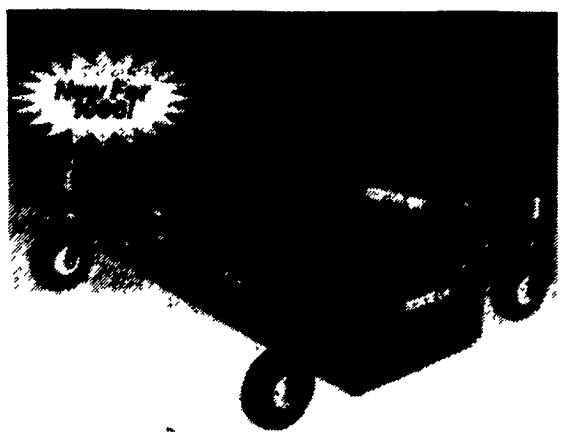
BUSH HOG® DIVISION OF ALLIED PRODUCTS CORPORATION

Convenient, user-friendly and dependable - three words that best describe Bush Hog's true Zero Turn Mowers. Choice of two cutting widths - 48 or 60 inches, 18 or 22 hp Kohler Command gasoline engines and fingertip controls offer quick adjustment of speed, direction of travel and breaking. There are no gears to shift or pedals to push.

BUSH HOG®

REAR DISCHARGE FINISHING MOWER

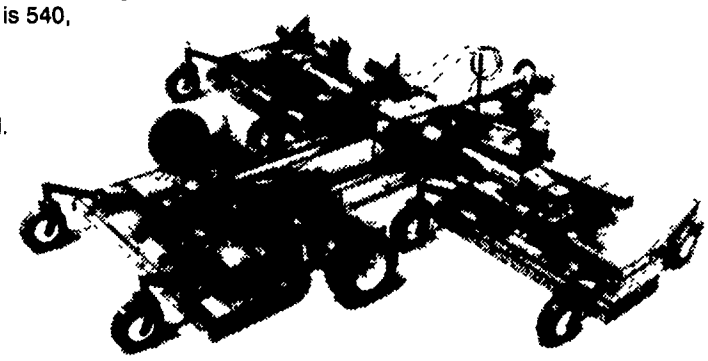
One of Bush Hog's new and growing line of Finishing Mowers, the RDTH Series Mowers are available in a choice of 60 or 72-inch cutting widths. Cutting heights from 1-1/2" to 6-1/2", in 1/2" increments. Blades overlap 1-1/2" for a cleaner cut, and the spindle design is field proven for dependability.
Rugged 7-gauge steel deck and high blade tip speeds for finer cutting action. The heavy duty gearbox has a 2-year limited warranty, and the rear discharge design provides an even discharge and distribution of material.
RDTH mowers attach with a handy 3-point, Category I hitch, and are recommended for 15 to 40 horsepower tractors.



BUSH HOG®

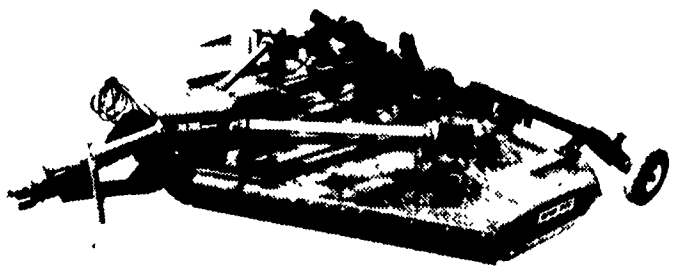
BEST TURF MOWERS FOR A QUALITY CUT.

The Bush Hog TD Series Tri-Deck Finishing Mowers are available in 15 or 17-foot cutting widths and are ideal for sod growers, golf courses, land owners, municipalities and recreational sites.
These mowers are designed for precise cutting on even or uneven terrain...they feature a 30° up and 10° down wing flex and are rated for 40 and 45 minimum tractor horsepower. Gearbox rpm is 540, and deck construction is rugged, 7-gauge steel.



BUSH HOG®

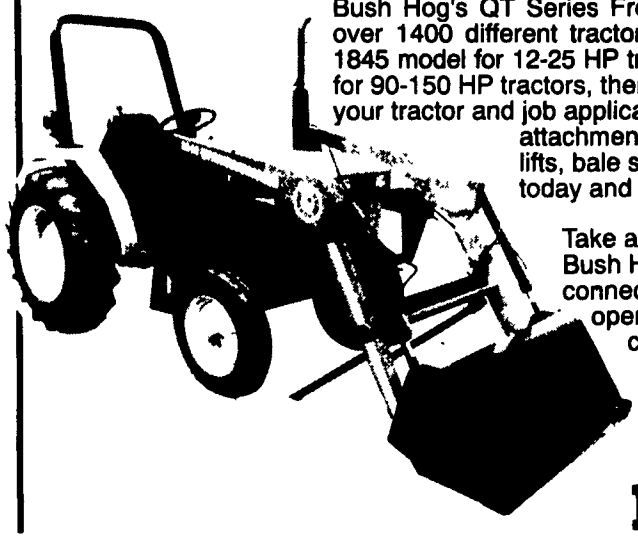
A Legend in the Industry... The Bush Hog 2615L Rotary Cutter



Setting the industry standards for performance and reliability, Bush Hog's 2615 Legend Flex-Wing Rotary Cutter is in the clear choice for maintaining pastures and rights-of-way on even and uneven terrain. With a big 15-foot cutting width and wings that flex from 90° up to 22° down, this rugged cutter gives you fast, on-the-go control of all mowing functions. Cutting height is from 2 to 14 inches and cutting capacity is recomended for material up to 2 inches in diameter.

BUSH HOG®

With a Match for over 1400 Tractor Models, BUSH HOG HAS A LOADER FOR YOU



Bush Hog's QT Series Front End Loaders now match over 1400 different tractor models. From the smaller 1845 model for 12-25 HP tractors, to the big 4845 model for 90-150 HP tractors, there's a model just right for your tractor and job application. And there are plenty of attachments - material buckets, fork lifts, bale spears and more. come in today and let us show you.

Take a good look at any of the eight Bush Hog models. All feature quick connect and disconnect, ease of operation and adjusting and, of course, the dependability and durability that has made Bush Hog products legends in the industry.

Farm Credit Announces Scholarship Award

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, presented the 2nd Annual Lynn E. Chubbuck Scholarship Award on June 19 in Towanda.

The $500 Memorial Award was presented to Jason Wanck, a 1996 graduate of Athens High School, who will begin his college career this fall at Penn State University pursuing an agricultural science degree. While in school, Wanck was a member of the National Honor Society, Peer Mentor Program, Challenger Little League Buddy Program, and was very active in football and baseball, having received a bronze medal at the Pa. Keystone Games in baseball. He is the son of Leslie and Kathy Wanck of Towanda.

"The board of directors, management and staff members at Northeastern Farm Credit are proud to annually salute an outstanding high school student in Bradford County, through this Lynn E. Chubbuck Memorial Scholarship program," said Robert T. Reich, president, Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA. "Lynn Chubbuck served the members of Northeastern Farm Credit, with the highest quality service possible, a reflection of his passion to assure our stockholders that they are the most important asset the association has."

The Memorial Scholarship is given in memory of Lynn E. Chubbuck, a devoted employee, friend and colleague, who died suddenly of a heart attack in January 1995. The scholarship is awarded in remembrance of Lynn's 24-year contribution to the Towanda office of Farm Credit and his devotion to agriculture and the Towanda community. It is offered to a high school senior planning to pursue a career in agriculture who lives in Bradford County. The student must plan to major in the field of agriculture or agri-business at a four-year college on a full-time basis.

Forage Harvester, Round Balers, Rotary Rakes At Empire Farm Days

Claas of America will exhibit the Jaguar® 800 Series self-propelled forage harvester, Rollant 46 roto cut round baler, Rollant 66 round baler, and Liner rotary rakes at Empire Farm Days, Aug. 6-8, Seneca Falls, N.Y., in lot 822. Depicted in the photo is the Jaguar 800 Series self-propelled forage harvester.

COLUMBUS, Ind. — Claas of America will exhibit the Jaguar® 800 Series self-propelled forage harvester, Rollant 46 roto cut round baler, Rollant 66 round baler, and Liner rotary rakes at Empire Farm Days, August 6-8, Seneca Falls, N.Y., in lot 822.

Claas offers four models in its Jaguar 800 Series including the world's largest self-propelled forage harvester, the Jaguar 880. Equipped with a Mercedes diesel engine to produce 309 hp to 474 hp, the Jaguar delivers up to 170 tons (corn) output per hour with four-row to eight-row capacity. A 30-inch wide chevron-style cutting device provides a precise cut. The popular corn cracker option on the Jaguar features two 7.7-inch saw toothed rollers to virtually open every corn kernel.

The Rollant 46 round baler features a spiral bale chamber with roro cut cutting device to increase standard baler capacity and produce solid, evenly distributed chopped haylage. The 4-foot x 4-foot bales retain hay quality and break apart easily to simplify feeding. The 6½-foot pickup aided by a helix-4-rotor with 28 tines feeds crop evenly in wide, uneven windrows while 14 spring-loaded knives provide a clean cut. Knives can be engaged and disengaged from the tractor seat. It is available with double twine and/or Rollatex net wrapping.

Featuring a fixed chamber design, the Rollant 66 round baler with 6-foot pickup produces dense 4 x 5-foot bales that retain their shape. Its 17 spiral-positioned, dimpled rollers ensure uniform compression. Steel rollers and sealed bearings provide low maintenance. It is available with double twine and/or Rollatex net wrapping.

Stress-Free Pollination Critical

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Pollination is the single most critical time during the corn life cycle, said Mark Schwartz, Northrup King Company agronomist in Kansas.

During the two weeks before and two weeks following pollination, corn is very sensitive to drought or heat stress. Either of these stresses can cause significant yield losses.

Schwartz said that in Kansas, for example, this yield-determinging period normally occurs during late June or early July. However, he explains that this season's wet, cool weather and subsequently delayed planting will push pollination in many areas into August, traditionally the hottest, driest month of the growing season.

According to Schwartz, moisture, heat and other environmental stresses during tasseling can result in dramatic yield reductions. For example, although each tassel produces and sheds several million pollen grains, prolonged heat stress can reduce pollen viability. Similarly, severe moisture stress will delay silk emergence. If development is delayed long enough, the silks may miss pollination altogether.

Poor pollination causes reduced kernel set, and in extreme cases, barren ears. To limit pollination risk, the Northrup King agronomist points to the importance of planting hybrids with different maturities. This spreads the pollinating period so that a relatively short period of heat stress will not affect the pollination of the entire crop.

Farm Credit Staff Members Appointed To Councils

LEWISBURG (Union Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farm Credit, ACA, announced the appointments of William S. Hartman, vice president, credit operations, Northeastern Farm Credit, ACA, to the Poultry Meat Council and Phil Kimmel, president and CEO, Keystone Farm Credit, to the Poultry Egg Council. Both councils are a part of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation.

The appointments each consist of three-year terms, with members reviewing proposed handling and status of issues affecting the poultry industry throughout Pennsylvania. The councils consist of 20 members, including producers, integrators, lenders, veterinary, and academic representatives.

"The meat bird industry is a vital and diverse part of agriculture in eastern and central Pa. I am gratified to be asked to serve this industry," said Hartman. "We believe the industry is uniquely positioned to continue its exciting growth and the federation plays an integral role in their growth."

"I am very pleased to have been asked to serve on the Poultry Federation Council given the economic importance of the poultry industry locally and to the state," said Kimmel "Each year in Lancaster County, enough eggs are produced to feed seven million people and enough broilers are grown to meet the needs of five million consumers. This production generates in excess of $185 million. The poultry industry means a great deal to our poultry producers but also to the local economies throughout Pennsylvania."

Seed Corn Facilities Rate Quality Registration

DES MOINES, Iowa — Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., announced that its seed corn production facilities at 19 sites in seven states have achieved ISO 9002 quality system registration.

Pioneer is the first agricultural seed company in North America and one of the few major agribusinesses in the world to gain this distinction for its facilities.

"From its beginning 70 years ago, Pioneer has had an uncommon concern for providing its customers with only quality products and services," said Charles S. Johnson, Pioneeer president and

Alfalfa Variety Ends

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — A new alfalfa variety from Northrup King Co. puts a stop to economic losses from alfalfa's most damaging pest, the potato leafhopper.

Called Arrest, the trifoliate variety combines HopperGuard™ leafhopper protection with high yield performance through traditional plant breeding.

Northrup King foresees rapid expansion of the Arrest product line. The company's first leafhopper resistant alfalfa is adapted to the northern U.S. and southeastern Canada. Already in development are multifoliate and early fall dormant varieties.

"Arrest with HopperGuard is the most exciting discovery for hay growers since phytophthora resistance was introduced nearly 20 years ago," said Jan Johnson, Northrup King alfalfa product manager. "It's a high performing, elite product with a full package of multiple pest resistance and excellent winter hardiness. Even if it didn't have potato leafhopper resistance, it would be a first-class alfalfa variety."

In 1995, in field trials comparing Arrest with HopperGuard to unprotected alfalfa varieties, Arrest yielded 148 percent more than conventional varieties under potato leafhopper pressure. In the absence of the insect, Arrest delivered yield equal to major competitive varieties.

To develop Arrest, plant breeders crossed elite alfalfa lines with leafhopper-resistant germplasm, trademarked HopperGuard™, derived from wild relatives that have natural resistance to the pest. The result is a high-yielding, high quality alfalfa that fends off leafhopper attacks.

Arrest with HopperGuard prevents damage from potato leafhoppers in two ways. The first is through non-preference — leafhoppers simply stay away from the protected plants, especially when conventional varieties are nearby. In addition, the alfalfa's tiny glandular hairs secrete a naturally produced, microscopic droplet causing leafhoppers to stop feeding and eventually die.

According to Johnson, the secretion is harmless to other insects, including honey bees. Likewise, the tiny glandular hairs and droplets have no affect on the palatability, drying rate or feed quality of the alfalfa.

Woods Equipment Announces New Facility

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Woods Equipment Company, a full-line manufacturer of tractor implements, announced plans for a new facility in Westlake Business Park in Charlotte. Estimated completion date is late 1996.

Woods acquired Gill Manufacturing in July of last year and continues to market Gill products, including pulverizers, turf renovators, seeders, core plug aerators and spreaders serving the landscape market.

The new facility will expand the manufacturing capability enabling further growth and development of the Gill brand. Woods has signed a long-term lease for the new location and remains committed to maintaining a facility in Charlotte.

chief executive officer. "It's a part of the way we've always done business.

"ISO 9000 registration confirms for the world that we do what we say we do," he said. "It's another way of our saying, 'What's on the tag is in the bag.'"

"This has been a tremendous effort for us," said Wayne Beck, Pioneer vice president of supply management. "The registration process has spanned some 18 months and involved all 600 employees at these 19 locations.

ISO 9000 is a series of internationally recognized standards for quality management systems that's becoming increasingly popular among companies worldwide. Registration is something like a "Seal of Approval" for the way a company ensures quality.

White Oak Mills Announces Dairy Program

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — White Oak Mills has announced its new line of Century III Dairy Calf & Heifer Improvement feeds.

The comprehensive program combines top-quality White Oak feeds, nutrition and management practices to help dairy producers efficiently raise superior dairy animals from birth to 24 months. Flexible, convenient and cost-effective, the Century III program helps dairy producers raise strong, healthy herd-improvement animals. Other Century III benefits include proper growth rate so well-conditioned heifers can be moved into the milking herd at 22 to 24 months. The program also helps optimize profitability.

Formulated to be palatable and containing top-quality, highly-digestible ingredients, the Century III milk replacers and calf and heifer feeds have been developed using extensive research information. These feeds will help increase feed efficiency and growth while providing coccidiosis control.

REMEMBER

The Summer and Fall of 1995???? The extreme heat, the early dry-down of the corn crop, and then the rapid rise in corn prices? And those corn prices are having a dramatic effect on your profits in 1996.

"THE NEED FOR QUALITY FEED AND GRAIN STORAGE IS GREATER TODAY THAN AT ANY TIME IN RECENT HISTORY!"

How can we help to make sure that you get a quality corn storage unit constructed before the expected rush in August and September?

Give us a call to discuss early discounts, financing, and unloader options.

Before spending a lot of money to dry, store, handle, and transport your corn crop, you will do well to consider the many advantages of a poured concrete silo to store and protect your valuable corn.

Also, by storing hi-moisture shelled corn (about 25% moisture), you save field losses, and increase digestibility.

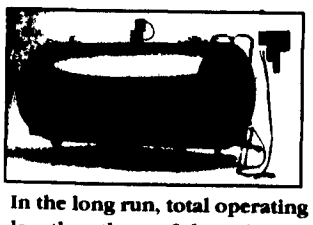
MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$26,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

HERE'S THE STRAIGHT SCOOP ABOUT RICHARDTON HIGH DUMP WAGONS

Seems like some folks are always trying to catch up And sometimes they'll do just about anything to get ahead. But you know that for over 35 years Richardton high dump wagons have been the best in the business and in the field So get the best —Hitch up a Richardton Wagon today.

What the competition says about Richardton Wagons	The truth about Richardton High Dump Wagons
Cylinders and cables	Our exclusive patented lock cylinders ensure that the box won't tip over. Our cable system allows you to top off a truck load with a partial dump. You're not restricted to a full dump cycle. And, you save time because there are no master/slave cylinders to purge.
Over two minute cycle time	ALL cycle times depend on your tractor's hydraulic system! We designed our wagon to cycle in less than one minute.
12GA. steel on entire hopper	Our 12GA. steel construction is absolutely the most cost effective and strongest on the market. It's that way today and it's been that way for over 35 years.
Internal braces welded to flat steel	We'll say it again — Richardton wagon components are the strongest and best built on the market!
300# rated standard black pipe fittings	Flared hydraulic steel tubing with 5,000 PSI rated fittings are standard on Richardton wagons
¼ " wall material	Our ¼ " walls withstand decades of hard use. And, just so you know, we use 5/16" where necessary.
3½ " x 3½ " slide tubes, steel on steel	Others copy our original heavy duty nylon no-grease slide system. There is NO metal on metal at any time!

RICHARDTON Manufacturing Company

Education Is Theme At Sheep Field Day

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Education was the focus when the Somerset County Sheep Sense Field Day and prospective market lamb show brought some 107 sheep to the Somerset County fairgrounds on Saturday, June 22.

And with good reason — bring 4-H'ers together and give them some sheep smarts and a little experience. Then the practical application of what they've learned can be made to their 4-H market lamb project, before their final county or state show.

The event attracted not just local kids, but 4-H'ers from Erie and York in Pennsylvania, and also from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and Ohio

Dr. Bob Bastian of the Animal Medical Center of Somerset County, besides inspecting all entries for contagious disease educated the kids about animal health. Specifically, vaccines and antibiotics were addressed by the veterinarian.

He explained the importance of the withdrawal period when any vaccine or antibiotic has been used to treat the animal because an animal cannot be sold until a period of time has passed.

"It's very important to pay attention to the withdrawal period," Dr. Bastian said, adding that some medications have a 49-day (seven week) withdrawal period, while other treatments may be much shorter.

"Ivermectin is the best wormer we use," he said, "but you have to quit 49 days before you sell the sheep," he emphasized to the youths.

Dr. Bastian also stressed the need for keeping medications refrigerated. "Too many people don't refrigerate," he cautioned.

"We want to guarantee to the public that our product is pure and unadulterated. We have to appeal to consumers to sell more sheep," he said.

Off the podium, he stated further that one common error made with sheep is the wrong feeding.

Education Is Theme At Sheep Field Day

Sheep should get about three pounds a day with enough exercise to give them an appetite, he said.

Dr. Bastian also recommended putting two sheep together to eat. This will stir up a little food competition and greed. They will eat better as a result, he said.

As for weight gain, the vet said that the top weight gained by a sheep in a day should be no more than a pound.

"'Comfort,' is the buzz word today," he said. "Sheep comfort, cow comfort or whatever animal. Keep them cool and comfortable and out of the sunshine."

Fitting was Steve Taylor's topic. His expertise in slick shearing was evident as Stacy Suffel slid the sharp clippers over a lamb in smooth strokes, while he talked.

"Anytime you have a project you want it to look nice," said Taylor, who later judged the market lambs.

He gave pointers about the best tools to use and tips about handling sensitive areas like those around the butt.

The kids heard Taylor's advice about safety and proper care of equipment. He said lubricating oil should be applied to the blades of clippers after each use and tension should be taken off the clippers so the blades won't warp.

He identified the various shearing tools on the market and how much, on the average, it will cost to buy them.

With an eye to the size of loin cuts, the 4-H'ers' next bit of know-how dealt with hand-measuring the length and the width of loin chops, something of great interest to a judge who is scrutinizing the animal for its retail potential.

Then, just for fun, 4-H'ers got to do a little judging of their own on four sheep — an exercise in lamb selection.

First, they looked, Next, they handled. Then they made their decision. They wrote their rankings, from one to four, on an index card. Later, after the numbers were tallied, a champion was announced.

Showmanship was demonstrated by Emmett McMillan, Indiana County; Jessica Lori, Fayette County, and Heidi Svonavec, Somerset County; three experienced 4-H showmen who came home with sheep savvy, after showing in places like the state farm show in Harrisburg and the Eastern National Show in Louisville, Ky.

They didn't mind sharing with the 4-H junior set some techniques intended to enhance the primary knowledge the younger kids had already in regard to showing.

"Concentrate on your lamb," said McMillan, "but always be aware of the judge."

Awarded later, to each weight division champion was an engraved silver belt buckle. A printed lamb blanket was presented to each reserve champion.

Other awards, consistent with the event's focus on education, were an aluminum box, trophies, halters, grooming tools and so forth.

All presentations were made by the Somerset County lamb and wool queen, Jenna Svonavec.

Sheep Sense Field Day was sponsored by the High Ridge 4-H Club.

Nine-year-old Matthew Neese from Marion Center, Indiana County is learning showmanship pointers from Emmett McMillan.

First year 4-H'er, Abraham Beabes from Somerset, is getting tips from Jennifer Lori about sheep showmanship.

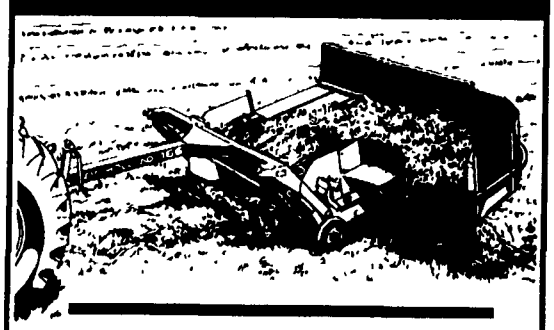
QUALITY HAY



FLUFFED UP NOT ROUGHED UP

If a storm hits while you're making hay, you'll need the New Holland Model 166 windrow inverter. It helds to dry hay fast, so you can bale or chop sooner. The "166" gently lifts, fluffs and turns windrows without roughing up the hay. Sc, you move your windrows onto dry ground for faster drying and retain valuable leaves.

For hay that's fluffed up not roughed up, check out the "166" today.

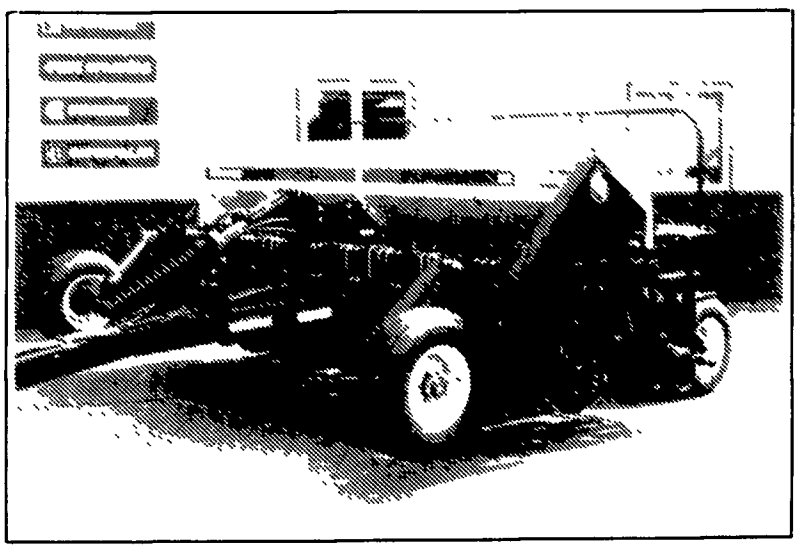
WORK ANYTIME, ANYWHERE



Some No Til drills work best when its wet and soft; some work best when its dry and hard. Krause 5200 Series No Til drills seed at the proper depth when the ground is soft and they will penetrate in the tough, heat-baked soil of mid-summer. And Krause's use of precision seed cups and smooth seed tubes place the seed evenly in the row for ideal growth and yield.

Compare with the Competition:

- 13' and 15' Seeding Widths
- Excellent Side Hill Stability
- Narrow Transport - No Wider than it Seeds
- Excellent Road Clearance
- No Wheel Tracks
- Very Competitive PRICE

Three Ways To Control Grass On Larger Acreages.

2510 Series Rotary Cutters are available in three hitch designs three point lift pull or semi mount But no matter what your choice all models yield outstanding results with general mowing and pasture clipping jobs Cutting width is 9 feet 9 inches

Round bladeholders enable the cutter to float over field obstacles and a slip clutch provides driveline protection from shock loads Deflector shields front and rear are standard equipment 1/2 x 4 inch uplift blades overlap 3 inches and high blade tip speeds assure better cutting

Come in and learn more about Bush Hog's 2510 Series Rotary Cutters—your best choice for affordable pasture maintenance

New Holland Natural Fiber Twine --

Your Natural Choice For Round Or Square Balers

- Uniform thickness- no thicks or thins
- Entirely biodegradable
- Treated for mildew resistance
- Consistent tensile/ knot strength

■ A bale of New Holland natural twine always contains the exact footage shown on the label. This isn't the case with other brands. For instance, a bale of twine labeled 7,200 feet by another manufacturer may actually contain only 6,800 feet. This kind of inaccuracy could make a big difference in your production costs. And, in your profits.

NEW HOLLAND NATURAL FIBER TWINE

Feet Per Bale	Knot Strength	Gross Weight (Lbs.)	End Use Application	Sale Price!
7,200*	160	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
9,000*	130	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
10,000*	115	40	Square Bale	$20.79 per bale
16,000*	180	40	Round Bale	$22.80 per bale

(tensile strength)

What's the importance of the terms tensile strength and knot strength?

Tensile strength refers to the amount of resistance twine provides before breaking. But it's also it's also important to consider a twine's strength. That's because when twine is tied into a knot, its strength is reduced by almost 60%.

New Holland natural twine has enhanced knot strength because we use only specially selected high tensile strength fibers to provide you with the best possible knot strength. New Holland twine comes from Brazilian plantations where the leaves are hand selected and cut from the hardy sisal plant. We harvest only the mature leaves at the bottom of the plant because of their longer, and much stronger, fibers. This kind of careful attention continues through the entire twine-producing process. In fact, there are a series of progressive quality controls through the various production stages to ensure twine uniformity and high tensile strength.

Ultimate EXT

Ask your Purina Dealer how you can improve your numbers by reaching for the Ultimate

Cows fed Ultimate EXT® from Purina® have a way of paying big dividends. That's because they average more milk and maintain better milk composition. Ultimate EXT also improves body condition and promotes better feed efficiency. Ultimate EXT is blended for the optimum balance of protein, energy, vitamins and minerals. It's the most nutrient-dense dairy feed you can buy, with the highest energy level available.
